Testament States that He Has Already Received His Share of Estate—Grandchildren Are Remembered.

Bequeathing only $1 to his son, Otto L. Beindorff, and providing that any legatees who contest the will shall lose all right to share in it, the will of the late Charles Beindorff, who died Friday, makes his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Burnett, the chief heir and sole executrix, without bond. The will was filed in the office of the county court yesterday, and it is expected that a petition for its probate will be filed soon.

Special bequests are made as follows: To Emily Beindorff, widow of a deceased son, Charles F., $500; to the grandchildren, Robert and Arthur Beindorff, sons of Charles F., $500 each; to the grandchildren, George and Mildred, children of Otto L., $200 each; to the grandchildren, Carl William and Ollie Carola Burnett, children of Mrs. Burnett, $1,000 each.

The Beindorff estate consists chiefly of the property at the northwest corner of Thirtieth and Farnam streets, where Mr. Beindorff conducted a bakery and restaurant in the pioneer days of Omaha, and of the old homestead on Georgia, now occupied by Mrs. Burnett, who is a widow. The will gives all the property to her, subject only to the special bequests.

Less Material is Needed for Suits of Spring Styles

In the great daylight silk department of Hayden Bros., where silks are displayed in their real shades and where they may be matched with certain accuracy, Mr. D. Melver is showing the most popular colors, designs and materials of the day at the seventh annual display. Silk suits are the most popular apparel of the moment. Never before has there been such a richness of quality and wealth of color and design from which to choose the spring suit. More antiques, broad crepe ruffled, moire arabesque, armure, Balkan and Canton crepes, and the very newest camelion French gros de Londres, which is heavier than taffeta and better adapted to silk suits. All are shown in the latest shades, the new sulphur, Russian blue and, above all, the tango.

Mr. Melver, as well as Mr. Johnson, manager of the lace department, agreed that women were buying better materials than ever before. It is partially explained, he thought, by the fact that they needed much less material for a costume and therefore could afford to buy much better.

VALUE OF JEWELRY IS AT ISSUE IN EDHOLM CASE

Omaha jewelers who qualified as expert witnesses, gave District Judge Sutton information as to the value of a jewelry stock in today's session of Albert Edholm's divorce suit against Mrs. Katherine R. It was agreed that loose diamonds have increased in value more than $100 per carat in ten years.

MOTORCYCLE CARRIER HURT

SEVERE INJURIES SUSTAINED

Harry Fannestock Dragged Thirty Feet in Collision and Internal Injuries Probably Inflicted.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Ia., March 9.—(Special Telegram.)—After colliding with a taxicab this afternoon, Harry Fannestock, a special motorcycle carrier of the post-office department, was dragged thirty feet and sustained a broken leg. He was unconscious when taken to a hospital and internal injuries are feared. A knesack was torn off and a large piece of his flesh was found with the wrecked motorcycle.

No Illegal Insurance Business.—State Auditor Bleakly, who has been accused of licensing insurance companies illegally, declines to enter into a newspaper controversy over that subject. He simply makes general denial and denounces all who intimate that at any time any insurance company has been admitted to do business unless it is fully authorized and has complied with the law. He has shown the record in the case of the formation of the Automobile Owners Mutual, which was organized by prominent men of the state a few years ago and is now in a flourishing condition. It was organized in accord with a plan that was decided upon by the attorney general's staff. The Common Brotherhood of America is a fraternal that was organized and licensed some years ago and has since reinsured its business. But it fully complied with the law as to the number of certificate holders and applications before starting. So with all other instances that have been cited, Mr. Bleakly says the record is open for all.

Tax Collections in Iowa.—Reports to the state auditor from the counties of the state as to actual taxes levied and to be collected in the various counties of the state show that the aggregate will be about $4,500,000. Of this sum less than 6 per cent is on the state tax levy, the remainder being on levies over which local boards have exclusive control. The increase in assessment value of all property was from $118,000,000 to $125,000,000, due almost entirely to the order of court that henceforth the laws of the state must be obeyed in fixing assessments at actual values, but the increase of taxes was from $34,000,000 to the sum named above. The taxes collected aggregate about $500,000 for each county of the state. Only two counties have as yet failed to make their reports on the taxes levied and to be collected.

Applying Perkins Law in Iowa.—Reports to the State Board of Parole indicate that at three of the state institutions they have carried out the orders of the board with reference to the sterilization of inmates found to be likely to reproduce defectives. The reports are from Mount Pleasant, Clarinda and Independence. No report has as yet been received from Cherokee, but the system was in use there even prior to the passing of the Perkins law. The board has not yet visited Glenwood, and is in some doubt as to what to do with that institution owing to the great opposition to the law. The board will resist the effort on the part of the inmates of the penitentiary at Fort Madison to have the whole law declared invalid because of violation of the personal rights of individuals, whether they are criminals or mentally deficient.

Taken Back for Prison Term.—Regulation papers were issued today to take back to Ohio one Frank Tracht or George Smith, who has just completed a short term in prison at Fort Madison. He violated a parole in Ohio and will have to serve the rest of the term.

Superintendent Donohue of the inebriate hospital consulted with the board of control with the aid of Ober Meyers, a 260-lb. man, on the part of a patient to secure release by habeas corpus. The man went to Keokuk ostensibly to sign some papers and started out there.

Connolly Becomes a Candidate.—Maurice Connolly of Dubuque applied for nomination blanks from the secretary of state today to again become a candidate, but did not state whether he had decided on running for congress again in the Third district or for United States senator.

Located the Epileptic Colony.—The Board of Control has located the state epileptic colony on land in Boone county not far from Perry and Woodward and close to the Des Moines-Perry interurban line. The land purchased is a 96-acre farm of exceptionally fine land. The location was selected because it is nearer than any other to good coal and transportation will be a smaller item there than any place else. The first selection was a farm near Des Moines, but the owners could not comply with the requirements as to transportation.

Removal of a Justice of the Peace.—The attorney general's department is

J.M. Welch Gets Crate of English Chicks

J. M. Welch, proprietor of the Quick Serve and the Boston lunches, has received two crates of White Leghorn chickens of the English breed from Tom Barron of Catfirth, near Preston, England. There are twenty chickens, seven-teen hens and three roosters, in the flock, and Mr. Welch will place them on his farm on Military road for laying purposes.

The chickens are of the prize winning breed of Mr. Barron. Mr. Barron has been raising these leghorns for twenty years, and during the last three years he has won the international prize for laying. These hens have averaged from twenty to twenty-six eggs a month, which is considerably higher than any other records.

The chickens left Liverpool, England, on February 29 and arrived in Omaha March 9. They arrived without mishap and seemed to be glad they were on American soil. If the loud acclamations which greeted Mr. Welch's offices in the City National bank building can be accepted as a criterion.

For the first year Mr. Welch will keep his English chickens in seclusion and use the eggs for setting. After that he will permit them to breed with his own American Leghorns, so that he expects in time to have a chicken farm which will stand comparison with any in this country.

FIRST CHRISTIANS WILL PLAY FIRST METHODISTS

The by-laws of the league were technically violated and Meyers will
