LAW MOVES CENSURE VOTE Unionist Leader Proposes Test on Ulster Program.

SUGGESTS AN APPEAL TO PEOPLE Sir Edward Carson, Most Fiercely Opponent of Home Rule for Ireland, Agrees to Accept the Result.

LONDON, March 19.—A vote of censure on the British government was moved today in the House of Commons by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition. It was based on Premier Asquith's refusal on Monday to give details of the scheme of local option by which the nine counties of Ulster would be permitted to vote separately on the question of the new Irish government.

The leader of the opposition offered to give a guarantee that if the government would take a referendum of the United Kingdom on the home rule bill and local option proposal the unionists both in the House of Lords and in the House of Commons would place no impediment in the way of carrying out the will of the people.

Carson Will Accept Result. Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster unionist leader, backed up Mr. Law's offer by saying that if the premier was prepared to give him a definite offer of a referendum he would accept that decision.

Atmosphere Becomes Heated. When Sir Edward Carson and Joseph Devlin, nationalist member for Belfast, entered the house the atmosphere became heated. The Ulster leader called Mr. Devlin a liar when the nationalist leader declared that Sir Edward Carson at one time had been a home ruler.

adopted at the state convention here today. Such a fulfillment of party pledges in the first year has been without a parallel in the history of the country, the document says.

"The democracy of Indiana," reads the platform, "in delegate convention assembled, remembering the great responsibility cast upon the democratic party of the nation by the overwhelming voice of the people at the last national election, points with supreme pride and satisfaction to the record of its achievements within the first year of its accession to power, as without a parallel in history of the prompt and complete fulfillment of the party's pledges to the people."

"We heartily commend the untiring zeal and ceaseless labors of President Wilson, Vice President Marshall and the democratic members of congress, in both the senate and the house, for the prompt and faithful manner in which they redeemed the solemn pledges made by the party to the people in the Baltimore platform of 1912."

NEXT SESSION AT FREMONT Royal Neighbors Decide to Meet There in 1915.

OMAHA WOMAN GRAND ORACLE Mrs. Mary Allen Chosen to Lead the Order—Class of Seventy-Two Candidates Initiated.

In spite of the hard fight put up by the delegates from Grand Island at the meeting of the state convention of the Royal Neighbors at the Swedish auditorium last night, the Fremont delegation seemed to have the upper hand during the entire contest and finally won the 1915 state convention of the lodge.

For the officers there was also a spirited contest, but the results were so decisive that the meeting adjourned in the east of spirits and the officers elected for the ensuing year will have the unanimous support of the delegates which attended the meeting here.

Officers elected for next year are: Mrs. Mary Allen, Omaha, grand oracle; Mrs. Mary Kelly, North Bend, vice oracle; Mrs. Mattie Carson, Lincoln, grand recorder; Mrs. Laura Shrum, Golden Rod, delegate to supreme camp at Rock Island, Ill.; Mrs. Jennie Kirtland, Kearney, delegate-at-large.

The following delegates were chosen to the supreme camp, which will be held in May: First district, Mrs. Ida Kennedy, Lincoln; Mrs. Mary Hollenbeck, Sterling; Second district, Mrs. Laura B. Shrum, Golden Rod; Third district, Mrs. Edith Lindenberg, St. Mary; Mrs. Mary Bruns, Lee; Fourth district, Mrs. Helen Chickler, Aurora; Fifth district, Mrs. Emma Pleistick, Hastings; Sixth district, Mrs. Alice K. A class of seventy-two candidates received the initiation work last night, which was in charge of a degree team especially selected for the occasion, and light refreshments were served during and following the ceremony.

DEATH RECORD

Lewis C. Elliott. AUBURN, Neb., March 19.—(Special.)—Lewis C. Elliott died at Newcastle, Wyo., yesterday. The body will be brought to Nebraska for interment. Mr. Elliott came to this county in 1867 with his father, Henry Elliott, when a boy. They built a toll bridge across the Little Nemaha river, which is reputed to be one of the first toll bridges in the state. In 1878 Mr. Elliott went to New Mexico, where he engaged in mining, and became quite wealthy, but subsequently lost a large portion of his wealth in the same business. In 1886 he returned to Nebraska and engaged in the ranch business in Lincoln county, but in 1894 met reverses, and then went to Wyoming, where he has considerable land. He still has mines in New Mexico.

Huntington Buys Rare Books from Duke of Devonshire

NEW YORK, March 19.—Some of the rarest books in the world were included in the 1,000 volumes purchased by Henry E. Huntington of New York from the library of the duke of Devonshire, it was learned today. Among the volumes acquired were twenty-five from the press of William Caxton, four Shakespeare folios and fifty-seven quartos and a collection of sixteenth and seventeenth century English plays which the British museum was anxious to obtain.

Confirmation of the sale by the duke of Devonshire was contained in London cable dispatches last night, which stated that the money was to be used to meet the heavy burden of death duties.

The Huntington library now contains four folio and forty-three quarto volumes of Shakespeare and with the addition of the Devonshire collection will rival the Shakespearean collection of Henry Clay Folger, jr., president of the Standard Oil company of New York, which has long been considered the greatest private collection of the kind in the world.

Mr. Huntington paid in 1911 at the Post office $50,000 for the famous Gutenberg Bible, the chief treasure of the collection of Robert Poe. This is the record price for a single volume, but it is said that there is at least one book in the Devonshire collection which exceeds it considerably in value. This is a copy of the first edition of "Hamlet," printed in London in 1616 by Nicholas Ling and John Truncheon.

Only one other copy of this "Hamlet" is known to exist, and that is in the British museum. It is believed that this copy of "Hamlet" could be sold by itself for more than $100,000.

OATS TRUST HEARING BEGINS Government Charges Conspiracy to Monopolize Business.

TWO POOLS ARE ORGANIZED Allegation that One of Them Was Wrecked and All Its Plants That Were Making Money Were Sold to the Other.

CHICAGO, March 19.—Hearings in the government's anti-trust suit against the Quaker Oats company and the Great Western Cereal company began here today. Evidence was taken before Miss Kate S. Holmes, special examiner.

"The government charges," said James H. Wilkerson, United States district attorney, "that the defendants are conspiring to monopolize the oatmeal business of the country. It seeks the dissolution of the company and asks that it be enjoined from interstate commerce until the dissolution is complete."

"Prior to 1891," said Mr. Wilkerson, "there were eleven principal oatmeal plants in the country, situated in Ohio, Illinois and Iowa. They were members of a pool known as the Consolidated Oatmeal company. After the passage of the trust act they were merged into the American Cereal company, which in 1902 was taken over by the Quaker Oats company."

"The independents organized into the Great Western Cereal company in 1901. A price fixing agreement was made between the two companies," said the government charges that in 1911 Joy Murton wrecked the Great Western company and sold all its plants that were making money to the Quaker Oats company."

Joy Murton—H. P. Crowell, Robert Stuart, James H. Douglass, John Stuart, A. Stanford White and John Welling are individual defendants in the suit.

MACKEREL TRUST IS IN PROCESS OF FORMATION

NEW YORK, March 19.—Fish handlers today expressed a concern over advice they have received from Norway and Sweden that a mackerel trust is in process of formation there.

The two largest exporting firms of this fish, which finds a heavy market in this country, have agreed to merge into one corporation and have made an offer to the combined fishermen to handle the entire output on a commission basis. Better prices are promised the fishermen, but the latter have not yet agreed to the terms offered.
