

OMAHA LEADS ALL IN GRAIN

More Carloads on Sale Here Monday Than Any Other Place. INVADING MORE TERRITORY

Local Market Each Month Extends Farther from Home with Its Buying Orders—Texas Gets Most Corn.

In corn receipts the Omaha grain market Monday came close to setting a high mark, 236 carloads being on sale, an against 192 at St. Louis, 174 at Kansas City and fifty-two at Chicago. All told there were 236 carloads of grain on sale Monday on the Omaha market, 236 at Kansas City, 237 at St. Louis and 235 at Chicago.

Stocks on hand are slightly in excess of last year at this time, there now being 3,311,000 bushels of grain in the elevator, as against 2,500 bushels on the same date one year ago.

With each succeeding month, owing to the high prices paid, the Omaha market extends farther from home with its buying orders. During the last week Omaha invaded an entirely new territory, getting corn that was hauled right through St. Paul and Minneapolis. At this time practically all of the corn of South Dakota and Minnesota is coming here, while much continues to come from central Illinois and some from the southern part of the state, within less than 100 miles of St. Louis.

The bulk of the outshippments continue to go south, Texas now taking unusually large quantities of corn, while the plantations of southern Missouri and Arkansas have been in the market for immense purchases. Oats are following the direction of the corn, while much of the wheat is going west. During the last week more than 300,000 bushels having gone to California for milling purposes.

Excuses Himself from Card Table and Drops Dead

Excusing himself from the card table at the home of J. W. Galloway, 817 South Twenty-eighth street, Monday night on the plea of illness, O. P. Campbell, 1915 Spruce street, stepped out into the back yard for a little fresh air.

A few minutes later, Mr. Galloway went out to see how Campbell was, and discovered the man lying on the ground, a few steps from the porch. He was moaning, though unconscious.

Campbell was carried into the house, and died there a few minutes later, before medical aid could be summoned. His death is attributed to heart failure.

O. P. Campbell was 47 years old, unmarried, and had been employed by the street railway company as motor-man.

He had been a guest at the Galloway home for the evening and was playing cards with a number of friends, apparently in the best of spirits. Stopping the game, he told them that he felt ill and asked to be excused for a minute. Campbell then stepped out into the back yard to get a breath of fresh air, and apparently fell unconscious before he had walked a dozen steps from the door.

The body is in charge of Coroner Crosby, who has not decided whether or not an inquest will be held.

Quick Work With Pulmotor Brings Man Back to Life

Leonard Everett, aged 23, living at 3724 Grand avenue, probably owes his life to the pulmotor in the hands of Police Surgeon Foltz. Everett, who is employed by the Standard Oil company as a clerk, lives alone, and his sister, who resides at 3617 Grand avenue, has been in the habit of calling him in the morning.

When she went to awaken her brother yesterday, he did not reply as usual. She called G. A. Guthrie, who boards at her home, and they raised a window in the Everett residence, discovering as they did so a strong odor of gas. As soon as possible Guthrie entered the home and found Everett lying in bed apparently dead, with a gas light over the bed turned half way open.

In response to the call at police headquarters, Officer Murphy and Police Surgeon Foltz hurried to the Everett home with the pulmotor. After working the device on Everett for several minutes, he began to show signs of recovery, and in an hour regained consciousness.

The gas light over the bed worked with a chain device, which turned the flow of gas on and off. It is believed that on retiring and extinguishing the light, Everett in some manner pulled the chain open again after the light was extinguished.

Those Terrible Ear Noises Have Stopped

Head noises? What a picture of intolerable suffering these words bring to mind. Reader, if you have head noises, I know well that no words of mine can describe the weary misery. But you are one to appreciate the blessed relief in the words "My Head Noises Have Stopped."

The joy and gratitude of the people who received the 200 Free Treatments offered in this special ad cannot be overestimated. Many people who were suffering from head noises are now well again.

200 Treatments Free. Think what it would mean to no longer suffer with these "intolerable, tearing, roaring" whistling-the-whirlwind sound of the head noises which at times make you feel that they must stop, or you will go insane. Now you can have them all beginning to ease, and whether it has been 20 years or 20 days that you have been suffering from these noisy, tearing, roaring head noises, you will be free of them. There is no other way. You will never be cured by any other means. You will never be cured by any other means. You will never be cured by any other means.

GRAFTER SWINDLES OMAHANS

They Put Up Money for Agent's Bond and He Departs. HOTEL MEN AVOID BUNCO GAME

Fellow Who Worked Auto Repair and Tire Swindle Falls to Land Men on the Scheme Tried Here.

Just as Omaha hotel men were shaking hands with themselves, for going unscathed through a campaign to swindle them on an alleged auto repair and tire swindle, they have learned that a smooth stranger bilked numerous Omahans out of $5 and $10 bills last week on the false representation that he would employ them as agents, while he was a guest at a local hotel.

Advertising that he was an agency organizer for the J. B. Williams company's "perfume factory" at Indianapolis, the hotel guest, giving the name of Mesa, is said to have separated many would-be agents from their "long green," which was put up as "bond." Each prospective perfume peddler was told to call later, when the "application" and "bond" would be ready, and a sample outfit would be furnished.

However, unforeseen circumstances caused the Mesa person to depart hastily, without leaving behind an forwarding address, message to his agents, or money for his room and board. Now the police are looking for him in other cities, and numerous Omahans are hoping to experience the satisfaction of at least seeing him in police court.

The attempt to defraud hotel men on the old auto repair and tire graft fell flat at all three hostilities where it is known to be tried. Jesse Merrill, Joe Keenan and P. W. Miskell of the Home, Henshaw and Her Grand, respectively, were approached by an affable stranger, who after registering for two of the best rooms, said that his "father" was coming and would the hotel please advance $5 or $10 to let the guest pay for auto repairs or tires, until "dad" put in an appearance? The most the "tourist" got from any of the hotels was a night's lodging at the Her Grand, where he left his bill unpaid.

Wagner Returns from Visit to the Border Troubles

The Mexican situation is causing a great deal of talk in the gulf states," said Ray C. Wagner, secretary of the Bankers Reserve Life company, who returned Monday night from a tour of the southern states. During his travels Mr. Wagner visited Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas.

"Texas is full of Uncle Sam's soldiers and there seems to be an impression that the government is determined to be prepared for any emergency. The war ships in the harbors and their tenders are supplied constantly with large commissary supplies and there seems to be a general appearance of alert preparedness on the part of both sailors and soldiers, anticipating, no doubt, an order at any time to proceed to serious business. The people, however, are not anxious to have Uncle Sam intervene in the Mexican situation. The sentiment on the border seems to me to be about what it is in this part of the country, namely, that the people are disposed to approve the attitude of President Wilson in reference to Mexico and believe it would be a very costly undertaking to invade Mexico."

A ragged man, about 35 years of age, with a week's growth of whiskers on his face, approached Toll Taker McCienna at the Douglas street bridge Monday night and asked what the charges were to get by without paying.

The toll taker replied that there weren't any. "It's me for a splash in the river then," said the other. "Fishable," was the toll taker's reply.

The man walked back toward Council Bluffs a little distance and climbed on the bridge railing and went through the preliminaries of jumping.

Just then an automobile came along and McClellan turned his attention to it. When he looked again toward the figure on the bridge railing the man was gone.

Bruce Williams, conductor of the Council Bluffs street, car, which approached about this time saw nothing of anyone jumping from the bridge.

Members of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange will start out on their annual spring business jaunt April 13, occupying a special sleeping car. There will be at least twenty-five in the party and they will visit and make stops at all of the important points in the range country of Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

From Omaha the South Omaha stockmen will go out over the Northwestern to Rapid City, Belle Fourche, and then to Deadwood. Then they will go over the Burlington up through the Big Horn basin, coming down over the company's Powder river extension. From Powder river they will return over the Northwestern, stopping at Casper, Douglas and Lusk. They will be gone about ten days.

FAVERSHAM IS COMING TO ORPHEUM IN 'THE SQUAW MAN'

William Faversham will come to the Orpheum here in "The Squaw Man" according to word received by Manager Byrne. The vehicle in the case of Faversham achieved great success, was originally written as a one-act play by Edwin Milton Royle. Though later extended to cover an entire performance, the original version of the author was preserved, and it is in the original one-act play that William Faversham will be seen in Omaha. Although the date of his coming to Omaha has not been definitely announced, it is expected it will be during the month of April.
