WOMAN GLORIES IN CRIME

Miss Richardson Proud of Mutilation of Art Work.

GIVEN SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

She Says Her Act Was to Call Attention to Slow and Premeditated Murder of Mrs. Pankhurst.

LONDON, March 12.—Miss May Richardson, the militant suffragette, who on Tuesday hacked Ylvasque's "Rohobey Venus" in the National gallery, was today sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

The case against Miss Richardson was disposed of in record time. She was arrested on March 10, taken to Bow street police court and committed for trial by the magistrate on the same day, the grand jury returned a true bill against her and today she was tried and convicted by a jury at the London sessions.

The public prosecutor, in addressing the jury on behalf of the government, said that she might well doubt whether the prisoner was in her right senses. There was, however, no medical evidence to show that she was a person not responsible for her actions.

Miss Richardson has been on a "hunger strike" since her arrest. In replying to the charge today, she said that her act was premeditated and she pleaded guilty.

Statements by Defendant. Addressed by Judge Robert Wallace, who presided over the court, Miss Richardson said:

"I am an art student, but I care more for justice than for art. I firmly believe that when the nation has shut its eyes to justice and has allowed women, who are fighting for justice, to be maltreated and tortured, such an action as mine should be understandable. "The slow and premeditated murder of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is the ultimate act of her followers. The nation seems to be dead or asleep, for we cannot have known what was in the hearts of ministers, bishops and archbishops and even of the king himself. "I know that you will sentence me. I can stand only a few months' torture, but my fate makes little difference. I am really a grateful and happy woman, because I have been able to live in a century in which Mrs. Pankhurst lived and because in a slight degree the torture I have received can help carry out what I believe in."

Questions by Judge. As Judge Wallace was about to pass sentence, the following colloquy occurred: The judge: "If the picture had been destroyed, no money could have replaced it."

Miss Richardson: "Do you realize that no money can replace Mrs. Pankhurst? She is being slowly killed."

The judge: "You have pleaded guilty and have gloried in your crime."

Miss Richardson: "I don't say that. I think it a shame I had to consider it my duty to do it."

The judge: "It is my duty to pass sentence of six months' imprisonment. I recognize that this sentence is totally inadequate, but it is the maximum sentence for damaging works of art. If the offense had been window breaking, I could have given the prisoner eighteen months' imprisonment."

Miss Richardson looked ill, and it was suggested in some quarters that the prisoner state that her health had been the reason for taking the unusual course of hurrying the trial.

The charge against the prisoner was "malicious damage to a picture."

Another Manston Burned. GLASGOW, Scotland, March 12.—Militant suffragettes today burned to the ground the large unoccupied mansion at Seaton, belonging to the Free Church of Scotland. A message was left in the vicinity stating: "This is in revenge for the brutal arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst."

Hurtis Case in America. NEW YORK, March 12.—Militant methods, and especially the latest act of the English suffragettes in slashing the valuable "Rohobey Venus," were declared today by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw to be working a great injury to the cause of votes for women in this country.

PRESIDENT SIGNS THE ALASKA RAIL MEASURE

with the government's undertaking in the 60s to push the Pacific railways across the unbroken prairies and mountains of the west and thus link together the west and the east. Moreover, the new project is to be the first test in this country of government ownership of a public utility; it is expected to open to the commerce of the world great and rich reserves, only that those chosen from civil life shall be under the supervision, in the work of construction, of the engineers taken from the army. The appointment of any engineer from civil life whose salary exceeds $3,000 a year must be confirmed by the senate.

Can Use Panama Materials. The president is authorized, and the Alaskan Railroad commission recommends that it be done, to utilize in Alaska all the machinery and equipment used in the construction of the Panama canal and can be used in Alaska, the president to fix the price to be paid for it to the Isthmian Canal commission.

The Interstate Commerce commission, subject to the approval of the president, is empowered to regulate passenger and freight rates on the new railroad, and the rates are to be uniform, with no discrimination in favor of agents of the government, except the usual provision for employees and their families.

If the railroad line connects with a steamship line for the joint transportation of freight and passengers, or with any other railroad now or hereafter constructed in Alaska, the lines so connected must be operated as a through route with through rates on a fair and reasonable apportionment of revenue and expense.

Bond Issue on Popular Basis. The bonds from the sale of which the $5,000,000 is to be obtained are to be so sold that any citizen may have opportunity to subscribe.

The bill creates the "Alaska Railways Redemption Fund," into which is to be paid 75 per cent of all money received from the sale or lease of public lands in Alaska; from the sale of coal or mineral or timber on public lands; and from the net earnings of the railroad after maintenance charges and operating expenses. The redemption fund is to be drawn on by order of the president to pay interest on the bonds or to retire them. The hope of the friends of the bill is that the bonds will be successfully retired so that the government, so to speak, will simply have made a loan to Alaska.

Thousand Miles of Line. The total of all railroads bought or constructed is not to exceed 1,000 miles, and the appropriation for the purpose is $40,000,000, so that he is limited to an expense of $40,000 a mile.

The president is authorized, if he sees fit, to permit the government railroad to be operated by contract or lease, or it may be operated by the Panama Railroad company. This latter company has been referred to in the debates on the Alaska railroad bill as an example of successful government ownership, but it has been pointed out in reply that it is not an example of government ownership in the sense the phrase is generally used, because it is not a commercial railroad, its

BRYAN SPEAKS FOR I. AND R.
Delivers Address Before the Maryland Legislature.
IN FAVOR OF A POSTAL BALLOT
Secretary of State Asserts He Believes More Virtue in People Than Expressed in Their Representatives.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 12.—Secretary of State William J. Bryan said he hoped that not only would this country borrow the initiative and referendum as it had borrowed the Australian ballot, but that in time it would adopt the postal vote. The postal vote of New Zealand allows a citizen, though away from home, to cast his vote on an election and have it counted. The occasion of Mr. Bryan's statement was an address he made on the initiative and referendum before the Maryland legislature. A bill providing for the measure is pending. Secretary Bryan said he believed there is more "virtue in the people" than ever finds expression in their representatives. A representative should not violate his conscience either on public or private questions, and when he feels that he cannot do what his constituents conservatively want him to do he should return his commission.

"I believe the crime of misrepresentation is greater than private embezzlement," Mr. Bryan said. "And when you set misrepresentation your officeholder can laugh at you while he is drawing a salary from the treasurer and doing as he pleases." "You need not be afraid to change your opinion on the question of the initiative and referendum," the secretary concluded. President Wilson changed his opinion and was not ashamed. He said he had been teaching the students at Princeton that the initiative and referendum was wrong, but when he found he was wrong he was not ashamed to say so.

SENATE ASKS ABOUT AN ADDRESS MADE BY AMBASSADOR PAGE

the recent lowering of the American tariff. It was not lowered in order to please the British people, but because it was considered economically sound. Nevertheless it added to the pleasure of doing it, when he reflected that America would thereby receive more trade from this country.

"Mr. Page here made a lengthy reference to the trading between England and America, especially in cotton, about which he said: 'I hope in the future it will be sent here in better grading and better shape.'"

The ambassador proceeded that he wished to correct an impression about the attitude of the United States government concerning British investments in states in Central America with volcanic tendencies. He sometimes read that the United States was entering on a policy to discourage foreign investments."

Triangle Waist Fire Suits Settled for Seventy-Five Dollars

NEW YORK, March 12.—Twenty-three suits, begun by persons whose relatives were among the 148 killed in the Triangle Shirt Waist factory fire and by persons who were injured, were settled yesterday, so far as the owner of the building was concerned, by the payment of $75 in each case by the company that carried the accident insurance for the owner. Suits against the firm that rented the building may yet be instituted. It was said the settlement was made because it did not appear that the suits against the owner of the building would be successful.

ATLANTIC, Ia., March 12.—(Special.)—The trial of E. S. Harlan, ex-receiver of the Atlantic, Northern & Southern Railway company, recently indicted by the grand jury on the charge of embezzlement, began today at Glenwood. Embezzlement was charged in seven instances, but only one indictment returned. Mr. Harlan resigned the receivership of the road some months ago after an action had been brought to oust him from that position.

It is thought by the state that the defendant will demur to the indictment at the beginning of the trial and will insist that there is no such thing known to the law as embezzlement by a receiver of property of any kind, the Iowa law failing to include receivers in the list of those against whom indictments for embezzlement may lie. If Judge Applegate sustains the demurrer the case will end at once.

Some time ago, after the expert accountant, Hess, had filed his report on the accounts kept by Harlan, and during the investigation which followed Mr. Harlan returned $7,000, according to a stipulated settlement made.

The attorney for the state are Messrs. Whitmore and Willard & Willard of this city, County Attorney Logan of Mills county, and John Y. Stone of that county. The defendant's attorneys are T. B. Swan and C. E. Clovis of this city, J. H. Hess of Council Bluffs and Genung & Genung of Glenwood.
