SAYS THOUGHT WILL HEAL

Christian Science Lecturer Thinks Sickness and Sin Alike. COME FROM SAME SOURCE. Willis Gross of Boston Lectures on Christian Science at Brandeis Theater—Introduced by George Magney.

Willis F. Gross, member of the board of trustees of the mother church, first Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, in an address at the Brandeis theater last night declared that sickness comes from the same source as sin and can be healed in the same manner. County Attorney George A. Magney introduced Mr. Gross. The lecturer said: "Freedom from sickness and sin is not something to be looked forward to with joyous anticipation. Health and holiness is the divinely natural status of being. It can be enjoyed today, for it is the only reality of existence. "Christian Science declares there is no such thing as an incurable evil. It interprets all things from the standpoint of one God, infinite spirit, one power, one cause and creator and brings more of hope, faith and courage into human experience. "Believers in the Christian religion have accepted the miracles of the Bible as demonstrations of divine power. Christian Science presented a new view of those unusual experiences when it declared that they were not contradictions of law, but the divinely natural result of the operation of law which is ever present and ever active. "It is universally believed that sin is a quality of the carnal mind, but it is not understood, as it should be, that sickness is from the same source as sin and can be effectually healed in the same manner. Sickness and sin can be dealt with as intelligently as can the discords of music or mathematics, and they will be overcome as readily when the divine principle of harmonious being is understood and the law of good intelligently obeyed. "Conservation of health is a vital question and there is much discussion these days as to how this most desirable end can be attained. Christian Science is a preventive as well as a curative, and few persons realize how much is being done to prevent disease and suffering. Thousands have been restored to health after they had been pronounced incurable, and there is no means of estimating how many have been healed before they reached the so-called incurable stage. If the sick can be healed as the result of obedience to divine law, then there is no better way to conserve health than to live in harmony with the law of divine mind."

Omaha Woman Not in Mexico, as Understood

Friends of John H. Huestis, 3034 Lafayette avenue, had apprehensions for the safety of his sister, who was understood to be in Mexico. She is safe in Baltimore, however, being the wife of Manuel Cuesta, the Mexican consul at that port.

RAILROADS RETAIN MEXICANS

Three Roads Will Not Discharge Them on Account of War. HAVE NO INCLINATION TO QUIT. Mexicans Will Not Return to Mexico to Take Part in War, Railroad Officials Here Say, Denying Reports.

The Union Pacific, Burlington and Northwestern railroads employ large numbers of Mexicans on their lines in Nebraska and the west, working on the section and doing maintenance work. Up to this time none of the men has shown any disposition to quit and return to Mexico to take up arms against the United States. A report has been current for a couple of days that the railroads with headquarters here would discharge their Mexican laborers on account of the strained relations between the United States and the republic to the south and that their places would be filled by men of other nationalities. Railroad managers here all deny that there is any foundation for the report. They assert that so long as the Mexicans do their work they will be retained, regardless of what position their country may take. Railroad managers here assert that the Mexicans in their employ are good and faithful men and that the only time when they fall to earn the money paid them is when they are working in large parties. When a large number of the men are working together, unless closely watched, they are inclined to spend considerable time visiting. To prevent this they are worked in small parties, being sandwiched in among men of other nationalities.

OBREGON SCORNS HUERTA

Rebel Commander Rejects Request to Unite with Feds in War. BITTERLY FLAYS THE DICTATOR. Constitutionalists Assert in Case Foe Beaten by Americans He Will Put Matter Up to First Chief.

DOUGLAS Ariz., April 24.—The text of telegrams today in which General Joaquin Tellez, federal commander at the Port of Guaymas, invited the rebel general Alvaro Obregon to join forces against the Americans, was made public here by Francisco E. Elias, border representative of the constitutionalists. Tellez telegraphed as follows: "Contrary to law and order, American troops disembarked yesterday at Vera Cruz and opened battle. The moment has arrived when our own difficulties should be forgotten in the common defense of the fatherland. I now call upon you and your troops to unite with us in a concerted effort in behalf of our nation. I await your answer in order to know how to act." To this Obregon replied: "The abominable crime which the traitor and assassin Huerta has just committed against the Mexican nation in deliberately provoking foreign invasion cannot be given a name from the pages of civilized history. The constitutionalist army, which is the only faction which properly represents the dignity of the Mexican nation, will protest against such deeds as Huerta is now committing. If the Americans should insist upon an invasion without first giving General Carranza the hearing due him from President Wilson, then it will be time for the constitutionalist army to struggle until all our forces are exhausted against such an invasion, saving in this manner the national honor and dignity. This you can never do because you have already trampled them under foot. We cannot unite with your corrupt army. "Should you be attacked in your port of Guaymas by American vessels and be defeated, as is usual with you, you will be permitted to retire to a designated spot until the first chief instructs us what disposition to make of you."

Identifying His Honor. "Why this delay? Cannot the prisoner speak English?" inquired the judge, impatiently. "No, my lord," answered counsel for the defense; "but I have an Irishman here from the same village who can translate his remarks." "Well, let us proceed at once, then. What is the prisoner saying?" he inquired of the interpreter. "Nothing, my lord." "Nonsense!" came the angry answer. "I heard him speak." "Yes, but 'twas nothing to do with the case at all, my lord." "Sir, I demand to know what he said," thundered the judge. "Well, pardon me, but he wanted to know who was the old woman with the red curtain round her, sitting so high and mighty!" "Indeed!" came the cutting reply. "And what did you answer?" "I said, 'What's she spilling?' That's the old boy that's going to hang yet!"—London Answers. Getting Ahead. "May I have a few moments' conversation with you?" asked the young man who thought the firm would have to go out of business if he deserted it. "Yes," replied the general manager; "come in. What can I do for you?" "I have been working here for nearly seven years." "Is it as long as that?" "Yes, my lord, but I ought to be entitled to some recognition." "I think so, too." "The cost of living keeps steadily increasing." "I have noticed that it does." "I thought if you understood the situation you might be willing to increase my salary." "Are you getting now?" "Twenty-seven dollars a week." "You ought to have more. I will have you raised to that." Then the young man hurried out to the telephone to his wife that she might close the bargain for the flat that was to cost him a month more than they had been paying.—Chicago Record-Herald. Making Headway. Henry W. Thornton of the Long Island railroad, whom Lord Claud Hamilton has selected for general manager of the Great Eastern, said the other day in New York: "You ask if it's true that Lord Claud came to America because he couldn't find any capable young men in England? Well, no, that isn't true. It's an exaggeration. It's like the speed story. "A railroad engineer was boasting about the speed of his engine. "Why," he said, "once when I had a new fireman with me on run 2, he asked me in a surprised way if that wasn't a rather long white fence beside the line. "White fence," says I, with a roar of laughter. "That's no white fence. That's a miststone!"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
