

The Society Bee-Hive

BY MELLIFLOIA. Friday, July 25, 1913.

RIDGE and other social functions have been more or less shelved since the arrival of the expert tennis players.

Each afternoon there is a large and interested gallery present to watch the tournament at the Field club. The women are most enthusiastic and have kept score on the matches. The fine points of Harris' "serve" and Hall's excellent work from the back of the court are much admired. Strachan's brilliant playing and Griffen's smile come in for their share of attention from the feminine members of the gallery.

Among those who are watching the tournament with great interest are Mrs. Samuel Caldwell, Mrs. J. T. Stewart 2d, Mrs. Fred Nash, Mrs. W. A. C. Johnson, Mrs. Mark Coad, Mrs. Arthur Graffis of Indiana, who was formerly Miss Kate Moore of this city; Miss Blanche Knier, Miss Bastianello of Rockport, N. Y.; Mrs. J. E. SOME FOOD PRICES ARE SAME

Meats, Butter and Eggs Remain the Same as Last Week.

VEGETABLES GETTING SCARCE

Many Garden Products Have Suffered from Extreme Heat and Crop Will Be Short—Fruits Coming from the West.

Meats, butter and eggs have not advanced or declined in price during the week. Butter remains at 23 cents a pound and eggs may be bought for 15 cents a dozen.

Some vegetables are becoming very scarce because of the heat. There is not half enough cabbage in Omaha to supply the demand. It has advanced from 1 to 2 1/2 cents a pound wholesale. There is a very short crop of cucumbers and tomatoes. The price of tomatoes is now down to 25 cents a basket; but is expected to advance soon. The pickle supply will be unusually short this winter because of the scarcity of cucumbers, according to Al King, manager of the grocery department at Hayden Bros.

Roasting corn is plentiful and of good quality, selling at 10 cents a dozen ears. Lettuce is four bunches for a nickel and 5 and 7 1/2 cents a head. Radishes and onions are six bunches for 5 cents. Four bunches of beets, carrots or turnips can be bought for a nickel. New potatoes are 25 cents a peck.

Peaches are high, selling at $1.50 a case, or 25 cents a basket. California Bartlett pears are on the market at $2.50 a bushel box. Raspberries are about gone, but what are left are selling at 15 cents a pint. Blackberries are scarce, retailing at 10 cents a quart.

Appricots are coming in from Idaho next week. The supply is short, owing to such a large canning and evaporating business. They will sell on the local market at $1.50 a case.

Cantaloupes from Arizona will sell 2 1/2 cents a crate higher. They are now 5, 7 1/2 and 8 1/2 cents apiece.

ODD FELLOWS READY FOR PICNIC TODAY

Odd Fellows of Omaha, South Omaha, Benson and Florence will hold their annual picnic at City Park, Florence, this afternoon and evening. Delegations of Odd Fellows are expected from many of the surrounding towns.

An excellent program of music and athletic events has been prepared for the occasion. A base ball game between Omaha and South Omaha will be one of the features of the program.

ANXIOUS RELATIVES ARE SEEKING THREE MISSING ONES

The Omaha police department has been asked to locate Harry Cohen of Culpeper, Va.; Frank Jones of Weston, Mo., and C. G. Enos of Saleville, O. Cohen is a peddler of merchandise and left his home in company with his wife and five children for the west on June 1. At Chicago he left his family to make a short business trip to the state and since that time has not returned. The wife is ill and unable to work and the family is absolutely destitute. Cohen was last heard from at Madison, Wis., where he expressed his intentions of coming to Omaha. Mrs. Cohen lives at 1123 Johnson street, Chicago. Frank Jones left a wife and an 8-month-old baby at Weston, Mo. He wrote from Omaha that he had found employment at good wages, but the wife has not heard from him for over two weeks. C. G. Enos is being sought by his mother, Mrs. Cassper Enos, of Saleville, O., who has received no word from the boy since the tornado.

OMAHA LAND SHOWS ARE STILL BRINGING RESULTS

Traveling Immigration Agent Jones of the Great Northern, who had charge of the company's agricultural and horticultural exhibits during the last Omaha Land Show is in the city. He is of the opinion that the Omaha show worked wonders in the way of settling up the west, and even at this late date he is receiving many inquiries from parties in the east who are seeking homes in the west. They either saw or read of the Omaha show.

Mr. Jones, after traveling over a wide area of country, finds that this season travel to the west is the heaviest in years and that tourists are seeking the mountains instead of the seaside resorts. Glacier park, he says, is attracting more attention than ever before, and the resort is filled with tourists.

Runaway Girls Are Given a Spanking by Police Matron

Just what is the proper legal course as laid down by the statutes when two very naughty little girls act in a manner not befitting ladies, is still a mooted point in the mind of Police Matron Ellen Gibbons, but she is certain that when she administered effective spankings to 12-year-old Dollie Hayes and 14-year-old May Carnahan, who ran away from their homes in Tulsa, Okl., she administered justice in a manner highly satisfactory to herself.

The little girls ran away from their homes in Tulsa, with Stewart Shoteau and Roy Simmons, two grown men. They were arrested at the Plomax hotel with Simmons, but Shoteau got away. A brother of the Carnahan girl is on the way to Omaha to care for the girls, but the local authorities will prosecute Simmons and Shoteau, if the latter is caught, under the Mann white slave act.

The girls spoke rudely to Matron Gibbons who happens to be a very competent as well as a motherly woman. So she did just exactly what she would have done to her own children, had they been naughty, and as thoroughly.

"There," she panted, as she finished the task of paddling two very white little bodies with her broad, bare hand. "That's just what both of you needed. I guess if you'd-a had that a couple of years ago, and at regular intervals, you wouldn't be in a police station now." And Matron Gibbons, still indignant, went downstairs to make a report of her action to her superiors.

LEVI F. GARDNER, FORMER OMAHAN, DIES AT ST. LOUIS

Levi F. Gardner, formerly of Omaha, died Thursday at St. Louis. The body will be brought to Omaha and the funeral will take place from the home of his son, George W. Gardner, 253 Fowler avenue, Sunday.

The services will be under the auspices of Laclede lodge No. 22, Independent Order Odd Fellows, with interment at Forest Lawn cemetery.

Mr. Gardner was a native of Ohio and his earlier life was spent at New Philadelphia. From there he came to Des Moines and later to Omaha. He conducted a planing mill here for a number of years and has lately made his home in St. Louis.

THIRTY DAYS IN JAIL FOR ABUSING HIS WIFE

Otto Hofsetzer, 28 North Twentieth street, a cook employed by the Union Pacific railroad, was sentenced to thirty days by Judge Alstadt. Evidence to the effect that Hofsetzer mistreated his family was given by three boarders living at the same address. Coming in from his duties at a grading camp Thursday, he proceeded to indulge too freely, and upon coming home and finding his wife ill in bed, started to abuse her. Before he could do any violence an officer was summoned and he was placed under arrest. From the fight resulting from his misconduct Mrs. Hofsetzer is in a serious condition.

BETTER OMAHA GRAIN RATES

Market Here Enabled to Reach Out Farther for Business.

AFFECTS SOUTHERN BUSINESS

Rates from Southern Nebraska Have Heretofore Been More Favorable to Kansas City, but Change is Now Made.

There is a probability that in the near future the Omaha grain market will be put on the same footing as that of Kansas City, so far as rates from South Nebraska, and north Kansas points are concerned. Railroad and Omaha grain men have just concluded a meeting, with the result that the former have agreed to readjust the rates and put them into effect as soon as they are published.

In the past grain rates from numerous south Nebraska and north Kansas towns, especially on the Burlington and Missouri Pacific have been out of line, so far as Omaha and Kansas City have been concerned, the differentials being decidedly in favor of the Missouri city. This has been on account of the rates into Kansas City and from the territory named being based on St. Joseph. In other words, although sixty miles farther away, the rate into Kansas City has been the same as into St. Joseph.

The fact of the differential existing, enables Kansas City to reach out sixty miles farther into Omaha territory and secure grain for its market.

When the points were brought out and called to the attention of the railroad freight men, they agreed that there was merit in the contention of the Omaha grain men and readily agreed to readjust the tariffs, with the result that Omaha's grain buying territory will be extended something like sixty miles to the south and southwest, taking in a large area of the heaviest winter wheat area.

While the readjustment of the grain rates is not expected to advance the charges on shipments into Kansas City, it will put the rates on a mileage basis and give Omaha considerable of an advantage.

Just when the new rates will be operative is hard to say. Under ordinary circumstances they would become effective thirty days after publication, but the change is expected to bring on a fight. It is believed the Kansas City grain concerns will seek to enjoin the proposed change in rates and that the whole matter will go up to the Interstate Commerce commission for a final determination. In the end, it is believed Omaha will win, as both railroad and grain men say the position of the Omaha Grain exchange is consistent and right.

Bull Moosers Are Not Showing Very Strong at the Polls

Figures on the registration of voters to date will show that the members of the progressive party are exceedingly scarce in Omaha or if there are any they are not showing their colors as such at the registration. The proportion of those giving their party affiliation as "progressive" is exceedingly small. At the office of the election commissioner the figures with respect to party affiliations of those registered are being compiled. They will perhaps be completed within a few days.

A sample of the registrations is to be found in the Ninth precinct of the Ninth ward, where only three lonesome progressives are registered. In this same precinct are registered eighty-one republicans, that is members of the G. O. P. that in the minds of the progressives was voted to death last fall by the bull moosers.

These same bull moosers show up three strong against eighty-one G. O. P. A. There are twenty-six democrats registered in the same precinct, and two registered as having no party affiliation, making a total of 112 in the precinct.
