

NEW DEAL ON BUTTER PRICE

Commission Men Fix the Price by New York Instead of Elgin.

Eggs Have Declined and Sugar is Up - Dry Weather Boosts the Price for All Green Stuff on the Omaha Market.

Omaha butter commission men are now regulating their prices by the New York market. The Elgin market has been abandoned by them, at least as a regulator of prices. It is said, however, that the Omaha commission merchants buy their butter at Elgin prices while selling it according to New York. The reason is that the New York market prices are higher.

Formerly butter was always 3 cents a pound above the Elgin figure here. Now it is about that much above the New York quotation. Elgin butter this week is quoted at 28 cents a pound. The New York quotation is 24 cents. The Omaha price, therefore, is 24 cents a pound. If the Elgin quotations had not been abandoned butter in Omaha would be selling at this time at 28 cents a pound, or 14 cents cheaper than what is being asked.

Sugar Has Advanced. Sugar has advanced 10 cents, going from twenty-three pounds for a dollar to twenty-two pounds. All coffees have declined. Green coffee is selling at 3 and 4 cents a pound cheaper. Flour is unsteady and is expected to decline. It sells at $1 a bushel and is expected to drop.

The wholesale price is stronger by 50 a cent. Cantaloupes are now selling at 5 and 7 1/2 cents a dozen. Lemons have dropped a nickel a dozen, retailing at 30, 35 and 40 cents a dozen. Blackberries are 15 1/2 cents a quart. Colorado red raspberries are 15 1/2 cents a pint. Texas Siberia peaches are on the market at 30 cents a basket.

Vegetables are very scarce. All root stuff is supplying the demand, but the heat is drying up lettuce, peas, beans and other vegetables above ground. Peas, lettuce and cauliflower are now gotten from Colorado, the home supply being diminished greatly by the heat. Peas are 18 cents a quart; beans, wax and green, are 19 cents a pound; cauliflower is 12 1/2 cents a pound.

California plums are 45 cents for a five-pound box. Bartlett pears are 25 cents a dozen.

Baby Drowned in Fall. Playing about a bucket of water which his mother had been using to scrub the kitchen floor, Michael Popper, 3-year-old son of Joseph Popper, a laborer of 2802 T street, lost his balance and fell into the water yesterday morning. His mother was out of the house at the time and, no one being near to rescue him, the child was drowned. Mrs. Popper returned to find her baby caught in the bucket head downward.

Deputy Coroner Larkin took the body. He will conduct the funeral at 8 o'clock this morning at the Poper home. Burial will be made at the Laurel Hill cemetery.

Come to Wife's Aid. John Gilese, employed in the sausage department at Armour's packing plant, loves his wife. He keeps her at his side working in that department. His stuffs sausage and so does she. They help each other with their work.

Mrs. Gilese has never been very friendly with Frances Layor, a young woman who works nearby. Something went wrong with the work in the department Thursday morning. Miss Layor and Mrs. Gilese discussed the affair. It was a warm discussion. They were almost on the verge of blows when Mr. Gilese scented trouble. Seeing that his wife was not, as he thought, getting a square deal, he threw up the sponge for her and walked into the ring himself. He took one "swipe" at Miss Layor and the argument was settled--for the time being. Greater love for his wife no man hath. Gilese must now stand trial. Miss Layor swore out a warrant and had him arrested. It was assault and battery, said she.

Hunger Strike is Broken by Sniff of Chicken and Melon

ELIZABETH N. J., July 18.—The manner in which Warden Charles W. Dodd of the county jail broke up a hunger strike today may set a useful example, he thinks to the keepers of English prisons who become custodians of stragglers.

William Turner, a negro prisoner incarcerated last Sunday, sought to gain his liberty by refusing to eat. This morning the negro had been forty-eight hours without food when Warden Dodd appeared at the door of his cell with a steaming plate of fried chicken and a large section of juicy watermelon. One sniff and Turner's hunger strike came to an abrupt end.
