Argentine Farmers Will Exhibit Corn and Farm Products

More than 9,000 square feet of space have been reserved for the Argentine farmers in the palace of agriculture, the larger part of which will be devoted to the exhibition of wheat and corn. The Argentine exports more chilled meat and more corn than any other country in the world. Its wheat production is second only to that of Russia, and wool second only to Australia. The exhibit of cattle and sheep from the Argentine will be one of the most interesting in the live stock department of the exposition.

A large space has been taken by the Argentine in the palace of education and social economy, where the exhibit will show Argentine's system of compulsory voting, of the management of government owned railways, of tram systems, parcels post, and other public utilities. In addition there will be shown the model schools for which the Argentine government appropriated last year $50,000,000 gold. A special exhibit will be made illustrating the method in which Argentine handles immigration and its paternal treatment of immigrants who are received as guests of the government and lodged at the government hotel until they can be placed in the trade or labor for which they are suited. After being properly classified and placed in position, immigrants are transported free to their destination. In many instances they are provided with land and stock and equipment, for which they may pay in small yearly installments.

land's exhibit in the palace of horticulture, the open-air gardens surrounding the palace will be devoted to a display of gorgeous lilies, tulips, narcissus and gladioli of the Netherlands. A Van Vliet, the artist who planned the gardens surrounding the peace palace at The Hague, will have personal charge of the exhibit until the close of the exposition.

Argentine Farmers Furnish Display of Farm Products

The Argentine Republic recently made an appropriation of $1,300,000 gold for an exhibit at the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco in 1915, and has indicated that it will add to this amount at a later date. It is expected that the exhibit, which will be largely devoted to illuminating the resources and methods by which Argentina has become an important factor in contributing to the food supply of the world, will prove one of the most remarkable ever shown from a South American country. A Cleaned Rug Makes a "Sunshiny" Room!

Who wants a dirt-laden, germ-soaked rug upon his floors? What sort of "cheer value" are you getting out of your floor covering if they're besmudged, bedraggled and begrimed? Why not start your spring housecleaning from the floor up? Have Dreshers glorify your oldest rugs; let them put the original factory "sunshine" into the nap, weave and texture again; let Dreshers coax back the colors that shone out so brilliantly once in the past. It doesn't cost much! Dreshers don't charge as much as they should for cleaning a rug, but they get their innings through the NUMBERS of rugs cleaned. There are THOUSANDS of home lovers in Omaha that possess Dresher-cleaned floor coverings and anyone of those thousands will say: "Yes, those Dresher boys have the bulge on all of the rug cleaners I have ever met." Salvation Army to Mobilize Forces at Panama Exposition

More than 100,000 members of the Salvation Army from forty-six countries will assemble in San Francisco between August 15 and 22, 1914, at a convention of the International Salvation Army and will be personally directed by General Bramwell Booth, who will lead his army in the active field at the exposition. Major Fletcher Agnew of Chicago, who has been appointed Salvation Army secretary to the exposition, is preparing to receive the members attending the convention and is arranging for a huge Salvation Army exhibit, the principal feature of which will be an open air meeting three times daily, when leaders from every country with native bands will entertain the crowds. Major Agnew will leave San Francisco for the June convention in London when the program of the convention in San Francisco in 1915 will be finally announced. The Salvation Army's exhibit, which will be one of the most interesting of the exhibits at the exposition, will be placed in the department of social economy.

Construction of a decorative parapet along the shore line of the Exposition grounds, the beautiful promenade skirting the water's edge at the Panama-Pacific International exposition grounds at San Francisco, has begun. The parapet will serve the double purpose of a bulkhead and a decorative feature. It will be 100 feet long and three feet high, and will be ornamented with pedestals and brilliantly illuminated.
