ROCK ISLAND APPEALS CASE

Takes Up Suit in Which Maliko Got Big Judgment.

NEW LIGHT IN CAPITOL DOME

State Board Finds Way to Furnish Necessary Light at About Half Expense of the Present Method.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 20.—(Special.)—The Rock Island railroad has appealed to the supreme court from a judgment secured in the district court of Douglas county by Barney Maliko, who was injured by being run over by an engine of the company at F street in South Omaha.

Maliko sued the company for $25,000 damages, alleging that the engineer of the engine which ran over him had an unobstructed view of the track at that point and should have given him warning of the approaching train. The jury gave Maliko judgment for $10,000.

New Lights in Dome.

Powerful lights have been suspended inside the dome of the state house and now visitors may easily distinguish the beautiful frescoing which has adorned the arch of the dome ever since the dome was erected, and adds much to the beauty of the scenery. The former ornamental lights have been cut out, making a saving in current, about one-half.

Hearing Doesn't Take Place.

A hearing called before the railway commission this morning failed to develop because of the failure of representatives of the Union Pacific railway to appear. The controversy covers the complaint of the telephone companies at David City, Brainard and Rising City over the refusal of the company to put in telephones at their stations in those towns under a requirement of the Bartos law, passed four years ago. The law requires that railway companies shall keep telephone connections in their depots with not more than two exchanges located in a town, and this the company has refused to do.

Firm Incorporates.

The Stoetzel Stove and Furnace company of Omaha has filed articles with the secretary of state with the intention of doing a general manufacturing business, wholesale and retail. The company is incorporated for $10,000 and is owned by William F. Stoetzel, Jr., and Sidney A. Stoetzel.

Another Payment Made.

Order court remitted the last installment due the state on its insane account this morning, in the amount of $221.

SCOTT'S BLUFF AND GERING AT WAR OVER PRESTIGE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 20.—(Special.)—War is on in Scott's Bluff county. Gering, the present county seat, wants to retain its prestige, while Scott's Bluff, a new town and also larger, just across the river, wants the county seat moved there.

Recently the advocates of Scott's Bluff presented the county board a petition signed by 1,300 residents of that locality, asking that the commissioners call a special election to relocate the county seat. A short time after the backers of the old town of Gering presented a petition containing 1,400 names, asking that no election be called. On top of that a petition was filed with the board containing the names of several hundred who had signed the first petition favoring the calling of an election, asking that their names be stricken from the first list. With such a showing the commissioners refused to call the election.

W. Dole; vice president, O. B. Allington; secretary and treasurer, J. P. Andrew; board of directors, A. H. Kidd, William Holm, F. C. Hirmon, David Boesiger, John Bunte and Ross Hill. The organization starts out with a membership of about fifty and is the first of its kind to be perfected in the state.

Louie F. Holness and Miss Lela Kirkpatrick, both of this city, were married at Lincoln Thursday. After a brief visit with the former's parents at Hebron they will return and make their home in Beatrice.

At a special meeting of the city commissioners Thursday afternoon the petitions for Sunday baseball and amusements were received together with the city clerk's certificate showing that the required number of voters had signed them, and the propositions were ordered put on the ballot.

County Seat Will Remain at Gering

GERING, Neb., March 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The proposition to remove the county seat of Scott's Bluff county from Gering to Scott's Bluff was turned down yesterday by a unanimous vote of the county board, although two members at least were favorable. A poor showing of petitioners was made after the lists had been pared down by withdrawals, and the county at large has aligned itself by a large majority for at least a generation of the matter with Gering, disposing of the matter for at least a generation. An informal jubilee was held in Gering last night, and it is considered that about the only possible obstacle to a large growth has been permanently removed.

Republicans See Success Ahead if Work in Unison

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 20.—(Special.)—Republicans who came in today to attend the legislative banquet this evening brought good reports from various sections of the country regarding the get-together feeling in their community among republicans.

Said a republican who was a member of the session of 1909: "We feel down our way that with a good ticket we will be back in the harness again next year. Of course, there are a few radicals on both sides who do not seem to want to forget the differences of 1912, but among the rank and file of the party there is a feeling that the past should be buried and everybody pull together for success this fall."

A republican member of the legislature of 1911 from a county in the central part of the state said things looked good in his locality. "The third party fellows are not cutting much ice in my county," said he, "and while they may put a ticket in the field in the county, they will not poll any very considerable portion of the vote. It will be practically easy for us to run up a good majority for the republican ticket in our county if we get a good man to lead the state ticket."

"Up in my county," said another well-known republican member of the 1911 session, "the democrats are split all to pieces. Congressman Stephens' attitude on the postoffice appointments has had the effect of creating such a feeling against him over the district that should he get the nomination, any republican who is clean and progressive will have an easy time beating him in the election. We have a few third party fellows, but very few. Sentiment among all republicans is strong for forgetting the differences of the past and getting together to fight for what we look like sure victory with a good, strong state ticket in the field."

In fact, the above sentiment seems to extend to all parts of the state, if the ideas of those who have come to Lincoln to attend the legislative banquet is to be taken as the feeling in their communities.

ALFALFA SEED IS CHEAP, FARMERS ARE USING IT

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., March 20.—(Special.)—Reports received by the state board of agriculture indicate that the farmers are preparing for extensive alfalfa planting this year. There are two reasons for this activity. The crop yields well under drought conditions. Alfalfa seed is cheap and of excellent quality.

The Franklin News says: "J. W. Robinson intends to plant fifty acres of alfalfa on his bottom farm this spring. Several other farmers of this locality will put in a big acreage. Alfalfa seed is the cheapest it has been in years and if the weather is right this spring there will be hundreds of acres planted in this county. There is nothing that will pay a higher return on the investment than alfalfa."

Concerning the sowing of alfalfa, information on file in the office of the State Board of Agriculture shows that the state may be roughly divided into two districts. If a line be drawn through Seward to point about six miles west of Croix and extended until it touches the state line, both north and south, the state would be divided into two sections as far as alfalfa seedling is concerned. East of this line is the first district where the weed growths are the principal factors in securing a good stand of alfalfa. Here it is better to delay the sowing of alfalfa until the season of rank weed growth is over. From the first to the tenth of August is the most favorable time.

In the sandhill region and the elevated plateau country of the second region the chief obstacles to getting a good stand of alfalfa are the high winds and the burning sun of the late summer. Winds, dust and blowing sand injure the plants. The whipping of the young alfalfa plant back and forth in the wind is almost fatal to it. To avoid these difficulties it is best to delay sowing until the season of high winds is past. In this region the time selected for sowing is usually from June 1 to 10. Until this time the ground should be kept in good cultivation to prevent the loss of moisture and the growth of weeds. By sowing at this time the plants get the benefit of the summer rains.

Sir Gilbert Parker's Great New Novel "You Never Know Your Luck" Published Complete in the April Munsey

WHEN this novel goes into book form after it has appeared in The Munsey, it will cost you $1.50; in Munsey's Magazine it will cost you 15 cents, and in The Munsey you get it first.

Sir Gilbert Parker is unquestionably one of the first novelists of the day, and one of the most popular. His books, at $1.50 a copy, sell up into the hundreds of thousands—some of them as much as 400,000. With so tremendous a sale at $1.50, what ought the sale to be at only 15 cents? Four million copies, I should say, but as the edition of Munsey's Magazine for April is limited to 500,000 copies, there will be, on this theory, 3,500,000 disappointed persons.

If, therefore, you want to make sure of this new Parker novel at a cost of 15 cents, you would do well to get busy with your newsdealer before his supply of the April Munsey is exhausted.

with a full book-length novel published complete each issue, has hit a new high place in magazine making. I have been studying for a dozen or fifteen years to find a way to give the public brand-new, high-grade books at a price not to exceed 25 cents a copy. I have just now solved the problem through publishing them in my magazine—not serial publication, but as complete as if actually in book form. And in The Munsey they are printed on fine book paper, from large, clear type, and are profusely illustrated.

The Munsey is jam full of good stuff. Its complete novel covers only one side of it. The other side is rich in illustrations, worth-while articles, short fiction and other material—a magazine practically double the size of the average magazine.

On all news-stands, 15 cents a copy; $1.50 a year.

The result of the joint council came as a result of the abrogation by manufacturers of the working agreement between the employees and employer and state industrial commission, which resulted in a settlement of a recent strike affecting the same companies.
