MR. AND MRS. VERNON CASTLE and the members of their company met many friends when they arrived in Omaha. Following the matinee, and also the evening performance, there were regular tea dansants on the stage, only the tea was missing. Mr. and Mrs. Castle were entertained last evening at the Omaha club by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart, when the other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart 2d.

Miss Dorothy Taylor, the young society girl of New York, accompanying the Castles on their tour, was entertained while here by Miss Elizabeth Davis and Miss Menie Davis, who attended boarding school in New York with Miss Taylor. She was later in a wedding party in New York with Miss Louise Dinning. Miss Taylor dances with Mr. Sterling Pyle of New York.

Miss Margaret Gertay, Mr. Raymond Kirkan's partner, is also a young society girl, and Miss Jane Ott, who danced more difficult dances with Mr. Holton Herr, teaches dancing in New York City.

A number of Omaha young women who have been in New York this winter had also met Mr. Herr, who was at Castle House, and also at the tea dansants at the Hotel McAlpin. Miss Claire Helene Woodard danced at one of the tea dansants with Mr. Herr.

Following each performance at the Auditorium there was a contest for the Castle silver cup, to be awarded to the couple who were the best dancers. This was given much on the order of a tea dansant, and Mr. and Mrs. Castle and the dancers from Castle House voted for the winner.

At the matinee Mr. Castle said Mrs. Clarence Farnham of Fort Crook was the best dancer, but as she was dancing with Mr. Herr, a member of his company, he would give the choice to "the children," two young pupils of Prof. Chambers, Miss Helen Kroner and Mr. Harry Walker, who later won the silver cup at the evening performance.

At the contest in the evening, by special request from Mr. and Mrs. Castle, Miss Elizabeth Davis, Miss Menie Davis and Mrs. Harold Pritchett entered the contest and won much praise. Miss Menie Davis danced with Mr. Sterling Pyle of Castle House, and was considered the most graceful dancer, but as she had a professional for a partner, was awarded only a trophy, a book on dancing by Mr. and Mrs. Castle. In the front of the book is inscribed a little note signed "Irene Castle," and "You are a beautiful dancer. Vernon Castle."

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Davis entertained at the Omaha club for Miss Taylor and her chaperone, Mrs. McDuffy, and Mr. Kirwan; the other guests were Miss Menie Davis, Miss Elizabeth Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pritchett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roberts and Mr. Robert Burns.

Among others at the club were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Judson, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Baldrige, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nash, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cowgill, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metz, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Redick, Miss Condogon, Miss Woodard, Mrs. C. Y. Smith, Mrs. Ella Squires, Mrs. Herman Kountze, Miss Elizabeth Piekens, Mr. Kenneth Patterson and Mr. J. E. George.

Reilly and daughters, the Misses Mamie and Nell Reilly, have gone to Dawson, Neb., for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Redmond, who were in New York and West Baden, Ind., for three weeks, returned home Wednesday morning. SHRINERS OFF FOR ATLANTA

New Special Train for Omaha and Sioux City Contingent. VISITORS ENTERTAINED HERE

Omaha Shriner, members of Tangier temple, to the number of seventy-five, have donned the fez, thrown care to the winds and started yesterday afternoon for Atlanta, where the grand convulse of the order will be held, beginning next Tuesday. The members of Tangier have a special train all to themselves, traveling over the Illinois Central to Chicago and then over the Louisville & Nashville, the Southern, and one or two other lines in making side trips enroute. The commissaries and camel's milk for the Shriner, in the event their train should be stalled in some of the deserts between here and the southland.

Everything about the Shriner train is new and just out of the shops. This is the first trip for the equipment. The Commercial club's siren whistle is to be taken along, reposing in the baggage car. However, it will be connected with the engine, and along the route it will screech both day and night, always blowing for Omaha and Tangier. The Shriner train will reach Chicago at 7:30 this morning, Fort Dodge being the only station stop being made. There the stop was just long enough to take onto the special the three cars of Shriner's coming from Sioux City.

Sam North in Charge. All the way through the train will be in charge of Sam North, district passenger agent here, and H. S. Gray, division passenger agent at Dubuque. In order to furnish the Shriner's safe conduct over lines other than the Illinois Central over which they journey, W. M. Wood of the Louisville & Nashville, traveling passenger agent, St. Louis, and John H. Gentry, city passenger agent of the Southern at St. Louis, will accompany them all the way to Atlanta.

While Tangier Temple Shriner's were busy getting ready to start on their journey across the burning sands, they were not too busy to entertain brothers from the oasis of Portland, Ore., who arrived over the Burlington at 7 o'clock in the morning and left for Atlanta over the same road at 4:30 in the afternoon. They travel in a special car and were met by a delegation from Tangier. In automobiles they were brought up town and breakfasted at the Loyal. From there on a special car of the Omaha street railway company they went to the Union stock yards, returning in time for lunch at Tangier Temple. After lunch there was a short special session, after which the visitors were given an automobile ride about the city, consuming practically all the time until the departure of their train for Kansas City and St. Louis, where they will make short stops en route to Atlanta.

Osborne has been editing the Oakland (Cal.) World, a socialist paper, and Quinby is one of the leading exponents of the single tax theory in Omaha. Mr. Quinby will endeavor to show the all-sufficiency of single tax as a remedy for economic ills, while Mr. Osborne will try to point out its limitations as a solution for present economic problems.

And Then It Was— Habelais, Balzac, De Maupassant and a large group of the old-time writers of broad stuff regarded with glooming brows the newcomer. "Say," growled Habelais. "You were one of the people who are writing the world's present crop of stories. Poems and plays, weren't you? Well, we want to tell you that until your success showed us how far we fell short of being truly wicked in our work, hell hadn't much torment for us."—Judge.

Head of National Life Insurance Co. Sees Better Times

"You may say that the whole of the great west, including that portion of Nebraska that has come under my observation, looks bad to me," asserted Joseph A. DeBoer, president of the National Life Insurance company of Montpelier, Vt., who spent several hours in the city visiting J. V. Starrett, the company's state agent. President DeBoer is no stranger in Omaha, having made periodical visits here during the last fifteen years. He is now out on one of these trips, calling on state and general agents. From here he went to Lincoln and from there will make a swing around the circle, being away from home several weeks.

While the president of the National Life Insurance company asserts that some lines of business are a little slack in the east, he is no pessimist. He sees better times ahead, and, discussing the future business outlook, said: "There is nothing wrong with the country, and after another crop and conditions are adjusted to the new banking and financial plans I look for a revival of confidence. The money is here and when it is let loose and business starts up, we ought to have better times. The crop will have much to do with the future conditions, as it is well known that there could be no betterment should the crop be poor, while if it should be good, as we all hope it will be, there will be a revival along the line. "It is hard to tell just how the currency plan will work out, but we are of the opinion that it will adjust itself to the business conditions and that no hardships or serious business depression will follow its adoption. In the east we are in hopes that it is going to work out and give us a revival of prosperity. "All through the east business is fairly good, but it is not booming. Failures have been few, and while forces have been reduced or put on shorter hours, there are few industries that have shut down.

"There is nothing wrong with the country, though there is some business brought about by changes in policies and legislation, but I am one of the men who believe that better times are coming."
