N OLD-FASHIONED spelling bee, presided over by Mrs. Samuel Katz, furnished a great deal of merriment at the Young People's society of Temple Israel last evening.

'Braggadocio" floored a High school teacher: "hyperchondriac" passed unchallenged for "hypochondriac," while "silhouette," 'misogynist," "sarsaparilla," "insidious" and like "catch" words were mastered after several attempts.

One young lady, who had evidently been patronizing such entertainments, spelled "cabaret" instead of "taboret."

Frank Goetz missed on "acoustics," leaving Mr. Fred Heyn, president of the society, as the best speller. Leona Gordon, accompanied by Miss Essie Brodkey; a violin solo by Miss Ella Fleishman.

Keep the Hands Soft and White

ME. ISE'BELL'S Lilac Hand M Whitener, applied after washing makes the hands soft and white and prevents chapping. Only a few drops, rubbed gently over the surface, are required. The hands deserve as much attention as the face, for, if not given prop-er care, they become rough, red and creased, indicating age prematurely. Price, 25c.

Victim of Crazed South Omaha Tailor Succumbs to Bullet.

HAD BROODED OVER DESERTION

Dresser Grew Morose When His Crony and Roommate Left Him to Take Up Quarters at Industrial Home.

John Barker, 21 years old, victim of Walter J. Dresser, the crazed tailor who shot himself Saturday night at 3007 N street South Omaha, after having shot at Days Calishan and wounded Barker, died Monday morning at 1 o'clock in the South Omaha hospital. Barker's death resulted from the bullet wound through the body in the neighborhood of the heart. Barker told Rev. T. C. O'Callagnan of St. Bridget's church that he had five brothers in Lake Forest, Ill. The priest at once notified Frank Barker. of Lake Forest of the imminent death of his brother in South Comana. Barker is said to have been the son of a Lake Forest contractor. He is also said to have seen married twice. Barker's death followed a jocular remark made by him to his former room mate and crony, Dresser, Saturday night, The men had lived together for some months until recently, when Barker left the South Omaha tailor to room at the Industrial home in Omaha. Dresser is said to have brooded over the desertion of Barker. When Barker and Callahan returned to South Omaha to visit Saturday night. Dresser showed temper over the affair. Later Backer twitted Dreaser with being mentally unbaranced. "People say you're nuts." he told Dresser. "What do you think about him?" asked Callahan. Dresser stepped into an adjoining room, where he procured a gun. His reply to the twitting was a shot at Callanan, who escaped unharmed. and two shots at Harker. A fourth shot Dresser sent through his own brain.

Dresser is said to have relatives residing at 1914 Colfax avenue, Minneapolis. A telegram from B. J. Larkin, at whose undertaking parlors Dresser's body is held, brought word that there was no such address. Barker's body will be held by Undertaker Morgan Heafey until word is received from Lake Forest relatives.
