THE Hesitation waltz is gaining popularity, especially since the tennis tournament last week. This waltz originated in St. Louis, and is the favorite dance with both Roland Hoerr and Drummond Jones, the St. Louis tennis champions. These young men have been attending tournaments at Louisville, Kansas City, Chicago and other cities, and everywhere they went they danced the Hesitation waltz.

The Chicago Record-Herald describes the new waltz as follows: "The hesitation waltz is a waltz with a different accent—a waltz specially adapted to hot weather and leisureliness. It is to the well known variety of waltz and Boston what iced coffee is to the hot nectar you have for breakfast. My comments in this column on the popularity of the 'hesitation' has brought requests from readers living outside of Chicago and St. Louis—from which latter city the 'hesitation' came—for a detailed description of the dance, and so, in so far as a mere writer may hope to do the work of a dancing master, here is the 'Hesitation':

"You take first one long, hesitating step, then two short ones. The man's weight is on his left foot, the woman's on her right; the other feet swing in the air. The only reverses are to the left, never to the right. You take two straight steps to the left and four reverse steps to the left, then two straight steps and four reverse. The purpose of the straight steps is merely to keep you from getting dizzy.

"I hope this is as plain as a modern dance may be and that the hesitating step may find its faltering way wherever people love to dance and read my column."

At Carter Lake Country Club.

Daily Fashion Hints

By LA RAONTEUSE.

Morning "dishable" in pale pink striped "crape de chine," shaped as a straight and loose kimono. The broad three-quarter sleeves are finished with a small band of white satin. Some trimming trims the neck and edges the "dishable" to the floor.

McLaughlin will leave Sunday evening for a canoeing and fishing trip near Georgian Bay.

Mrs. Edward Hayden has returned from a short stay at Lake Pleasant, N. Y., and Miss Ophelia Hayden is visiting relatives in Washington and plans to go to Atlantic City to visit friends before returning home.

DOUBLE WEDDING TO BE CELEBRATED ON MONDAY

A double wedding by which Miss Marie Shanahan, the daughter, and Miss Catherine Shanahan, the sister-in-law of Mr. Michael P. Shanahan, 247 South Seventeenth street, will become brides, will be celebrated Monday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. Fourteenth and Castellor streets. Father Flanagan will perform the ceremony.

The double marriage will occur on the twenty-second anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Michael P. Shanahan and in the same church. The affianced bridegrooms have secured their marriage licenses. Thomas Kelly, street railway motorman, will wed Miss Catherine Shanahan and George J. Dunavan, employee of a local automobile garage, will marry Miss Marie Shanahan.

The young men said their brides believed they had insured wedded happiness by selecting a wedding day which has a sentimental significance. The father of Miss Marie Shanahan is a veteran employe of the Union Pacific Railroad company. Both young women have been employed as operators by the telephone company. Miss Catherine Shanahan will live at 1412 Martha street while her niece and her husband will reside at her parent's home.

LAD CRUSHED BY HEAVY WHEEL HAS CHANCE TO LIVE

Though his left side is crushed by the wheel of a wagon containing a 2,000-pound load of brick, Arthur Seward, 5 years old, may live, according to his physician, Dr. J. W. Parsons of Benson.

The boy was thrown from his seat on the wagon Thursday afternoon at Clinton avenue and Reed streets, Benson, and fell in front of a hind wheel. His father, William Seward, thirty-sixth and Grant streets, employe of a lumber company, stopped his team before the wheel had passed completely over the lad's body.

"He has a chance to live," said Dr. Parsons, "children often recover from extremely serious accidents."

The boy was carried to the physician's office by Dan Westergaard, assistant auditor at the court house. He is now at his home.

JUDGE ENGLISH HEARS FROM MOTHERS OUTSIDE COUNTY

Judge English of the juvenile court is receiving letters from mothers in many parts of the state asking him to award them pensions. The judge thinks they have gained the erroneous impression that he controls the granting of pensions outside of Douglas county. It is necessary, he says, for applicants in other parts of the state to place their claims before the most convenient district or county judge.

PETITIONS ARE CIRCULATED TO PAVE FIFTY-FIRST STREET

Petitions are being circulated along Fifty-first street, between Leavenworth and Center streets, to pave the street, and the commissioners of the city have told the residents that if the petition is presented to the council within the next few days work will be started at once and completed this fall.

OMAHANS PROMOTED IN NAVY

Four Graduates of Local High School Now Junior Lieutenants.

EXAMINATIONS ARE STRENUOUS

But Embryo Officers Have No Difficulty in Passing Requirements for Entrance—Have Excellent Records.

Four Omaha boys, all graduates of the Omaha High school of 1904, have been promoted to naval lieutenants, junior class. The new lieutenants are D. C. Patterson, Jr.; Alexander Charlton, Charles J. Wille and Harry D. McGuire. The four boys received their elementary education in the grammar schools of Omaha and their academic education in the high school. They were excellent students at the high school and as all applied to enter the navy they secured appointments to the United States naval academy at Annapolis.

None of the embryo officers had difficulty in passing the stringent examinations required for entrance and they went through the naval academy with high honors. Out of the total number of 200 that entered the class of 1908, but 155 succeeded in successfully completing the course, including the four cadets from Omaha.

The four graduates were appointed to the offices of midshipmen which they held for two years. After their terms as midshipmen were completed they became ensigns for three years. This spring the ensigns studied for the examinations for junior grade lieutenants and they all passed the examinations which, in conjunction with their excellent record at Annapolis, secured them their promotions.

Patterson and Charlton are both connected with the Atlantic squadron, Patterson is on the flagship Wyoming, McGuire is in the Asiatic squadron and Wille in the Pacific squadron.

Distinguished Himself. Patterson distinguished himself about a year and a half ago when he was the engineering officer on the Dixie, a mother ship to a flotilla of torpedo boats. The fleet of little crafts was caught in a hurricane of the coast of Bermuda and the Dixie suffered a leak in the hold. The suction pumps that are used to draw the water from the hold were out of order and the ship was in immediate danger of sinking. Patterson, who has made considerable study of engineering, conceived the idea of connecting the pipe-line, which draws water for the boilers from the ocean, with the leaking hold. The water which rushed into the ship through the seeping bulk was drawn into the boilers to make steam and the Dixie weathered the gale.

Patterson was accorded special commendation by the secretary of the navy for his excellent engineering. The chief of the engineers at the time attempted to persuade the young officer to make engineering his specialty, but Patterson preferred to remain in the service which would enable him to engage in actual warfare if the opportunity should present itself.

Omaha friends are elated over the promotion of the Omaha boys, who appear to be natural sailors and born officers, and predict that they will continue to rise in the service. Their records graphically represent the superiority of Omaha's educational system, which gave them such a sufficiency of knowledge that they entered the service of their country soon after they became of age.

Woodrough Wants Insurance Company to Admit Liability

Joseph W. Woodrough, Omaha attorney, has brought suit against the Germania Life Insurance company in district court because the company has repudiated an estimate of the amount of money due at the end of twenty years, which, in the form of a slip of paper, was pasted on the policy.

Mr. Woodrough alleges that when he secured the policy in 1905 he was led to believe by the agent, Joseph B. Clarke, that he would be able to make a cash settlement of $2,500 in 1925, $1,500 of which would be guaranteed and the remainder estimated, and, he asserts, that a slip of paper giving this impression was pasted on his policy. The policy insured his life for $2,500.

Mr. Woodrough asks that the company be required to admit liability for the amount which he says will be due after he has paid premiums until 1925 or be forced to return the money already paid in by him.

REPORTS OF ILLNESS OF EDWARD MORRIS OVERDRAWN

On account of the exaggerated report of illness of Mr. Edward Morris, the following statement was issued at the office of Edward Morris at the Union Stock yards and signed by Mr. T. E. Wilson, vice president of Morris & Co.:

"Reports concerning the condition of Mr. Edward Morris are very much exaggerated. Last fall he suffered somewhat from a nervous condition, but was very much improved by his visit to California last winter. Upon his return, and upon the advice of his doctors, he decided to take an absolute rest from business affairs for two or three months, which he has been doing. The results have been very satisfactory and he is much improved. He is not confined to his bed, but is up and around and out every day. There is every reason to believe that within a very short time he will be able to take his usual active interest in business affairs."

LIVE ON PORCH, SAYS THE DOCTOR

"If you will live on the porch all you can in warm weather, and have the porch fitted up to give you the most comfort possible, you will feel better and be able to do more and better work," said the doctor.

"Many Omaha people don't use their porches enough, simply because they have to sit on the porch steps or exert themselves to bring chairs out of the house.

"My porch is comfortable, but if it were not I would go to Beaton & Laier Co.'s store tomorrow and get at least a couple of rockers and a swing or settee.

"This firm will sell porch furniture at 15% to 50% reduction Saturday—chairs, rockers and settees, including their Chinese Grass, Fibre Rush and Willow furniture. Swings at half price. You can get it cheaper now than next June."—Beaton & Laier Co., 415-17 South Sixteenth street.

BLOOMERS ALL RIGHT IF ARTISTICALLY MADE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 1.—Milwaukee women will be permitted to wear whatever sort of clothing they wish when they go bathing, was the decision of Mayor Gerhard A. Hading today.

Suit suits, bloomers, one-piece suits or any other sort will pass muster at the local bathing beaches. All that is necessary is that they wear at least as much as the men do and that the clothing does not hinder the leg movements during their swimming and diving activities. The mayor insists, however, that the women and girls who wear bloomers must have them artistically made.

INTERNAL REVENUE SHOWS BIG GAIN IN RECEIPTS

Internal revenue receipts for the month of July, 1913, far exceed those of the corresponding month in 1912. The receipts in July, 1912, were $15,318.38 and for the month just passed $30,371.57, or an increase of $15,053.19.
