Valuable Dogs Dead About Clifton Hill
 A number of valuable dogs belonging to persons living in the Clifton Hill district have been poisoned during the last week, and owners of the pedigreed animals are indignant over the situation.
 Dr. J. E. Pulver lost a Newfoundland; W. E. Lamb, an English bulldog; M. Simons, a pit bull dog; and Thomas Fields, a valued pet. Police officials have been informed of the situation, and many dog owners have been on the lookout for the culprits, but so far they have not been discovered. Nearly a year ago several dogs were disposed of in a like manner in the same section of the city.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Father Joannitis in Receipt of Threats Through Mails.

POSTAL OFFICERS INVESTIGATE

Priest, Active in Stopping Illegal Sale of Liquor in Vicinity of His Church, Target of Anonymous Letter Writers.

Rev. Father Joannitis, pastor of St. Anthony's Lithuanian church of South Omaha, has received threatening letters and lewd pictures through the United States mails and he has invoked the aid of the government. A little packet of letters and lewd pictures such as are forbidden the mails were turned over to the postal authorities yesterday by the priest, who has been vigorously fighting vice and wide open saloons in his district.

For months Father Joannitis has been fighting the wide open sale of liquor to his Lithuanian parishioners who live in the vicinity of Thirtieth and R streets. He has sought the aid of the county attorney's office and the Fire and Police Board of South Omaha. It is asserted by the priest that because of his activity in trying to save his people from the evil effects of low saloons he has been made the target for abuse and evil words. The picture cards are said to be extremely indecent and the letters are said to breathe deep threats of vengeance against the priest.

Father Joannitis refused to discuss the case yesterday. "I have had plenty of publicity on this matter," he told a reporter. "What I want now is action. I guess the United States government will not permit its laws to be defied by any crowd or gang."

Elaborate Plans to Entertain the Men of Michigan

When the Michigan Glee and Mandolin clubs come to Omaha on April 21 for a concert at the Brandeis theater they will be kept busy every minute of the time with entertainment arranged by the many Michigan alumni here who are anxious to show their fellow college men a good time.

Arriving before 10 o'clock in the morning, the visiting musicians will be met at the train by a committee, and will be taken to the headquarters at the Hotel Rome for breakfast. After a get-acquainted session with Omaha alumni, the college clubs will go to the Central High school where a concert for the students there at 11 o'clock.

At noon a largely attended luncheon will be given in their honor at the University club. Because of the large number of guests who will desire to attend, it has been decided that reservations must be made in advance. The visitors will also sing and play after the luncheon.

To witness Outfielder Joe Bell play ball with Omaha, the Wolverine club will go out to Bourke park in the afternoon, as Joe is a recent graduate from Ann Arbor himself and has a large and loyal following among Michigan fans.

The main affair of the concert will be a reception and dance at the University club after the concert. Members of the club and their friends will be invited by card. At 2 o'clock the next morning the clubs will leave Omaha for Rockford, Ill., to give another concert.

Judging from the interest already shown, their concert here will be a big affair, with a packed house of Ann Arbor men and their friends, and many other lovers of music. The many other charges of the arrangements include Dr. C. E. Uren, chairman, and Raymond M. Crossman, E. E. Paulson, W. S. Stillman, Dr. C. F. Crowley and Dr. W. B. Elster.

MONMOUTH GLEE CLUB PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

The Monmouth College Glee club of Monmouth, Ill., Saturday evening delighted an audience which filled every available corner of the Young Men's Christian association auditorium and one which responded tumultuously to a program of sixteen numbers offered by the club.

As a body the club was all that could be desired, while the soloists were equally as pleasing.

A baritone solo, "Conquered," by Lee Bright, was strenuously applauded, as was a lullaby by the Schubert quartet, composed of Messrs. Rolla Mudd, Earle Faber, Lee Bright and John Lahr. "Mourner," rendered by Rolla Mudd, tenor, shared generously of the audience's approval, while the college songs, by the entire chorus, proved an immense hit. "Because You're You," by the quartet with cello and violin accompaniment, and "What D'ye Mean You Lost Yer Dog," by Clarence Barnes, Ralph McLaughlin and the club, were among the numbers which scored heavily.

MISS DAVIS MAY COME TO THE CHARITIES CONVENTION

Miss Katherine Bement Davis, commissioner of corrections in New York City, has written Rabbi Frederick Cohn that she will attempt to arrange her program so as to be able to be in Omaha for the Nebraska Conference of Charities at Corrections April 26-28. This is in reply to a request from over twenty organizations of the city asking that she reconsider her refusal to accept a former invitation.

Grandma Used Sage Tea to Darken Hair

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, restore every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not stylish, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking all small strands at a time; by morning all gray streaks have disappeared, and, after another application, your hair becomes beautifully dark, lustrous, soft and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

STYLE SHOW FOR THIS WEEK

Spring Fashions Are to Be Exhibited at All the Big Stores.

SOME HAVE LIVING MODELS

Some Speculation as to Whether the Models Will Appear in Colored Wigs is Rife Among the Women.

Beginning Monday and extending throughout the week, there will be the most wonderful showing of spring fashions ever held in this city. All of the large shops have chosen this time for "Style week," and many from out in the state are planning to attend.

Most of the shops have engaged beautiful living models to show the gowns, hats, wraps and the late styles in hosiery and shoes. Accessories to the costumes, such as parasols, bags and vanity contrivances are unusually elaborate this season.

Much speculation is rife as to whether the charming models will choose to wear the new colored wigs.

The style show will have its effect on the social calendar, for very little has been planned for this week, since every woman expects to spend much time at the displays.

Some of the gowns to be shown this week are as follows:
 Reproduction of M. Paul Poiret of Paris, gown in a combination of crepon and silk corded crepe, exhibiting the new tulle and broad girde effect in taffeta. Vestee of lace and tulle. This model in washable fabric. Also a model of Premet, Paris, demonstrating the broad bodice belt, now so prominent in spring gowns. Made in taffeta with waist of chiffon and shadow lace. The frills are of chiffon with bodice of moire ribbon.

A production of Cheruit, Paris, a departure from the ordinary ruffled tunic. Its oddity—a most pleasing feature, with the new Dutch collar, making a very artistic gown, of which most American spring garments in suits, dresses and wats are fashioned.

An attractive model by Maison Kaufman is shown in taffeta, one of the prevailing style features of the season of puffs. The waist is of chiffon and hand-embroidered. Another is a suit by Jenne, Paris, made in gabardine and trimmed with silk bengaline. A coat by Maison Maurice, in the new Parisian cloth of moire, is very striking. Another clever gown is a reproduction of a Douailet model, with detachable plaited tunic, made in gabardine.

"Dea Robes des Siecle Vingtieme," or the twentieth century model, is one of the latest creations of Paris. A two-piece dress, made in charmesse and chiffon, is an extremely pleasing conception. Paris now decrees suits of combinations with taffeta, an Americanized idea of chiffon gabardine and taffeta, forming a bodice and tunic of taffeta. These are also shown in a charming variety. The famous Larymade blouse, with new Jap kimono sleeve, is a new idea that is just too sweet for anything.

There is an original tango suit. The artistic draping is a reproduction of the leading tailors of Paris, made in serie and moire trimming. An original blouse by Mme. Frances, made in tulle and trimmed with silk laces and green chiffon taffeta, is shown.

A blouse by Mme. Frances, made of crinkle silk brocade with floral effect, sleeves and collar of point de venise lace, is on exhibition. A dancing frock by Windsor, fashioned from Callot model; combination of chiffon, shadow laces and crepe de chine, with bodice of gold ribbon. A model by Premet made of Holland blue crepe de chine with panner of figured chiffon, and broad bodice and waist of chiffon with Medici collar.

The season's popular outing coat, made of genuine Worumbo "fuzzy-wuzzy" cloth, is lined with peau de cygne. A reproduction of a Premet model in taffeta, a new departure in the trimming of gowns with cameo, is also shown. A waist by Maison Kaufman, showing the new Georgette silk crepe in "Mexique" (the new fall, 1914, tango), will greet the eye.

Indigestion and Constipation.
 "About five years ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets after suffering from indigestion and constipation for years without finding anything to relieve me. Chamberlain's Tablets helped me at once and by using them for several weeks I was cured of the complaint," writes Mrs. Mary E. McMullen, Phelps, N. Y. All dealers. Advertisement.
