SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

Instruction in Vocational Training in a Model School. REAL WORK FOR WILLING HANDS Activities of Nearby Institutions on the Last Leg of the School Year—Batch of Educational Notes. Real industrial training that prepares for real jobs is described in a bulletin on co-operative plan at Fitchburg, Mass. issued by the United States bureau of education. Boys in the Fitchburg high school, who attend alternate weeks in school and shop, are made to feel that their vocational training is serious business. Here are some of the directions given to each "co-op" student when he starts as an apprentice: "Remember that the object of work is production. Your foreman measures you by the quantity and quality of your work. Social position does not enter. In the shop you are not a high school boy, you are an apprentice. Wear clothes accordingly. If you get the mistaken idea that any work given you is beneath the dignity of a high school boy just remember you are an apprentice and get 100 per cent busy. "It is your business to get along smoothly with the workmen and foreman, and theirs to get along with you. Do not expect any personal attention from the superintendent. He will probably ignore you entirely, but he knows whether or not you are making good, and in most cases his idea of you depends upon your ability to please your foreman. Don't be a kicker and don't continually bother your foreman for higher wages. Never try to conceal defective work. Take your full measure of blame, and do not make the same mistake twice. Watch. In a quiet way, what things are being done around you, and don't be afraid to ask sensible questions. A good rule is to think over a question twice before asking. A reputation for having "horse sense" means that you are making good. Foreman and workmen will take pleasure in showing you, if you show yourself genuinely appreciative of little attentions. If they tell you something you already know, don't spoil their pleasure by telling them you already knew it, but let it be impressed on your mind all the deeper; for the conservation may lead to something which is entirely new to you. "The fool act of one co-op hurls every co-op shop that you bring in and out of the co-op course."

Under the auspices of the student and faculty co-operative association. The following were added to the registration list Monday morning: Hazel P. Milligan, Stanton; Freda P. Miller, Lincoln; Ruth F. McCormick, Wynot; Helen L. McCormick, Wynot; Walter Scott, Wakefield. The class of 1914 has visited Dr. J. A. Beattie of Lincoln to preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 24. The commencement address will be given by Dr. J. H. Harvey, president of Stout institute, Menominee, Wis. At the last meeting of the board of education, Miss L. L. Lutz and Miss Edith Stocking were granted a leave of absence from their work during the summer session of the school. They expect to continue their work in the University of Chicago. Winter, primary department, Hartington; Florence Beebe, intermediate department, Hartington; Ardieth Conn, grammar grades, Hartington; William J. Clemons went to Cedar Rapids, Neb., to deliver the dedicatory address at the new high school. John Olson, who will complete the scientific course this coming August, has been elected superintendent of the school at Uebling, also. Frank Rudloff, scientific of August 1914, has been elected to the superintendency of the schools at Gresham. A number of delegates attending the recent club federation meeting have been students at the college, and availed themselves of the privilege of attending chapel and meeting the old instructors. Prof. Botley and Gaines and Mrs. Gilbert, each made interesting talks in chapel last week. Mrs. Gilbert made the basis of her talk the parable of Plato of human beings being chained in an underground den in which they saw only the shadow of things, thus gained distorted pictures of the real things. After they were released and shown the real things, they couldn't believe that the shadows were not the real things. The application was made to the life of the student as being in darkness, as they are bound by ignorance, and every effort made in acquiring an education is a step toward gaining freedom and growth. P. H. Harris of Lincoln, who completed the shorthand and commercial courses of 1910, is now in the employ of Cornell-Wigman-Searl company at Lincoln. He has a very superior position and a fine salary. Mrs. Ben Robinson (1909), whose husband is superintendent of the schools at Bancroft, was a visitor at chapel Friday, and gave a very interesting talk on "A World Musical" prepared by Prof. Phillips' chorus and Miss Burtarf, was received with enthusiasm. Insurance Notes. After awaiting fire insurance companies with offensive legislation, state officers are now begging the companies to come back and confer on a compromise. Illinois' fire loss for the month of March was $1,655,000, the heaviest loss of any month for a year, according to the report of Walter Bennett, state fire marshal. The new automobile insurance rates, based on the simplified schedule recently authorized by the eastern and western automobile conferences, went into effect in the west last week. The schedule is much more easily understood than the former complicated form, and in addition numerous changes are made providing for lower rates on certain classes of cars. An interesting tabulation has been made of the Missouri results for 1913 for fire insurance companies writing more than $20,000 in the state. Owing to the suspension of business by the outside companies more than four months some interesting changes resulted. The seventeen companies which exceeded $100,000 in premiums had total premiums of $4,814,200, with a loss ratio of 73 per cent. Two constitutional amendments will be voted upon at the November election in Wisconsin. They permit the state to take the business of insurance in all its branches. The state already has undertaken the insurance of a fund for insuring state institutions, and is now offering to extend the protection of this fund to county and municipal property. Creighton Orchestra Gives Complimentary Concert Wednesday The Creighton university orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Bach, will give a concert at the Creighton university auditorium Wednesday evening. Paul Harrington, senior in the arts college, who appeared as soloist at the Glee club concert, will sing a baritone solo. The concert is complimentary and tickets may be had on application at the arts department or from students in that department. For the Stomach and Liver. I. N. Stuart, West Webster, N. Y., writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Tablets for disorders of the stomach and liver off and on for the past five years, and it affords me pleasure to state that I have found them to be just as represented. They are mild in their action and the results have been satisfactory. I value them highly." All dealers—Advertisement.

CHARITIES MEET NEXT WEEK Nebraska Conference Assembles Here Next Sunday. WILL CONCENTRATE MEETING Session Will Last Three Days and is to be Confined Entirely to Situation in This State. Upon next Sunday, April 26th, perhaps 200 delegates will assemble in Omaha for the Nebraska State Conference of Charities and Correction. The session is to last three days. The mayors of the principal cities and towns of the state have appointed the delegates to the conference. This organization meets annually for the purpose of discussing ways and means of furthering the work along the line of scientific charities and correction work in the state and the various cities and towns. It has long been recognized that the own-handed giving to it has a tendency to create a class of professional paupers instead of causing poverty and pauperism to disappear. The object of the conference is to exchange views and experiences of those who are most closely in touch with the needy in the various parts of the state in order that the real cause of poverty and crime can be more nearly approached, and that the solution of the whole vexatious problem may be more nearly arrived at. Officers of Conference. The officers of the state conference are Judge Howard Kennedy, Lincoln, president; Mrs. F. H. Cole, Omaha, first vice president; Miss Ida L. Robbins, Lincoln, second vice president; Miss Louise McClellan, Omaha, secretary; Miss Annie C. Kramph, North Platte, treasurer; Mrs. H. L. Keefe, Waltham; Miss Edith Tobitt, Omaha; Rev. John Calvert, Crete; Judge Lincoln Frost, Lincoln; Dr. Lucille Eaves, Lincoln, and Dr. D. E. Jenkins, Omaha, members of the executive committee. Local committees have been appointed to handle the program locally. The chairman of the various local committees are: Miss Edith Tobitt, reception; Rabbi Frederick Cohn, program; H. H. Claiborne, finance; Dr. Ira W. Porter, place of meeting; F. L. Haller, entertainment, with Miss Mabel W. Porter and Miss Margaret Guthrie assistant secretaries. Confined to State. With a view to making the program for this year as practical as possible, it has been decided that questions concerning charities and correction in Nebraska alone shall be considered this year. Whereas, Our Protestant brothers of Ireland, and more particularly of Ulster, in their heroic and righteous opposition to the so-called home rule bill are in reality but defending themselves against a gigantic and unbrotherly conspiracy to subject them to Romish misrule, a condition intolerable to all intelligent God-fearing people and realizing the Ulster's cause is our cause; therefore, be it Resolved, By William of Orange castle No. 2 of Nebraska, of the Knights of Ulster, hereby extending its sympathy in their great struggle and hereby expressing our unbounded confidence in their ultimate and complete victory; and, be it further Resolved, That the patron scribe of this castle be instructed to forward a copy of the foregoing resolution to Sir Edward Carson, M. P., London, England; also a copy to the sovereign, scribe of this order, with a request that the sovereign castle ask all subordinate castles of the order to adopt and forward Sir Edward Carson resolutions of import similar to the foregoing and also furnish copies of this resolution to the daily papers of Omaha.
