Confesses Dozen or More Stickup Jobs

Tony Cloba, who recently admitted shooting Police Officer Tom Quinn of South Omaha, has confessed to the South Omaha police to twelve or fourteen holdups in Omaha and South Omaha between January 10 and March 15. He asserted that Jose Garcia, who was arrested Monday in connection with the shooting of Quinn, took part with him in most of the stickups.

Clobs said he worked at the Belmont restaurant for three weeks. He was arrested once in Omaha and served a month in jail for carrying concealed weapons. The weapon was a butcher knife he was trying to sell. He came to Omaha from Kansas City.

Verdict of $2,900

A verdict of $2,909.75 in favor of Mrs. Cordella Peyton was returned against $100 bills and is thought to be from some Lacey E. Peyton by a jury in Judge former student of the college. Estelle's district court yesterday. The amount was the value of a $2,500 note which formerly belonged to Mrs. Peyton, with interest.

It was charged by counsel for Mrs. Peyton that the note had been stolen from her. Shotwell & Shotwell and J. M. Macfarland represented her, while Brome & Brome appeared for Peyton. The only defense made to the suit was that it had not been brought in the proper manner. Judge Estelle declined to take the case from the jury on this ground.
