RAIN STOPS THE TRAINING

Pa's Athletes Are Unable to Go Through Daily Stunts.

BUT RAIN HELPS GROUNDS

Brother Dave is Elated Because the Grounds Are Put in Better Condition by the Steady Drizzle.

In order to make the spring training season up to date worse than ever Jup. Pivv, obvious gent of the elements, grabbed hold of the whip hand Friday and made the ball yard unfit for practice by Pa Rourke's eager athletes. The constant drizzle Friday morning, while it did the yard considerable good, was no benefit for the athletes, who were compelled to remain in bed until a late hour for want of something better to do, and then find amusement by looking over the city.

All the new players here under the guidance of George Shestak made a tour of the town. They visited all the points of interest and were especially entertained by King Brady, who dispensed comedy at all times. King was on his mettle Friday, having had a sumptuous repast of broiled brook trout, and his efforts at comedy were irresistible. He not only kept the athletes in an uproar, but incited all adjacent citizens into spasms. Shestak is very much peeved at King because George holds that the guide should draw all the applause and not any alleged comedians.

It was learned yesterday that King's comedy is not his own. His home is in Washington, and he learned the art from one Germany Schaeffer, who inhabits that village and makes congressmen and senators laugh at his antics.

Brown Leaves Camp. The first of the players to leave the camp was a pitcher named Brown. Brown was here at his own expense, but found the expense too large. Upon applying for a little help from Pa the cruel boss informed him that after deliberation subsequent to watching his performance it was the opinion of the boss of the camp that if Mr. Brown could make any money at anything else he did not belong in base ball. Therefore Mr. Brown has departed.

Brother Dave was very much pleased to see J. Pivv. assume the reins yesterday. Dave doesn't care a whole lot whether the athletes get in condition or not; he worries about the diamond. And the diamond needed rain for two reasons. First, the earth under the surface was very solidly frozen and the three inches on top which were not frozen were as a result very soggy and spongy. A warm rain was all that would soften the frozen ground, and now that the rain has come Dave predicts that the field will be in fine shape as soon as he can rake it a bit.

Ball Schedule Cut, College Nine Strikes

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 27.—The base ball team of the Kentucky State university struck today because of an announcement that the spring schedule had been cut from fourteen games to twelve games. The boys insist that the entire schedule be cancelled if the two games in dispute are not played. The team is a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association and has games booked with the leading colleges of the south. The athletic committee of the faculty cancelled the two games because, in their opinion, the sport took up too much time from the college studies.

He was so displeased with Anderson's admiration of the new league that when the barber sank to the floor with heart failure, Leach went to another shop to finish his shaving.

Subsequent sections of this rule will be re-lettered. "This provision is eliminated for the reason that, in conformity to the agreement with the Base Ball Players' fraternity, all contracts between National league clubs and players contain a clause printed at the top in red ink, warning the parties that if an investigation establishes that any agreement between club and player does not appear, or is not made part of the regular contract, the club shall be fined, the contract annulled and the player unconditionally released."

Yesterday it was learned that he is with the Buffalo Federal team. Schlitzer is the only Omaha player to jump so far.

Some Gun.

Here is the story of the capture of one of the best rifles among the big lot of confiscated firearms lately thrown into the ocean by the New York police. A policeman stationed at Thirty-eighth street and Broadway one night noticed that in quick succession globes on the big electric signs in that region were being smashed. He then observed a puff of smoke over the roof coping of a Broadway theater. Of course, he made for the roof, and got there in time to see a man leap to an adjoining building and disappear. The officer picked up the rifle with which the unknown had been operating and it was fitted with a Maxim silencer.—Springfield Republican.

WROTHS WIND UP WITH 3,219

The Wroth's Cafe team again rolled one of their sensational totals last night when they topped the pins for a 3,219 score in the Metropolitan alleys. Starting with a 1,000 game, they came back strong in the second for a 1,130 score and finished with a 1,089 count. Fanton was the heavy roller of the evening with a total of 728, this season's record for the Omaha league. He rolled three nice games of 230, 244 and 254. Martin followed with a 641 total, Terrell and K. Sciple tied for third place with 623 apiece and Learn took a good dog score with 604. The Corey-McKenzie were the victims of the record-crashed Wroths and were totally outclassed with their total of 2,678.

The Metz and Luxus rolled a good match on the Morrison alleys and, although outrolled on totals, the Luxus won the last two games. The Metz started strong with a 1,054 game and did fair to pull down a record, but were unable to keep up with their first game. The Luxus team, which has been off form the last few weeks, jumped in and rolled a strong, consistent set of games for a 2,568 total. Goff was the individual star with a 684 total and a 253 game. Weekes rolled two games above 200 and totaled 632, Neale rolled 608, Conrad 605 and O. Johnson 601. Howell rolled a 666 total with games of 228, 183 and 257.

ALL READY FOR BIG MATCH

Hussane and Zbyszko Are Both in Fine Condition.

INDICATIONS FOR BIG HOUSE

Farmer Burns Is Confident His Protege Will Give a Good Account of Himself This Evening.

Everything is in readiness for the big match at the Krug theater tonight between Youseff Hussane of this city and Stanislaus Zbyszko of Chicago for the wrestling championship of the world. Hussane is in the finest kind of condition for the bout and promises that he will be able to stick to the mat for hours before he succumbs, while Zbyszko asserts that he feels fighting fit and predicts a victory.

The sale of seats is progressing rapidly and Manager Charlie Prosser declares that he expects every seat will be sold before the performance opens tonight. Judging from the letters and telegrams for seats from sportsmen of distant cities Omaha will be a veritable rendezvous for sportsmen tonight. Nate Lewis, Chicago boxing promoter, will bring a dozen of his friends and associates from Chicago, while another carload of enthusiasts will come from the same city. Ordeman and a bunch of Minnesota sportsmen will be down from Minneapolis and St. Paul, while orders for blocks of seats have been received from Kansas City, Lincoln, St. Joseph and Des Moines. In addition a number of Nebraskans from the smaller cities of the state have reserved seats and will be in to see the match.

While not predicting a victory for his man Farmer Burns asserts that the match will be one of the best this country ever has seen. "It will be a fast match," says the Farmer. "They are both good men and, although I make no claims, I hope to see a new champion introduced tonight." Jack Herman, manager of Zbyszko, expects to see the Pole win, although he realizes that Hussane is a mighty good wrestler. The odds slightly favor the champion, but there are many Hussane takers, especially among the Omahans who have seen him work.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Troubles of most men are feminine. Many a man who poses as a leader is merely a driver. Some genius may yet be able to make breakfast food of wild oats. Two women can get along well together if they hate the same people. Let's of men would rather have a political job than earn an honest living. Anybody who tries to get rid of his faults by advertising them makes a mistake. Among the poor ways of making one's mark in the world is painting the town red. When a man can't dodge an argument with a woman by agreeing with her, what's the use of arguing? "All is vanity," said the late Mr. Solomon, and every photographer knows the old king was right. Perhaps a girl refuses to scream when a young man tries to kiss her because she doesn't want to frighten her mother. —Chicago News.

A Sad State.

"No, I am not altogether happy now that I am rich." "Why not?" "Being rich of course I cannot go into the kitchen as I once did. Yet servants are still careless."

"So splendid many sleepless nights worrying about the drip under the refrigerator."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

She Made Her Point.

"Dearie," said the young married man, "I have to go to New York on business. It will only take a day or so and I hope you won't miss me too much while I'm gone, but—" "I won't," answered his young wife, positively, "because I'm going with you." "I wish you could plan, but it won't be convenient this time. What would you want to go for, anyhow? I'm going to be too busy to be with you, and—" "I have to go. I need clothes."

"But, darling, you can get all the clothes you want right here on Euclid avenue."

"Thank you. That's all I wanted."—Buffalo Express.

TOY MAIL TRAINS IN TUBES

Underground System of Expediting Mail is Being Built in London.

In the course of a paper read at a meeting of the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London, Mr. H. C. Guntton gave some information concerning the underground railway which the British postoffice has obtained powers to construct for the conveyance of postal matter in that city. The line as at present sanctioned will run from Paddington in the west to the eastern district postoffice in Whitechapel, but in the future other lines may be made in the north to the northwestern and northern district offices and in the south to the southeastern and southwestern district offices.

According to the model scheme which has been prepared, the railway between stations will consist of two tracks of two-foot gauge contained in a tunnel nine inches in diameter, and the trains are to be electrically operated on the remote-control system without drivers. In general each station will consist of an island platform arranged in two sections, between which will be placed a control cabin, together with lifts and conveying appliances specially designed to suit the different classes of postal matter that have to be dealt with between the station platforms and the postal buildings above.

The method to be employed for controlling the trains resembles the power-operated point and signal systems adopted for modern railways, but with the signal element replaced by the application of current to the track. Between stations the conductor rails will be divided into sections, and while running between stations and before coming within the control of the switchman the wagon will itself cut off the current and render each section "dead" as it leaves it, and will make it "alive" again on entering the next section but one. Thus there will always be a "dead" section between adjacent wagons or trains. Means will be provided for indicating not only the position, but also the destination of approaching trains, and thus the switchman will be able to arrange for their reception either simultaneously or separately, being protected from making mistakes by means of a complete interlocking system. The switchman, by means of small levers in his cabin, will set the points for the particular route desired, and will energize certain sections of the conductor rails with the appropriate current; the wagon will then come to rest at the proper section of the platform or will run through the station without further attention. It should be explained that three types of current are to be used in working the trains—"high-speed," "intermediate-speed" and "low-speed." The first will be supplied to the conductor rails between stations, while the last will be supplied to a brake-section at the approach to each station when the train has to stop, and the second when it has to run through.

Purified Blood—SOLVES Most of Sickness Problems

People who have been poulticing and anointing their skin are composed of a network of tiny blood vessels who solve the mystery. When you come to realize that the skin and flesh beneath are composed of a network of tiny blood vessels who solve the mystery. There are wonderful medicinal properties in S. S. S. that follow the course of the blood stream, just as naturally as the most nourishing food elements. Thousands know it to be really a remarkable remedy for it contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the "medicinal element" of this essential blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food," said a well-known physician. Not only this, but from the presence of some distributing poison there is a local or general interference with the normal action of the blood. Carbuncles, abscesses, and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence. Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other. Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Made for S. S. S. and just insist upon having it. And if you desire faithful advice and counsel upon any matter concerning the blood and skin, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 312 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
