

BOARD DISPROVES BROMES
County Commissioners Contradict Allegations of Lawyers.
VALIDATE REGISTERED VOTER Man Said by Attorneys to Not Have Been Legally Chosen Proves to Be Duly Qualified to Serve on Jury.

The technical plea through Attorneys Brome & Brome of Wesley Gard, under indictment for alleged perjury, that the jury lists from which the recent Douglas county jury was drawn were not legally prepared, drew contradictions from members of the Board of County Commissioners who prepared them. They declared that the lists were properly prepared and that the plea, that each commissioner made out separate list from his own precincts was a mere subterfuge.

It was also discovered that Samuel Lalitte, 176 California street, who is asserted in a "plea of abatement," prepared by the Brome and signed by Gard, to be a citizen of Russia and not a legal member of the grand jury, is a registered, qualified voter and on July 2 last year took out his first naturalization papers in the Douglas county court.

Balitz is listed as a registered voter in the office of the election commissioner and it was learned that his name was selected from the list of registered voters when it was placed on the 1914 jury list.
County Commissioner Best, from whose precinct 890 of the names on the 1914 jury list were selected, said:

"There is absolutely nothing to the attempt to attack the legality of jury lists.
Each commissioner prepared lists from his own precincts, but these were all checked over by the whole board.
I would challenge the Bar association or any other body to prepare lists in better fashion. It is said that some of the men are over 21, but not 25 years of age.
It certainly is not possible for me to require of each of 800 prospective jurymen whether he is 25 years of age.
We simply take from the voters' lists, the tax lists and the directories the names of men who to all appearances are eligible for jury service. It is a thankless job requiring much hard work and we have no objection if anybody else wants to take it."

Magney Denies He Told Grand Jury Not to Indict W. Gard
Where Wesley Gard and his attorneys, Brome & Brome, secured the alleged "information" that County Attorney Magney advised the recent grand jury that Gard "should not be indicted" for perjury and that Brome & Brome could not be convicted of any crime in connection with the Belange contempt case, was a subject of interesting conversation today at the court house.

County Attorney Magney flatly denied that he had told the members of the grand jury this, or that he had at any time made any statement to this effect.
The assertions were contained in a "plea of abatement" filed by Brome & Brome which attacks the indictment of Gard for perjury on technical grounds.

"I said no such thing," declared County Attorney Magney. "I have no objection to being held accountable for anything I have said or done, but I do not like to have such a statement circulated. What I did present to the grand jurors was a statement of what the evidence so far brought out in connection with the case was, and included in this was the statement that there were witnesses who would testify in Gard's favor, but more who would testify against him."

It was said at the court house that it would be improper and illegal for the county attorney to have given the grand jury the advice which Gard and the Bromes allege he offered.

County Prisoners
Sing as Murderers
Leave for Lincoln
Tony Claretta, Joe Williams, S. Rosamond and three others, under guard of Deputy Sheriff F. Palmer and three assistants, made up the largest party of murderers ever taken from Omaha to Lincoln. Jones is sentenced to death in the electric chair; Claretta and Williams, life imprisonment, and Rosmond has a ten-year sentence to serve.

Jones killed a companion in an argument over the payment of a rent note and the other three were convicted of the murder of Henry Nickel, at the McVey resort on the night of January 15.

As the men, handcuffed together in pairs, left the county jail, many of the other prisoners joined in a chorus of "Nearer My God to Thee."

Howell Responsible for Closing Street Nicholas street, from Fourteenth to the Missouri Pacific freight depot, is closed to traffic because General Manager R.
B. Howell of the Metropolitan Water district has filled the street with brick and dirt from a ditch being excavated for a water pipe.

Complaints have been received at the office of the street commissioner. The complaints say the dirt and debris could have been piled in the street properly and the street would have still been open to traffic.

GEN. R. N. ADAMS DIES OF APOPLEXY IN MINNEAPOLIS News of the death in Minneapolis of General Robert N. Adams was received in Omaha with more than ordinary concern, for the general was known here and over the state by many.

As one of the notable surviving figures of the civil war, prominent in the Loyal Legion and Grand Army, he had hosts of friends among the veterans of the republic. Also as a Presbyterian minister for forty-five years and from many years home mission field secretary in the northwest, comprising this territory, he was widely known among churchmen.

He retired from his ecclesiastical office a few years ago and was succeeded by Rev. W. H. Kearns of Nebraska.

General Adams was the last of the fighting to follow Sherman to the sea.
He participated with valor and distinction in many of the most important battles of the war. He was educated at Miami university and went out from Ohio. After the war he took his divinity course in the Allegheny Theological seminary.

Death was due to apoplexy at his home in Minneapolis. He was 79 years old.
