

EGGS, BUTTER, SUGAR DOWN

Low Price of Butter Lessens Sale of Butterine.

PRICE ON ORANGES GOES UP

Southern Storms Keep Back the Early Vegetables from South, but Plenty Expected Within a Week.

Prices on eggs, sugar and butter, three of the most staple articles of the produce market, have all come down in the last week. Eggs are now selling at 25 cents, butter at 29 cents and sugar is selling at twenty-three pounds for a dollar.

According to Al King, manager of Hayden's grocery department, butter is bound to go still lower, as eggs, while sugar may or may not decrease.

The butter must come down with the open season, and eggs always do drop in spring. Butter is gradually forcing butterine off the market with the decreasing prices. The total sales of butterine during the last winter were probably greater than during any previous winter.

The high prices of butter forced people to buy the lower priced article. Now, however, butter is practically as cheap as the better brands of butterine, so that the demand for butterine is almost nil.

The southern storms of the last two weeks and the late frosts in that territory have been responsible for a scarcity of vegetables. It probably will be a week before the vegetable market will return to normal conditions.

Oranges have taken another jump of 20 cents per box in the wholesale price. At the present rate oranges will soon become as high as in past years.

Pineapples from Florida and Cuba should soon be on the market. Other fruits will not commence to come in until later in the spring.

Game Wardens in Omaha Seize Large Shipments of Fish

Large quantities of fish were seized in Omaha today by state game wardens, acting under instructions from Gust Huttenbeck, state game warden, of Lincoln, and the cases will be prosecuted by the same warden, who will come here from Lincoln for that purpose.

Frank Williams and Sam A. Bowers, deputy game wardens, seized 100 pounds of fish in the office of the Adams Express company at the Burlington station. The fish were consigned from Jackson of Keokuk, Ia., to A. K. Crouch, an Omaha dealer. Another lot of 66 pounds of fish was seized at the market on South Eleventh street.

This shipment is said to have come from Richardson, a dealer at Plattsmouth. The fish are seized on the ground that it is shipped out of season, in violation of law, and the punishment for the offense is a fine of from $25 to $100.

WANT "BACKSLIDERS" BACK IN CHURCHES

"Backsliders" from church rows and duties are going to be especially sought after during the big "Go-to-Church" campaign which commences March 23. At the last meeting of the central committee in charge of the movement plans were outlined for rounding up the stragglers and deserters so that every church will not only secure many new members from the campaign but will also receive the renewed support and attendance of members who have lost interest in the activities of the churches.

Burlington Work to Be Pushed This Year in the West

Contractors who are completing the Wyoming extension of the Burlington line from Casper to Orin Junction have commenced assembling their men and teams, preparatory to beginning work about April 1. It is expected the grading on this stretch of road, about thirty-five miles, will be completed not later than the middle of August, and that the bridge and track laying gangs will follow closely behind the graders.

TO EXTEND ELECTRIC LINES

Mortgage of $2,250,000 is Filed, Covering All Property. WILL BUILD ON TO LINCOLN Omaha and Lincoln Railway and Light Co. Arranges to Finance New Extension Beyond Papillion Into State Capital.

The Omaha & Lincoln Railway and Light company will soon extend its lines beyond Papillion and into Lincoln, as preparations have just been made for the issuing of bonds for the purpose. A mortgage has been filed for $2,250,000 on all property and franchises of the company in Nebraska to the Central Trust company.

Arthur English, Nebraska representative of the Omaha & Lincoln Railway and Light company, says this means that the lines will be built through Lincoln, and that the company will issue bonds for each extension as fast as they get ready to build it.

The company has issued bonds for the part of the light and power lines already extended beyond Papillion, and is preparing to issue more for further extensions. The mortgage is to cover all the property and franchises of the road now built and to be built between Omaha and Lincoln. The bonds are to be twenty-five-year paper at 5 per cent.

"There will be no water in this company," said Mr. English. "All the stocks will represent 30 cents on the dollar."

Mr. McKinley, head of the company, is still on his trip around the world. He will probably return within a few months and will then likely make an early visit to Nebraska to look after the lines.

Col. Cody Comes to Present Pictures Colonel W. F. Cody will be in Omaha Sunday to supervise the first production in the west of the great Indian revolt pictures, which will be given at the American theater Monday evening.

Three great campaigns are presented, the battle of Summit Springs in 1869, the Custer campaign of 1876, terminating in the battle of War Bonnet Creek, and finally the Indians' last stand, the rebellion of 1890-91 and the battle of Wounded Knee, where the Indians were hemmed in after a running fight all day and then moved down by hundreds with a Hotchkiss gun, making the Indians realize that no longer hand-to-hand fighting was in vogue.

Monday night "Buffalo Bill" will make a speech, describing this great campaign.

CATCH SYSTEMATIC ROBBERS

Omaha Man and Partner in St. Louis Both Under Arrest.

TOOK MOTOR CAR ACCESSORIES

Large Quantity of Valuable Merchandise Stolen from Western Auto Sales and Manufacturing Company.

A systematic robbery of the Western Auto Sales and Manufacturing Co., 1714 South Thirty-second avenue, which covers a period of several months' duration, and which involves the theft of hundreds of dollars worth of goods, was apparently stopped Friday morning when Detectives Dunn and Kennedy arrested H. L. Hammock, 209 Harney street, an employee of the concern.

A. W. Gilman, president of the firm, and also connected with the Empire Motor company of this city, had for more than a month discovered a considerable loss in the firm's stock. Several weeks ago as the result of the discovery, Floyd Bailey, foreman of the plant, was discharged, but a few days after his going the thefts again resumed its normal proportions.

After a careful watch Hammock was suspected and arrested this morning. In his room a packing box of accessories valued at $100, addressed for shipment to Floyd Bailey, St. Louis, Mo., was found by the officers.

Scarcely an hour after the arrest a telegram was received by Chief of Detectives Maloney from Chief of Police W. W. Gordon of St. Louis announcing the arrest of Bailey.

President Gilman had little to say of the affair aside from the fact that a careful inventory of the entire stock was being taken in an effort to ascertain the exact extent of the loss. It is believed by the police that the greater part of the goods will be recovered from St. Louis where it is evident that they have been sent.

In the meanwhile Hammock will be detained at police headquarters awaiting the return of Bailey from St. Louis, when a charge of grand larceny will probably be filed against him.

The police had been working on the case for sometime and until Thursday evening had made no progress in the case. An outside tip led to the evidence which resulted directly in the arrest of Hammock.

WYOMING TOWNS MOVE TO ANOTHER RAILROAD

On its Wyoming line between Powder River and Shoshone the Northwestern has closed two of its stations, Wolton and Moneta, because the towns have moved away and practically gone bodily over to the Burlington's new line, a few miles to the north.

The people of Wolton have taken their homes and personal belongings and moved across country to Armetia and those of Moneta have gone to Lestia. The towns abandoned had a population of about 100 each and the new towns to which the people have gone are but little larger. All the towns are in the range country.
