By MELLIFICIA. Tuesday, April 21, 1914.

THE Michigan Glee club arrived this morning from an interesting trip to the Pacific coast.

The manager, a tall, athletic, good-looking chap, asked me anxiously if the Omaha young women could tango and maxixe and really dance the "Castle" dances.

The men had the disappointment of their lives on the Pacific coast. The fair co-eds of Berkeley, alas, are still doing the tango of a season ago (and even the bear), instead of the fascinating "Hesitation," the variations of the one-step and the Brazilian Maxixe!

I asked if the Michigan men would give us any dancing exhibitions this evening. The manager said that the students had given a comic opera earlier in the season both at Ann Arbor and in Chicago at the Auditorium, when the men had taken the roles of chorus girls, as well as all of the leading roles, but they had decided that perhaps the older members of the alumni would prefer the concert and vaudeville to the comic opera.

The visiting Michigan men are keenly interested in the dancing party to be given at the University club following the concert. Mr. L. F. Crofoot is president of the local alumni, and assisting at the dance and reception will be Mesdames L. F. Crofoot, H. V. Burkley, Ward M. Burgess, F. S. Cowgill, George L. Fisher, C. C. George, H. Gifford, W. D. Hosford, A. W. Jeffers, A. F. Jonas, F. P. Kirkendall, John L. Kennedy, Arthur Keeline, Charles G. McDonald, J. J. McMullen, Donald McCrae, F. S. Owen, R. C. Peters, J. P. Palmer, E. P. Peck, Stanley Rosewater, John T. Stewart 2d, W. S. Stillman, E. H. Scott, John R. Webster and Casper Yost.

All the officers are supposed to attend the dance dressed in their uniforms. ## Brandeis Free School of Dressmaking Opens Monday

REGISTER WEDNESDAY

We have already enrolled a large number of women for our course of dressmaking instruction, and urge you to investigate at once, if you desire to become competent in practical needlework, with the minimum of effort and expense.

Madame Coates, who will personally teach this School of Dressmaking, has a record for successfully conducting the largest schools of sewing and dressmaking in the world. She comes to us only by special arrangement for a limited course of fifteen fifteen lessons only.

No system charts or "methods" used. The 50 cents which you pay for enrollment is solely for the reservation of a table for you, so women not enrolled and doing no work cannot occupy tables. Our space is limited and Mme. Coates will only teach a limited number of pupils.

This course covers plain and fine needlework, as well as the cutting, fitting, altering, constructing making and finishing of underwear, waists, skirts, dresses, coats, suits and children's garments—altogether with the principles and use of paper patterns. Each pupil brings her own materials, works on her own garments and makes from one to as many articles as she may choose.

The instruction is thorough and complete in every respect, beginning the first steps in needlework and ending with the most finished garment making. This course requires neither a great outlay of time or expense, yet the results with thousands of women have been wonderfully satisfactory.

Make it a point to attend Madame Coate's free lecture Wednesday at 10 a. m. or 2 p. m. She explains in detail the work to be done.
