

INDIAN JOINS THE ARMY

Uncle Sam Accepts One Through the Omaha Office.

IS SENT TO THE COLORADO MIX

Local Office Writes to the War Department for Permission to Enlist the Indian and He Is Accepted.

Wednesday morning a solidly built little Indian confronted Sergeant Hansen at the Omaha recruiting station of the army and asked to be recruited into the forces fighting for Uncle Sam on land. He said he wanted to go to Mexico and fight for his country. The sergeant was in a bit of a quandary, but he put the Indian in through the examination and then wired the headquarters at Washington for permission to enlist the Indian as he was uncertain as to whether it was permissible. The department consented to the enlistment Thursday and the redskin departed for Fort Logan, Colo., to join the cavalry at that station.

The Indian gave his name as Raymond Johnson. His mother was a Pima Indian, but his father was a Swede. Thus the name of Raymond Johnson. He was born in Nogales, Ariz., in 1882. He spent five years at the Haskell school at Lawrence, Kan., where he learned the harness-maker's trade and the science of playing the slide trombone as well as securing an academic education. Since his graduation from Haskell he resided in Arizona and Mexico until coming to Omaha a year ago to practice his trade. But the war spirit so saturated his mind that he could no longer resist the temptation to join the forces which protect the interests of this country.

Ever since he was a little chap Johnson has had aspirations to join the army. When the Spanish-American war broke out he wanted to go, but was not allowed the privilege because he was still under age. During his residence in Arizona he was constantly adjacent to army posts and associated all his life with soldiers. While at Lawrence he became friends of the soldiers at Fort Riley and other tangent points because of his service in the Haskell band.

GUY BATES POST COMING TO BRANDIES EARLY IN JUNE

Guy Bates Post will come to the Brandeis theater for three days during the first week in June, in Richard Walton Tully's spectacular Persian love play, "Omar, the Tentmaker."

MEXICAN HIT WITH BRICK FOR HANDING OUT INSULTS

Alvanda Varela, a Mexican, received a brick, swung deftly from the hand of a colored man, in the midst of his forehead, when he insulted two of the colored gentleman's companions at Twelfth and Davenport streets Thursday night. After having the wound dressed by Police Surgeon Endstrom he was allowed to depart.

Farmers Paying Attention to the Selection of Seed

Sam North, district passenger agent for the Illinois Central, is in from an extended trip through the agricultural sections of Nebraska. He asserts that he has never seen winter wheat prospects quite as good as now. The cool, wet weather of the last ten days has put the plant in prime condition and in the fields there are no bad spots. He asserts that farmers are predicting thirty to thirty-five bushels per acre in the event the season continues as perfect as it is starting out.

Everywhere, Mr. North says, the farmers are busy in their fields, getting ready for planting corn. In some sections of the southern portion of the state some corn has already been planted and next week this work will be at its height. An unusually large acreage is promised and this year the farmers are paying special attention to the selection of their seed, most of which has been tested in order to determine whether or not it will germinate.

New Nickel Plant to Come to Omaha Soon

The Acme Plating and Galvanizing company is a new concern that is to open for business in Omaha in a short time. The business of the factory will be to do nickel plating and similar work. E. S. Eckenrode is to be manager of the factory. He comes here from Chicago. Some ten men will be employed in the plant.

FRIENDS TAKE COLLECTION FOR STROM'S FUNERAL

The body of John Strom, bartender, who took carbolic acid at the Northwestern hotel several days ago following a fit of despondency, will be buried by friends who have taken up a collection for the purpose. Funeral services will be held from Coroner Crosby's chapel at 2 o'clock, with interment in Forest Lawn cemetery.

F. B. HOLLINGER TAKEN INTO LOGAN & BRYAN COMPANY

F. B. Hollinger, who left Omaha about a year ago to take an official position with the Logan & Bryan Commission company at Chicago, has been made a member of the concern. Mr. Hollinger served the concern as manager of the Omaha office for twenty years before going to Chicago.

JOE BAKER ADMITS THAT HE HIT FIELDS WITH STOOL

Joe Baker, colored, giving his address as Alexander, Ala., was arrested for an assault made by him with a stool upon George Fields, colored, in a restaurant at 2023 Paul street. Fields is in a critical condition with slight chance for recovery. Baker admitted the deed, but refused to discuss the cause of the assault.

POSTPONE ACTION ON BACHELOR HOTEL LICENSE

Consideration of an application for a liquor license at Bachelor hotel, Twentieth and Farnam streets, has been postponed by the city council until May 2. Several protestants appeared at the meeting and it was deemed advisable to forego action for at least a week.

SHRINERS WILL MAKE A TRIP TO SIOUX CITY

Tangier temple, Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine, will send a carload of nobles to Sioux City Tuesday to be present at a ceremonial and social session of the temple there. The uniformed patrol will make the trip and perhaps the Dutch band.

CITY EMPLOYEES WHO GO TO WAR MAY GET JOBS BACK

Mayor Dahlman's proclamation assuring city employees who are members of the Nebraska National Guard that in case they went to war in Mexico their positions would be held pending their return, was approved by the city council.

BISHOP HITS THE LINE HARD

Methodist Divine Calls Eugenicists "Tragic Blundering with Sacred Things."

Scoring the scheme of eugenics as a tragic blunder, and declaring that it engenders a moral mendacity, Bishop Warren A. Candler of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and one of the leading writers and preachers of Dixie, in his Sunday sermon at Atlanta, assailed the theory. "A long process of reformers (so-called) have sought to bring to pass all sorts of machine-made 'millenniums,'" he declared. "If they deal with the social evil, they proceed on the notion that purity is only possible to those who are above want or have good wages. They are never deeply concerned to work on the souls of men and women, but they are absorbed in trying to improve surroundings; they have more faith in the power of environment than in the strength of conscience. They have done much to lead multitudes of men and women to wait for something to be done for them, rather than by them, before undertaking to live virtuously. To distribute material goods in such a way as to create mendacity is bad enough, but it is infinitely worse to engender a moral mendacity which waits to get something before trying to be something."

"Now, our reformers, who have been giving such attention to environment for many years, and who have failed, turn to a vain attempt to regulate heredity. Hence this huge scheme of eugenics, which is, indeed, tragic blundering with sacred things. Already it has yielded a corrupting bulk of salacious talk about sex hygiene and sex instruction in the public schools. The whole disgusting movement rests on the assumption of man's sameness with the brutes. It leaves entirely out of the account man's freedom of will, which divine characteristic lifts him infinitely above any and all brutes."

It is time to tell these pretentious mechanicians to stop. Let them keep their hands off our schools and school children at least. Our public

The Russian Moulk.

A moulk, a Russian peasant, once paid a visit to the city. While admiring the Kremlin he noticed a lot of crows flying about its gilded towers and turrets. The crows were so many he began to count them.

"Young man, what are you doing?" he demanded.

"Counting the czar's crows!"

"What! Counting the czar's crows! That will cost you ten years in Siberia. Come along with me."

But the moulk, holding back, whispered that he had a pocketful of money, and would be glad to buy his freedom from the supposed official.

"Humph! How many crows have you counted?" the latter asked, raising his severity a little.

"Only twenty, sir."

"Fumph! That's 10 kopecks apiece. Well, fish out two roubles and I'll let you go."

So the moulk paid the two roubles—about a dollar—to the swindler, and went back home to his village rejoicing. Back there he would often declare, in recounting his adventure.

"And they say that city people can't easily swindle country folk. Well, it's the other way about. Take my case. That fool thought I only counted twenty crows. Well—ha! ha! ha!—the fact is I'd counted over 300."—New York Tribune.

Farm Lands FOR SALE

When Meadows are Green

IS THERE anything in the world that looks more contented than a good cow in a good meadow?

Yes, there is one thing that looks more contented, and that is a good farmer in a good field of wheat or corn. For he has the human intelligence to appreciate the great harvests that the earth can yield.

People are learning their lessons these days. People who have starved in the city, on meager, unwholesome food. People who have starved their minds with meager, unwholesome lives are learning the lesson that only the earth can teach. In every big city, every Sunday, thousands upon thousands of them swarm out through the railroads and the trolley lines to some little suburban woods, or some nearby farm heavy with the burden of its yellow harvest.

Perhaps you have not yet caught the spirit of this movement toward the land. Perhaps you are already too near to it to appreciate how good it is.

But just remember this, the thing which all these other people missed is the thing which you are going to miss some day. The longing which they now have is the longing which you are going to have before you die. And the sooner you get that longing and the sooner you satisfy it the better for you. A little land is the thing you need most in the world.

Turn to the Farm Lands advertising in the Want Ads of this paper. Do it now. See how easy it is to own a bit of land, especially with the easy payments that are usually offered to you. Answer some of these ads, and mention The Bee, please, each time you do for that will be a help to us as well as to you.
