STATE OF PUBLIC FUNDS

School Money is Already Overdrawn and Warrants Out.
WATER BOARD'S QUEER FINANCE
Money is on Deposit in the Omaha Banks the Same as Cash Items—Suggest School Bonds Be Bought with Money.
"Do you know that the school board was already overdrawn some $4,000 of its general fund on July 1, right after the big influx of tax payments?"
It was County Treasurer Tre speak. and he continued:
"Do you know what that means? It means that the school board will have warrants outstanding against depleted funds all the rest of the year. It means that the schools will have to run for six months on borrowed money—up to the time the liquor license proceeds become available next December. It means, if I am not mistaken, that school warrants will be at a discount before long. No one will be willing to take these 5 per cent school warrants at par when current interest rates are higher, and other better-paying securities are easily to be had."
"Do you know what the Water board ought to do? It ought to take up these school warrants with its surplus funds. These warrants could be picked up at 1 or 2 per cent discount in addition to the 5 per cent interest rate, which would give the Water board a nice return on the investment."
"Yes, but how much money was the Water board on hand?"
"The Water board balance yesterday in round figures was $22,000."
"How does it come to be so big? Why do you know we sold an additional $60,000 of water bonds in New York last month, part of that original 4% per cent issue, which the purchasers of the $7,000,000 of bonds had agreed to take on demand."
"Where is all that money now?"
"That money is all on deposit right here in our banks. To be more accurate, it is in the four big banks, and it is there the same as a cash item."

"Use Wants Road."
"I don't know what I am going to do about this water fund money now," Mr. Tre explained. "The new water district law makes no provision regarding its safe keeping or investment, and the Water board has as yet given no direction. I am going to have the banks in which I deposit it secure me by indemnity bond, because I am told by my lawyers that I am personally liable for it. I am just putting it in the banks on my own responsibility, as they are not legally depositories for the Water district or is there any agreement as to paying interest. The fact is under the law I am holding this money as county treasurer, no longer as city treasurer, so I take it we ought to get the same rate of interest as is paid the county, which is 2 per cent."
"That's what it looks like to date; but the way to come out whole is to do as suggested—buy city county and school warrants that pay from 5 to 7 per cent interest, or buy back their own water bonds on the market, where they are now quoted at less than par. Something will have to be done soon, because there is no possibility of more than one-third of this $35,000 being required for current expenses or betterments of the water plant this year, and perhaps for much longer."

POLICE ASKED TO NOTIFY TOURIST OF WIFE'S ILLNESS
A message was received yesterday by the police to notify Howard Smock, real estate dealer at Bloomington, Ill., and who is making an automobile trip through to California, that his wife is seriously ill and not expected to live. Smock is expected in Omaha today.

ELECTRIC POWER REDUCTION
Price for Power Current Will Be Lowered October First.
WILL AMOUNT TO TEN PER CENT
Sliding Scale Shows Heavier Discount for the Small Consumer Than it Does for the Wholesale User.
A reduced rate for electricity sold for power purposes goes into effect October 1, according to L. B. Zimman, who says President F. A. Nash of the Electric Light and Power company ordered the reduction before he left Thursday for the east.
"This will be a reduction of about 10 per cent," said Zimman, "and will be felt chiefly by the smaller consumers of power."
Following is the new schedule of power rates: Nine cents per kilowatt hour for first 200 kilowatts, 5 cents for next 400, 3 cents for from 600 to 1,000, 2 cents for all in excess of 1,000.

The new schedule reduces the maximum and minimum rates to 4 and 8 cents per kilowatt hour, respectively, the rate as prepared calling for a discount of 1 cent per kilowatt hour on any part of the first 200 kilowatt hours used if the bill is paid within ten days from the date it bears.
