TORNADO SUFFERERS UNWARE OF RELIEF FUNDS GIVEN HELP

Foreign Victims of Disaster Who Had Not Heard of State Money Before Ask Aid.

CONDITIONS JUST LEARNED

Only by Accident Some in Need of Assistance Discovered.

PRACTICALLY ALL APPORTIONED

Hundred Thousand Appropriated About All Divided.

SMALL SUM BEING HELD BACK

Committee Retains Portion to Meet Bills that Are Coming to Commission Will Meet Again Soon.

Cases of foreigners, who had not heard of the state relief money for tornado victims, have recently come to light. This is surprising as appropriations were made for them from the appropriations set aside from the state fund for the various towns of the state that were affected by the tornado. This is due to the fact that foreigners, who were not well acquainted in their communities at Berlin, Yutan, Ralston and other places, where the state fund was to be expended in relief work, did not report their condition. In some instances they picked up their few belongings and moved out of the community. Thus the neighbors lost sight of them and their condition recently member commission heard of these people and had their cases brought to the attention of the committee, with the result that appropriations were made for them.

Practically all of the $100,000 appropriated by the state has now been apportioned to the various towns that were affected by the tornado. This does not mean that quite all of it is as yet expended, but each of the towns and districts affected is checking against its apportionment of the fund for its respective relief work. Of the $100,000 Omaha got $31,000. Another meeting of the state relief commission is to be held in two weeks, which it is thought will wind up the principal affairs of the commission.

Practically all of the relief fund in Omaha has been expended now and the committee is holding back a small sum to meet bills that are still coming in. There are a few bills incurred early in the relief work that have just recently come to light. The relief committee honors them whenever they are presented.

Torrid Winds Visit Omaha.

A brisk wind blowing from the southwest yesterday afternoon brought with it one of the hottest temperatures Omaha has felt this month. It came like a flash and from 1 o'clock on the Fahrenheit rose as though by magic. A pitiless sun, shone down on the paved streets, and with heat waves reflected from the tall office buildings the torridity of the afternoon intensified until, at 4 o'clock, it reached an official temperature of 104 degrees, and shortly afterwards touched 116. There were readings made at corners on Farnam street that were as high as 119 degrees, but these were materially influenced by contributing radiations. A record of temperatures for August shows that since the 10th of that month, 1914, there has not been a day since then between July and September that has reached so high a reading. At Kansas City, Dodge City, Peoria and Keokuk, 112 degrees was registered; at Davenport, 120; at Des Moines, 121; at North Platte, 94, and at Valentine 88.

A pessimistic horror spread over some of the damages that had likely been done to corn, already suffering from drought, but the more conservative are inclined to believe that, while the growing crop may have been withered a little in this locality, a shower would overcome the disastrous effects. On the heels of the hot wave followed a cooler one and by 8 p. m. the temperature had again been lowered to a stage of 94 degrees, though the descent was only a few degrees at midnight.

Rain Saturday Night.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Aug. 2.—(Special.)—Fine showers again fell in all parts of Hall county tonight, and it is generally believed that the drought and protracted hot spell will be effectively broken.

Case of Sulzer is Up to the Legislature

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—While Governor Sulzer remains silent, members of the joint legislative committee which concluded its hearings began today drafting a report which it will submit to the legislature Monday with reference to testimony showing that the governor speculated on the stock market, losing campaign funds which he had failed to include in his sworn statement as required by law.

In the opinion of Chairman Frawley of the committee and of Eugene Lamb Richards, counsel, no other course than to recommend impeachment proceedings is open.

Whether the committee will subsequently return to New York to inquire further into the governor's Wall street deals will be discussed by the committee at a meeting to be held in Albany Monday prior to the convening of the legislature Monday night.

Chairman Frawley said yesterday: "We have got enough."

Never in the history of this state has a governor been impeached. Should such a fate await Mr. Sulzer he would be put on trial before the senate and the state court of appeals, sitting jointly. The court is now in recess and will not convene until September 23.

MEXICAN SITUATION TAKES UP THE TIME OF SENATE SESSION

Williams Charges an Organized Effort to Bring on a War with Mexico.

AGENTS ARE BUSY AT WORK

Money, and Not All Mexican Money, to Carry on the Movement.

CHARGES BY SMITH OF MICHIGAN

Claims that a Junta Has the Ear of the State Department Here.

TRY TO SHUT OFF DISCUSSION

Assertion that Maderista Influence of Two Years Ago on Border Now Being Exerted in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Another threatened outburst in the senate over the Mexican situation today was quelled by emphatic disapproval from republicans and democrats who joined in declaring that the senate should not lend weight to any efforts to intensify feeling in Mexico.

After Senator Smith of Michigan had opened the subject by declaring that the constitutional junta were and the ear of the State department and was influential in bringing about the resignation of Ambassador Wilson, Senator Williams of Mississippi replied with the charge that there was an "organized and syndicated effort" to bring about war with Mexico. He declared, "there is money behind it, and not all Mexican money."

"Senators must hold themselves in check," said Senator Williams. "As we read many of the metropolitan papers, there is a sameness of statement, expression and opinion in certain of them that shows a syndicated money effort behind it. It is time we should pause. I don't feel even brave when talking about war with Mexico, a country disrupted, broken and torn with dissension. This question is too important to be discussed here for any personal advantage, for any small advantage to any person."

Senator Smith, after announcing that Monday he would make the senate a report from the special committee which worked along the Mexican border last year, yielded to expressions of disapproval and agreed to submit the report first to the foreign relations committee.

Should Not Intensify Feeling.

Senators Crawford and Kenyon joined democrats in declaring the senate should not be its own judge in this matter. Efforts to intensify the Mexican feeling, Senator Crawford expressed the highest confidence in President Wilson and the State department, saying they were entitled, loyal and complete support.

"I regret to observe any disposition or evidence of a desire to hinder or make more difficult the work of the foreign relations committee," said he. "The administration may commit error, probably it will. It will have to be subject to criticism, that is inevitable. But members of the senate, a body which must participate in the settlement of international questions, has a duty that should compel it to rise above partisan criticism."

Senator Williams declared Senator Crawford's cool, dispassionate statement would be applauded by all Americans. Senator Smith of Michigan declared that S. G. Hopkins, Washington lawyer, as representative of the constitutional forces, "had the ear of the State department" and "had much to do with the removal of Ambassador Wilson."

Work of a Junta.

Senator Smith's statements were part of a general charge that the constitutionalists with an organized junta in Washington, were conducting a propaganda for a finance government action.

After Smith's charge there was an apparent attempt by democratic leaders to shut off discussion.

Senator Swanson sharply assailed Senator Smith for coming directly from a meeting of the foreign relations committee, where both were members, and making charges that had never been laid before the committee.

Senator Smith drew a distinction between the state department and the secretary of state, saying, "The State department is run by the secretary of state," suggested Senator Swanson.

"I don't believe it," retorted Senator Swanson.
