Honors in intercollegiate athletics for the year that closed a short time ago are divided for the year 1913 among four colleges—Harvard in foot ball, Syracuse in rowing, Pennsylvania in track, letters and Yale in base ball. In the minor sports the titles were almost as evenly divided, with six colleges sharing in the spots.

Strenuous Year. It was a year of strenuous competition and was full of unexpected triumphs, none of which was more spectacular than the victory of Syracuse in the recent intercollegiate regatta, after Cornell had beaten Harvard decisively in a preliminary race. No championship, however, has been earned more justly than that won by Yale in base ball, for, despite two defeats by Harvard at the fair end of the year, the Yale team showed ability that was far above the average from flag fall to finish, and any rating other than first would be unjust.

Harvard, by virtue of its 20 to 9 victory over Yale at foot ball last November, easily won the title. The Crimson team was one of well-rounded strength, which worked up to the climax in the Yale game by a slow but steady advance. The victory over the Blue was more overwhelming than even the most ardent followers of the Crimson had reason to expect. The Harvard-Yale game, in a manner, was epoch-making in several ways, for it was the first time since 1903 that the Crimson had made a touchdown against Yale and it was the first time since 1894 that either team had scored a touchdown against the other. Yale was second.

Standing of Teams.

The teams were rated at the end of the season thus: Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania State, Carleton, Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Navy, Cornell, Army, Williams, Wesleyan and Brown in order.

By beating two tired and exhausted crews over the four-mile regatta course at Poughkeepsie, Syracuse won the intercollegiate rowing championship. The year in rowing was full of surprises much the same as that which capped the climax. First came the defeat of Harvard and Pennsylvania in a three-cornered race by the Princeton eight. A week later Princeton and the Navy fell victims to Columbia in the race over the Henley distance on Lake Carnegie, and the Crimson took another hard fall when it was beaten soundly by Cornell on Lake Cayuga in a two-mile race on May 24. Yale introduced the English system of rowing and came down to the dual race with Harvard at New London with fair hopes of redeeming the long list of defeats that it had sustained at the hands of the Crimson. The outcome, however, was far from pleasing to Yale men, for all three Yale crews were badly beaten by Harvard, which set up a record of six consecutive victories in the varsity race. In the Poughkeepsie regatta, Cornell was second, Syracuse, Washington third, Wisconsin fourth, Columbia fifth and Pennsylvania sixth. Cornell, however, won both the freshman and the four-oared races. The Harvard freshman crew beat the Cornell youngsters early in the season and earned the title of freshman champions.

Yale Has Good Team.

The Yale base ball team for 1913, which finished the season with the high percentage of .511, was the best one of the base ball teams ever put together, certainly in the last decade. The Elm strung up a record of seventeen consecutive victories and with the exception of the series with Harvard did not lose a single set of contests with any college team. Single defeats by Pennsylvania and Williams marred the record of the early season. The Blue was beaten twice by the Giants one afternoon, and in its last game of the year was beaten by Harvard. The Harvard victories, however, do not give the Crimson the right to the championship, despite the fact that it defeated Princeton in the series. Yale's wonderful record throughout the year was so far superior that there is hardly room for comparison. Brown was beaten in its series perfect slate with victories over Harvard, giving it a right to second place. Harvard ranks third. The Crimson had only a mediocre preliminary record, and showed none of its wonderful playing until it came down to the Yale series. Pennsylvania, although it had a poor team, takes fourth place and Princeton fifth. Williams had a much poorer team than usual and did not carry a place better than sixth, while Amherst comes seventh, Columbia eighth, Dartmouth ninth and Williams tenth.

Another Victory for Penn.

The intercollegiate track championships saw another victory for Pennsylvania, the third in the last four years that has gone to the Quakers. The margin by which the Philadelphia team won was only two and a half points, for Harvard was close up. Pennsylvania scored 24 points, Harvard, 21; Michigan, 19; Cornell, 17; Dartmouth, 14; Yale, 10.

Surprise Cure of Stomach Trouble.

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengle, Plainfield, N. J., writes, "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want. For sale by all druggists.—Advertisement."

Chicago Musical College to Award Free Scholarships

Following a custom established nearly fifty years ago, the Chicago Musical college has announced its annual examinations for free and partial scholarships. Fifty of the former and 150 of the latter will be awarded by this institution. The free scholarships entitle the holder to instruction for one year of forty weeks, absolutely free of charge and without restrictions. The partial awards are liberal reductions from the regular rate of tuition. These scholarships have been the means of developing some of the world's greatest musicians, artists who, through lack of the financial assistance, might never have made their entrance into the world of music. Dr. F. Siegfried, president of the Chicago Musical college, a man whose fame as a musical educator is not confined to America, is responsible for the giving of these scholarships, and it is a fact worth notice that the Metropolitan Opera company of New York paid for two free scholarships to be awarded in the school of opera. Deserving students of music without the necessary means to go on with their studies, students who show that they have talent and should be encouraged are those for whom this offer is intended. Application blanks will be sent upon request to the Chicago Musical college, 64 South Michigan boulevard, Chicago, but will not be accepted later than September 15.

The opening of the fall term, September 15, will mark the occasion of a celebration in honor of the school's forty-eight anniversary. It is now the largest school in America and offers special advantages in every branch of music, opera, actors, modern languages, dancing and kindred theoretical and applied studies.

H. B. BOYLES RETURNS FROM LONG TRIP TO THE EAST

Horace B. Boyles, president of Boyles' college, has returned from the east. In the course of his travels he stopped at Beverly, Mass., where he consulted Dr. Gaylord, president of the National Teachers' agency, in regard to prospective teachers for the Boyles college.

Education Notes.

There were 17,228 students in the University of Paris last year, of whom 3,267 were foreigners.

Systematic study in citizenship is given in the elementary schools of France, Denmark and Finland.

The Rockefeller Sanitary Commission for the Eradication of the Hookworm has treated 46,996 cases in the last three years.

Rural districts in Denmark show less than 1 per cent illiteracy. In the United States the corresponding figure is 18 per cent.

Medical inspection is particularly well organized in the Department of the Seine, France, where 200 medical inspectors visit the schools of their districts every week.

In rural schools in Missouri girls are organized into "pick-a-cherry" clubs under the direction of the National Congress of Mothers, to aid in the good roads movement.

"Already twenty-one counties in California out of the total of fifty-eight are maintaining county free library systems," says a recent report of the United States bureau of education, "and many more are preparing to adopt it. With a central library and storehouse established at the county seat, and with branches throughout the county, the people even in the remotest districts are receiving literary service possible in no other way."

The cities of Ulm and Frankfurt, in Germany, are trying a novel plan for reducing taxes. They are selling to their teachers good municipal land at a low price and accepting a mortgage on it at 4 per cent interest. In Frankfurt this mortgage may amount to 25 per cent of the value, so that the applicant has to provide but 10 per cent from his own pocket. The tax and mortgage payments together, it is said, do not amount to any more than reasonable rent, and is allowed him besides his salary, the teacher is soon the owner of his own home.

News from York College.

Dean Charles E. Ashcroft and Registrar Charles Blumet are on the ground and are planning for the next year's work.

L. M. Curtis, A. B., of Lucerne, Ind., has been secured to take charge of the science department. He has had several years' experience and will be a strong addition to the school.

The Y. M. C. A. and Boarding hall is being thoroughly renovated and decorated and a complete line of new furniture installed. Mrs. Nellie West Casfor will have charge of the dining and the kitchen and the most pleasant and comfortable women's homes in the state. Applications should be made early.

Grand Master of Knights Templar Returns to East

Arthur MacArthur, who was chosen grand master of the Knights Templar at the convocation in Denver last week, passed through Omaha yesterday morning on his way to his home in Troy, N. Y. His special remained in the city but a few moments. They were about eighty members of his special, besides their wives. The entire train crew wore Knights Templar.

The party took a flying trip through the wonders of Colorado on their return and every one is pleased with the trip.

"It really does a person good to take the trip west," a member of the party said. "One has no idea of the extent of these United States until he has been there. Why, for miles and miles out there, one sees nothing but splendid reaches of mountains and plains, with an occasional house. And the air is so clear. There is so much unsettled territory out there it is wonder that so many people flock to the crowded cities."

Three specials passed through Omaha yesterday, bearing returning Knights Templar, Chicago No. 19 and the St. Bernard order of Chicago.
