Iowa Farmers Are Out to Hear the Alfalfa Experts

SHENANDOAH, Ia., Aug. 9.—Though the hot winds burned the grain and scorched the faces of more than fifty farmers gathered at each of the six meeting places out of Shenandoah to hear the state college speaker, who came with the Alfalfa special explain the value of methods of cultivation of this much exploited crop. The interest taken here on the last day and almost the last stop of the trip, is indicative of the enthusiasm with which the special has been received all along the line, say the men with the train. At Farwell the band was out, and at some of the small towns speakers' stands decorated with alfalfa had been prepared.

J. E. Lamson, agricultural agent in charge of the train, was busy figuring up statistics. "Up to the Shenandoah meeting," said he, "we have had 257 meetings, with a total attendance of 11,304. That is an average of forty-six at each meeting. We feel mighty good because we have reached the men who are actually going to raise the crops, the active farmers, at their farm homes. Our trip hasn't been as spectacular as some other trips, but the campaign has been made in the busy season, when the farmers are thrashing."

Statistics compiled by Mr. Lamson and his assistants show that 1,790 farmers have signed cards signifying their intention of raising alfalfa. The estimated acreage is 12,482. This, against 745 now raising alfalfa, with an acreage of 7,500. Prof. John Buchanan of Ames says that the best and most numerous stands of alfalfa along the way were probably near Hamburg and along the Missouri bottom.

It caught cold and pneumonia followed and was the cause of death, according to the attending physicians.

How Buttermilk Protects Against Wind and Dust

(From Outdoor Life.) Before going motoring, or before indulging in any outdoor, or before one is to be much exposed to the elements, it is a wise precaution to use a little buttermilk. It is a buttermilk application, topped with a light coating of talcum. The proleptated buttermilk, being a more aerated and economical than the liquid, it is easily applied and leaves no greasy trace. It should be rubbed gently in face, neck and hands, rubbed gently in and allowed to dry before the powder is put on. This not only serves as a sort of armor against winds, dirt and dust, but the natural bleaching, softening and soothing effects of proleptated buttermilk paste, applied wonderfully in keeping the skin in fine condition. Druggists furnish the paste in containers convenient for carrying with one on an extended trip. If used daily, soap may be dispensed with entirely, it being preferable to wash off the paste with plain cold water.—Advertisement.

LIND NOT TO OFFEND HUERTA

Envoys of President to Be Diplomatic in Mexican Affairs. WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—John Lind, President Wilson's personal envoy to Mexico, will arrive off Vera Cruz on the battleship New Hampshire before night. He probably will not be in Mexico City before Monday and the diplomatic crisis between the United States and Mexico is not expected to culminate before that time.

Owes Her Good Health to Duffy's

MR. MARY CARMODY "About a year ago I was down with a very heavy cold and I had a hard time under my throat and hoarse. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand, and I could not keep anything on my stomach. A druggist near where I lived advised taking a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with an egg in milk before meals and after following his advice I found that it would not only relieve my weakness but gradually gained in weight. I believe that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the best thing I ever took down people to a great thing, and I recommend it to my many friends in Brooklyn and New York. I cannot give Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey too much credit. Write for free booklet to Mrs. Mary Carmody, 116 N. Elliott St., Brooklyn, N. Y."

should be in every home as a safeguard in connection with a medicinal and ready to be taken on journeys by the waterway. It affords the greatest relief.

Reason for Slow Trip.

Though there is no official confirmation of the statement, it is said the passage of the New Hampshire has been a slow one, purposely to give the Mexican government opportunity to digest the situation. The big ship could have made the trip in twenty-six hours and reached Vera Cruz yesterday afternoon.

Before Mr. Lind arrives, Charge O'Shaughnessy is expected to explain to the Mexican foreign office that Mr. Lind comes only as an adviser to the embassy, not to take part in Mexican politics, and on a thoroughly peaceful mission. The administration maintains its confidence that when Huerta understands the facts there will be no objection to Governor Lind's mission and that he will be allowed to discharge his duties as adviser to the American embassy without molestation. That understanding is based on the belief that Mr. Lind will scrupulously observe the custom of diplomacy and will not undertake to raise an issue as to his status by addressing himself directly to General Huerta, or the Mexican foreign office, availing himself of the services of Charge O'Shaughnessy as an intermediary and mouthpiece for anything that he may care to say.

INSTRUCTION ARE AT VERA CRUZ

Bryan Refuses to Disclose the Plans of the Envoy. WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Secretary Bryan said today that Mr. Lind would find instruction awaiting him at Vera Cruz. Their nature he declined to disclose, and refused to say whether Mr. Lind was to proceed at once to the Mexican capital or wait at Vera Cruz. One unofficial view of that phase of the situation was that inasmuch as the Washington government is anxious to avoid any anti-American demonstration against Mr. Lind, or to see any breach committed before the envoy has opportunity actually to communicate President Wilson's proposals to Huerta, Mr. Lind might wait on the New Hampshire at Vera Cruz while Charge O'Shaughnessy transmitted the proposals to Mexico City.

ALL QUIET AT VERA CRUZ

No Opposition Shown Toward Letting John Lind Go Ashore. VERA CRUZ, Mex., Aug. 9.—No, the slightest opposition was planned by the port authorities here to the landing of John Lind, who was expected to arrive on board the battleship New Hampshire about noon today. Awaiting Mr. Lind's arrival were the American consul, William W. Canaday, and Dr. William Bayard Hale, personal representative of President Wilson, who arrived here this morning from the Mexican capital. It was expected the Mexican military commander of Vera Cruz would meet Mr. Lind unofficially, incidental to the exchange of visits of courtesy between him and the captain of the New Hampshire. The attitude of the authorities here is taken generally as a reflection of what may be expected at the Mexican capital. They regard Mr. Lind simply as a private traveler. The public discusses his coming languidly, with no indication of resentment.

COMMITTEE KEPT IN THE DARK

Wilson Calls Meeting to Talk Over Mexican Matters. Officials Avoid Taking Hand in Mexican Affairs. BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Reports from Washington that President Wilson's message to Provisional President Huerta of Mexico had been sent also on behalf of other nations are incorrect so far as Germany is concerned. The German foreign office today declared it did not know the contents of President Wilson's message.

MEXICAN SITUATION TAKES UP THE TIME OF SENATE SESSION

(Continued from Page One.) Senator Smith's speech was based on a statement submitted to the senate several days ago by Senator Sheppard, showing the constitutional strength. Senator Smith questioned it and Sheppard defended his action in submitting it. Smith explained he meant only to stress the influence in Washington in behalf of the constitutionalists.
