CALL ON GUARANTY FUND

Secretary Royle Makes First Use of Money to Aid Depositors.

MORE FILINGS FOR OFFICE

E. F. Brown of Lancaster County Desires to Cast His Lot in Fight for University Regent.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, April 29.—(Special.)—For the first time in the history of the state, Secretary Royle of the state banking board, drew on the state guaranty fund to reimburse depositors of a defunct bank. In all 72 banks were called upon to make a total of $2,287,171 to cover the deficiency found in the First State Savings bank of Superior.

The money was drawn on an order issued by District Judge Hurd of the Nickolls county court. There was in the fund before this assessment was made, $800,000. The banks were assessed for 6.24-1000 per cent of the amount of the guaranty fund in its possession.

The bank paying the most was the First Savings bank of Superior, which was assessed $267,575, as its share. The bank contributing the least was the Home Savings bank of Wilbur, which donated $4.33.

Douglas county banks were assessed as follows: Farmers & Merchants, Benson, $28.00; German, Millard, 108.00; State Bank, Gibbstown, 108.00; Bank of Benson, 108.00; Bank of Florence, 62.50; Bank of Waterloo, 41.84; Valley State, 104.82; Farmers State, Florence, 18.22; Mangold & Glantz, Bennington, 116.52; Citizens State, Waterloo, 33.01; Bennington State, 75.04; State Bank, Omaha, 22.89; South Omaha Savings Bank, 38.14.

Brown Files for Regent.

Senator Ned Brown, the Lancaster county statesman, who refused to become a candidate for governor, has filed for the republican nomination for regent of the state university. This makes two filings from Lincoln for the two positions now filled by Regents Coupland and Lyford of Elgin and Falls City, respectively, the other being Senator J. H. Miller, a democrat, Lincoln already has two resident members of the regent board, C. B. Anderson and Charles S. Allen.

Regent Lyford will not again be a candidate, having filed for the bull moose nomination for congress. Regent Coupland has already filed.

Hoffmeister to File.

Representative Fred Hoffmeister of Chase county called at the state house this morning and was in conference with Food Commissioner Harman for some time. He assured the commissioner that that portion of the Fifth district was for him for the democratic nomination for congress and in all probability Mr. Hoffmeister will also file after returning home, for another term in the legislature.

Hummel Files Again.

Senator George W. Hummel, who served in the last senate from the Twentieth senatorial district, has filed for a renomination on the republican ticket. Senator Hummel is a Methodist preacher and was one of the influential members of the last session.

Coal Oil Not Inspected.

Food Commissioner Harman has received information that coal oil and gasoline is being shipped into Nebraska in barrel lots in certain localities and being sold without the state authorities being notified to inspect it. The law requires that in all shipments the inspector shall be notified to make an inspection. Prosecutions will be started against the offenders if the practice is continued.

CITY OF LINCOLN WANTS STATE HOUSE WALKS LOWER

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., April 29.—(Special.)—The proposition whether the city of Lincoln is greater than the state of Nebraska is liable to be tested on the demand of Mayor Frank Zeilruss, the city commission and the newspapers of Lincoln that the sidewalks about the state house grounds be cut down to grade.

Just why this demand should come so suddenly right after the state had paid out thousands of dollars to build new cement walks and expensive approaches around the grounds was not understood until yesterday, when one of the newspapers let the cat out of the bag by stating that the city would take the extra dirt to fill up around the new high school building.

NEWMAN GROVE DRIES CONTEST ELECTION.

NEWMAN GROVE, Neb., April 29.—(Special.)—Suit has been started in court to contest the election here held this spring on the question of "license or no license." The face of the returns show that the wets won by one vote. One dry ballot was thrown out by the judges because the voted marked for four trustees when only three were to be elected. The contestant also claims that two illegal wet votes were cast, also that one of the judges was incompetent to sit as a judge of election. There is a promise of a bitter fight. Allan and Dowling of Madison are attorneys for plaintiff. Representatives of the wets are reported to have gone to Omaha to secure advice.

VETERINARIAN FINDS INFECTED HERD OF CATTLE

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., April 29.—(Special.)—Dr. Kigin, state veterinarian, returned today from Theford, where he has been examining a herd of cattle shipped in from Illinois, and left immediately for South Omaha. In his examination of the Illinois cattle at Theford, while he did not examine the whole herd of 308, about 47 per cent of those tested showed symptoms of tuberculosis.

These will probably be disposed of in the usual manner when the balance of the herd is tested on Dr. Kigin's return to Theford.

DEGREES OF FROST DANGER

State Horticulturist Tells Just What Conditions Arise.

SOME CHANCE FOR RECOVERY

Grower by Use of Spray May Often Save His Plants If Cold Has Been Reached at Period Early in the Evening.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., April 29.—(Special.)—The nearness to a killing frost in recent days has given Secretary Duncan of the State Horticultural society a chance to determine just how much cold different fruits in Nebraska can stand without damage. He has prepared the following statement on danger from frost: Experiments have been carried on by different experiment stations and individuals to determine how much frost fruit buds and flowers will withstand at different stages of development. Also the differences of hardness of different varieties of same kind of fruits. Some varieties are found to be much more susceptible to injury at the same stage of development than other varieties. There is a difference of opinion as to the danger point. Results show that each fruit has a different degree of hardness. Opening buds, newly opened blossoms, or newly set fruit of peaches in a majority of cases showed little or no injury at 25 degrees while one degree colder killed a large per cent of them. Twenty-nine degrees was the danger point and any temperature below this was liable to do more or less injury, depending on how long it remained at this temperature. A frost has much to do with the relative amount of frost the plants can stand. A few days of warm weather with soil filled with moisture will cause the plants to make a rapid growth and fill the cells of the plant with thin watery protoplasm. During cold weather, which has retarded the growth, the cells are filled with concentrated cell sap. If the temperature could not stand as low a temperature as in the second instance, twenty-nine degrees and any temperature below this is liable to do more or less injury, depending on how long it remains at this temperature. Taken as a whole, apples and pears seem to be more resistant than peaches and plums. European and native plums are slightly harder than Japanese plums, with apricots least resistant of all.

The longer the killing frost remains and the nearer it is to sunrise the greater amount of damage should be expected. If the killing temperature occurred near sunrise and the morning was clear the injury would be great. This is owing to the rapid change of moisture in cells of the plant from ice back to water. This sudden change would tend to injure and break down the cell walls. If the killing temperature occurred in the early part of the night and the temperature gradually arose until before sunrise it was above the danger point the injury would be small.

"In the city or where water is available and plants are few in number much injury can be avoided by sprinkling the plants with water."

Soaps and Face Creams No Longer Necessary

Those who use much soap seldom get their skins really clean. Soap is so apt to just wash over the surface, not cleansing the pores at all. Often, in fact, it leaves greasy deposits in the pores, encouraging blackheads and eruptions. The alkali roughens and coarsens the skin. If everyone used a simple buttermilk application instead of soap there would be fewer complexion complaints. It is most cleansing in the form of precolated buttermilk emulsion and of course there's nothing better to whiten and soften the skin. It is so easy just to spread it over and gently rub it into face, neck, arms and hands, washing it off when dry with plain water. Those who once get the precolated buttermilk emulsion never do without it. It is cheap because it makes soap and creams unnecessary. Most druggists can supply good precolated buttermilk emulsion, including Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., 16th and Harney Sts.; Owl Drug Co., 16th and Harney Sts.; Harvard Pharmacy, 24th and Faraway Sts.; Loyal Pharmacy, 37-39 North 16th St.

plants in the morning while still frozen and before they have thawed out."

Beet Raisers Worried.

Deputy State Auditor Minor returned this morning from Scott's Bluff county, his old home. He says an abundance of rain here has made everything look favorable for an immense crop. Raisers of sugar beets are agitated over the future on account of the lower prices offered for beets caused by the lower tariff on sugar. It is estimated one crop more is about all the beet sugar people can afford to handle, as the tariff will be completely taken off after two more years. New machinery which has been invented for tending and otherwise handling the beets will do away with considerable labor and may cut down the cost of growing so that the farmers may be able still to raise beets and make a profit.

Big Boost in Land Values.

Colonel Joseph Oberfelder of Sidney, a member of the governor's military staff, was at the state house today. The rainfall has been ample and crops look fine.

along small grain lines in the west, he said. Seventy-five thousand acres of new ground will be broken up this season in his locality and traction engines will be used for most of the work. The flax crop will be three times that of any previous year. The land which is now under cultivation could have been bought ten years ago, according to the colonel, for 20 cents per acre. Now if a man wants it he has to pay $25 an acre or more.
