OUTLOOK FOR BUMPER CROP

Allen of Burlington Finds Condition Over State Excellent. WHEAT IS IN FINE SHAPE Growing Plant Plus One Hundred Per Cent for This Time of Year and Favorable Weather Means Mammoth Yield. General Superintendent Allen of the Burlington, who is in the city, stated that at this season of the year he has never seen a time when conditions appeared so favorable for a bumper crop as right now. Superintendent Allen has spent several days of this week and last traveling through the winter wheat belt of the state and has this to say about it: "It is impossible to correctly judge a wheat crop by the conditions before the middle of May, but one thing is certain, if wheat is not in good condition the middle of May there is not going to be a bumper crop when harvest time arrives. "Right now the winter wheat is in perfect condition. On a percentage basis I would say that it is 100, plus. It is fully six inches high and the brightest green you ever saw. Few, if any, fields were injured in the least last winter and everywhere the farmers are in the best of spirits. The acreage is greater than last year and if the yield is anywhere near what present indications promise, Nebraska's crop will be the greatest in its history. "Farmers are busy in their fields, plowing and getting ready to plant corn. The acreage is going to be about up to the normal and, as I understand it, seed that will grow is to be planted. As a rule the farmers have made thorough tests of their seed and will plant only the best."

Mrs. Pick Says She Caused Actress to Go Through Window

That she once visited her husband's office at York at night and that her arrival caused the leading woman of a stock company playing at an alms house to leap through a window was testified by Mrs. Emma L. Pick, continuing evidence by which she hopes to secure a decree of separate maintenance against Joseph Pick, manager of the York Engine and Foundry company and the American Supply company here. The principal allegation of the defense is that Mr. Pick's fortune is considerably less than his wife's estimate.

FIRST BAREFOOT BOY OF SEASON SEEN DOWN TOWN

The first barefooted boy of the season observed downtown sneaked into the postoffice, stood by a pillar on one foot and carefully examined the toe of his left foot. The examination was rather a difficult matter, for he lost his balance several times during the operation, which interrupted the inspection of the tender member. Then pulling his hat well over his sandy hair, he approached the letter drop, fished a somewhat crumpled letter out of the bib of his overalls, and with a furtive glance about the lobby, left by the side door.

The refrigerating machinery contract has not yet been closed.

JUDGE GIVES AN OLD MAN CHANCE TO BE OUTDOORS

Billy McCarthy, an aged hanger-on about lodging houses and saloons, was allowed his freedom when brought before Judge Foster, charged with being drunk. "It is so beautiful outside, don't send me to jail, judge. I'm an old man and may never see another spring." Foster discharged him with the advice to see more springs and less saloons and he wouldn't be in trouble.

WANT WAGONS FOR CLEANUP

Ryder Receives Two Hundred Calls in Two Hours. TO START EARLY ON FRIDAY Wagons and Laborers Will Be Divided into Fourteen Divisions to Facilitate the "Municipal Housecleaning"

Two hundred calls for help in the cleanup campaign were received by Street Commissioner J. J. Ryder's office in the first two hours after the office opened yesterday morning. Citizens, anticipating the cleanup campaign to be carried on today and Saturday, have been gathering the winter's accumulation of rubbish together for two days, during which time the street cleaning department has received several hundred calls for wagons to remove the debris. Commissioner Ryder believes the cleanup this spring will be more thorough than it has ever been. Bright and early this morning the street commissioner's wagons and laborers will take the field, being divided into fourteen divisions to haul away the rubbish gathered by the citizens.

Contrasting Views of Stricken Omaha Published in East

Pictures of scenes in Omaha showing the striking contrast of the scenes of the morning after the tornado and the scenes a year later are at present being printed in the newspapers of a dozen of the eastern states, including New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Virginia, Maryland and others. These have been furnished the papers by E. V. Parrish, manager of the publicity bureau of Omaha. One set contains a picture of Lake street looking east near Twenty-fourth street, the day after the tornado, when wreckage and debris was piled in almost hopeless confusion over the streets. The picture contrasted with it shows the same street from the same spot a year later, when a steady row of brick business blocks occupy both sides of the street. Another set shows the residence district on Thirty-ninth street looking north from Dodge. Houses crushed to earth lay in the middle of the highway at the time the first picture was taken. New mansions in uniform rows grace either side of a clean street in the last.

Omaha Parcel Post Shows Heavy Total During Easter Time

Figures given out at an office of Superintendent C. M. Reed of the railway mail service, headquarters of the fourteenth postal division, show that during the rush of Easter business, Omaha handled more parcel post packages, than did Denver, Pueblo or Council Bluffs, though the latter point shows a large volume of business due to the transfer of mails at the Union Pacific transfer station. The parcel post this year shows a heavy increase for the week ending April 11, due largely to Easter, and many hat boxes and packages of dry goods were included in the large number of shipments which originated at Omaha. The following table shows the number of sacks of parcel post matter handled last week, and the week preceding that, in the four cities.

Public Utilities Pay Occupation Taxes to the City

The gross earnings of the street railway company for the first quarter of 1914 was $481,899.25, according to the report filed by the company with the city clerk. An occupation tax of 3 per cent, totaling $14,456.78 is paid to the city on these receipts. For the first three months of the year the Nebraska Telephone company earned approximately $23,941.36, the receipts for March being estimated. This company pays the city an occupation tax of 3 per cent on this amount. The gas company has paid its occupation tax. In addition to an occupation tax the gas company pays a royalty on the amount of gas sold.

City Lets Contracts for New Sidewalks

Sidewalk contracts were let by the city council in adjourned session to Joe Sesto and C. Vacanti. Sesto was low on artificial and Vacanti on brick walk. Sesto's bid was $1.65 and Vacanti's 10.25 cents. Property owners have made some complaints about the manner in which sidewalk contracts have been handled in the past. The Southeast Improvement club recently asked the city commission to award the contract to men who could do the work at the price indicated in the bids. Last year one contractor had to forfeit his contracts because his bid was too low. The council believes Sesto and Vacanti can do the work at the figures they have fixed.
