A meeting of Council Bluffs citizens was held in the office of General G. M. Dodge for the purpose of perfecting an under the business interests of the city and to see that no unfair advantage was taken of, or threats made to, the signers of the consent petition now being direculated in the city.

This action was deemed advisable on account of the recent publication in the papers of the names of a committee appointed to fight the petition and the declaration of intentions as published.

General Dodge as chairman of the meeting was instructed to appoint a committee of fifteen and selected the following:

Rev. Mr. Lindemeyer Replies to Criticism

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., April 17 .- To he Editor of The Bes: Permit me to contrast The Bee with the Nonparell in its treatment of me. The Bee at once gave me space for defense. While the Non-parell did not absolutely refuse, its action and the appendix to my article led me to infer that it would not have published my article if it had not appeared in The Bee. And now I ask, why this appendix? I expected a forman worthy of my steel, reatment of me. The Bee at once gave I expected a foeman worthy of my steel, minister appointed by the association, to reply to me and either say: "Here is the proof that prohibition is commanded in the scriptures," from which it follows that it is unmoral and unrighteous to sign the petition; or to be honest enough to say: "We cannot prove it. We claimed entirely too much. We are willing to concede that we made a great mistake in attacking the minister who signed."

Since Mr. Orchard takes it upon himself to becloud the Issue and try to weaken the force of my letter, let me add a few words of comment:

1, I did not seek to justify my signing, since I consider it no one's business whether I signed or not. I defended my-secular paper. 10. I am thankful that my environment and training made an honest man of me. If all prohibitionists argue like this one, and I fear they do, then prohibition makes sorry specimens of manhood. A tree is judged by its fruits. Yesterday a lady (?) called me up and asked: "Why did you write that article? know why! the saleon keepers paid you a large sum of money. They'll praise you and call you a good tellow. You said prohibition is unamerican, unchris-Man, are you san? You're a saloon keeper's preacher. You have a saloon keeper congregation." Consider that this was all spoken in one atring and no opportunity given me to answer such slanderous charges or questions. I asked, "Who are you?" and received the astoniahing reply: "I am a Bible student, air, Mrs. -She again resumed, "Show me in the Bible where Christ drank wine."

I calmly replied: "Come down and bring your Bible with you and I'll show you," she fairly yelled: "You can't do it! You can't do it!" Then assuming a tragic "Some day when you're in hell you'll answer for the boys and girls your saloon have sent to hell." Mr. Editor, it takes a great deal of patience to answer such arguments as have thus far been advanced by the other side. I had intended to write a series of short articles showing that prohibition is unamerican, unchrietlan, etc., but I fear now my time will be taken up repelling such charitable attacks.

Preparations for attacking the saloon consent petition were begun yesterday afternoon when the famous "committee of fifteen" took possession of the county auditor's office without even asking and began the work of copying the poll books. Several typewriters were carried into the office and installed in conspictious places. The lists are to be used for comparing signatures on the consent petition.

since I consider it no one's business whether I signed or not. I defended my-self against an unwarranted attack.

2 I did not defend my religious beliefs, but I challenged the ministers to prove prohibition from the Bible and stated my willingness to prove that prohibition is condemned, etc.

3. In my entire article I drew only one conclusion and that was, that the fellow who called me up by phone was a rabid prohibitionist.

4. Mr. Orchard has another guess. The saloon keeper who left his business was not being ruined, nor his family, nor anyone else. There were other reasons.

5. Not everything is science "which is falsely so called."

6. I demand of the reverend editor the passage, or passages which defend polygamy.

The lists are to be used for comparing signatures on the consent petition.

Police inquiry yesterday into the stabbing affray in which Esther Woodward had a gash an inch long cut above her let eye by a knife in the hands of a little type by a knife in the hands of a little litalian girl disclosed it to be a real fight among children. Esther Woodward is by ears old: Fena Martello, the Italian child the knife, is 9, and the other little litalian girl, Rose Constantino, is but 7 years old. All of the children will be in juvenile court this moralist. The official report shows the trouble was provoked by the Woodward child taintingly calling the other children "dagos." Evidence in in the Davis and Duff Case Goff-Boyne

Owing to the absence of J. J. Heas, one Debs to Speak in of the attorneys for R. M. Davis in the quo warranto and injunction suits brought by Charles J. Duff to test the right of each to claim possession of the office of city clerk, there was a slight interruption in the hearing before Judge Wheeler in district court yesterday. Clem F. Kimball, associate counsel for

Mr. Davis and Mayor Snyder, asked for a continuance. Judge Wheeler declined and directed that the evidence be submitted, the arguments to go over until this morning.

There was but little evidence to submit, as the issues involved relate to court decisions and law constructions entirely All of the evidence it was necessary to submit related to the council proceedings the evening of April 4, when R. M. Davis was declared the legally elected clerk by the votes of the four republican aldermen and the deciding vote of Mayor Snyder The records were presented to the cour and properly identified by Mr. Duff, including also the technical correction of the minutes made at the last meeting of the council to show that Mayor Snyder in announcing the vote declared Davis the duly elected city clerk. Mr. Davis was the only other witness. He was called only to show that he had properly qualified to take the office by filing the $18,000 official bond required and that he was a citizen of the United
