

The Society Bee-Hive

BY MELLIFICIA. Thursday, August 28, 1913.

SOME of the prominent physicians of this city who attended the international medical meeting in London recently acquired a few things besides medical knowledge while on their trip. "I have never had time to learn these new dances," remarked one well known doctor, "until on shipboard. Everyone seemed to be having the time of his life dancing each evening on deck, so I joined the merry throng and worked as hard learning the one-step, the tango and the castle walk as I worked while in Europe studying medicine. "The morning and early afternoon on shipboard was spent playing bridge. About 4 o'clock tea was served and the rest of the afternoon devoted to dancing. Immediately after dinner dancing was enjoyed until midnight; the rolling of the steamer made the dancing all the more exciting and interesting."

Chicago Woman Chief Speaker for Labor Day

One of the chief features of the coming celebration of Labor day in Omaha, under the auspices of Omaha Central Labor union, is that the only speaker who will not be in possession of a current working card in his union will be Mayor Dahlman, and the probabilities are that he will flash a card on the committee, showing him to be a member of his trade until the close of the month. This determination of the committee, and the desire to get a woman of note to deliver the principal address, brings to Omaha for the day Miss Mary O'Reilly of Chicago, a school teacher, a member of the Chicago School Teachers' union, a delegate to the Chicago Federation of Labor, and an energetic worker in the cause of the social uplift. Miss O'Reilly is a native of western Texas, the daughter of a stone cutter, and learned her trades unionism in the school of experience. Most of her childhood school days were spent in the town of San Saba, Tex., followed later by some years in the schools of Joliet, Ill. But it is opportunities for systematic instruction for reading and an early intense interest in economics and scientific studies have made Miss O'Reilly an educated, cultured woman—a clear thinker and a forceful, interesting and instructive speaker. It has ever been and is still a matter of pride with Miss O'Reilly that her great-grandfather was a member of the first trade union organized in America—the old stonecutters' union. As a school teacher she contributed to the Stonecutters' Journal. When this zealous young teacher went into the Chicago Federation, serving as a delegate from that body to the Chicago Federation of Labor at several years. She worked with the Women's Trade Union League of which she is a member, during the Chicago Garment Workers' strike, organizing, raising funds, picketing, always ready to serve most helpfully and willingly in any capacity at any time.

MARY O'REILLY.

Her close study of sociologic questions has made clear to her how many factors enter into the makeup of the life of the individual aside from his own will; but following always her firm conviction that every person should render useful service for benefits conferred by society, of some kind to society in exchange for the benefits received. Miss O'Reilly has directed her fine ability to aid wherever possible in securing justice for those who toil in any capacity that benefits mankind.

SAYS SHE PAID 'OFFICER 90'

Statement of Woman Picked Up on Street Causes Investigation.

RYDER HEARS WHALEN'S DENIAL

Assertion by Girl that She Gave Five Dollars to Policeman in Plain Clothes May Result in the Total of Officer.

"Why what does this mean—I just gave one policeman $5 to let me 'bustle' in this neighborhood, and here you fellows pinch me. Ain't there any honor among you bulls," wretchedly exclaimed Bertha Huddleston, a street walker, arrested at Thirtieth and Farnam streets by Officers Wright and Rich, who are assigned to "street walker" duty in civilian clothing. The officers sent her to headquarters and lodged a charge of soliciting on the street, against her. "Just before I met these two officers I was stopped by another policeman in plain clothes," the girl told Captain Heitfeld at the station. "His badge number was '90' and he said I must go to jail with him. I told him that I had $5 for him if he'd let me go and he said 'Well it is my job, I gave it to him and went on, expecting to be allowed to work unmolested for the rest of the night.' "Policeman Charles Whalen has badge No. 90, according to the list held by Captain Heitfeld, and his duty is night. According to the girl, she has been working the streets for the last several months. She says that she has never been arrested before, because she had "mited" certain policemen and detectives. She refused to name anyone except "Officer No. 90."

Body of Mrs. Gates Arrives in New York

The body of Mrs. Nettie Collins Gates, who died in Paris, France, August 1, arrived in New York on the Imperator and will be brought to Omaha immediately. No funeral arrangements have been made because no word has been received from Arthur Wakeley, who has gone east to get the body, but announcement will be made directly upon receipt of a wire from him giving the date he will arrive in Omaha. Mrs. Gates, who was a daughter of G. H. Collins, was well known in Omaha social circles, and was educated at Brownell Hall. She also received advanced schooling in European institutions. She was a member of the Trinity cathedral congregation and was devoted to church work and music and art. She was married to the late Herbert B. Gates, an Omaha banker. Mrs. Gates spent her last years in travel and study. She was an enthusiastic art collector and had an extensive collection. She inherited considerable property from her father and also her uncle, J. B. Collins.

REDUCED FREIGHT RATES GIVE BURLINGTON TROUBLE

An apple rate, that the Burlington put into effect a couple of years ago to encourage a couple of infant industries in the southern portion of Nebraska, is giving that road no end of trouble. Two years ago vinegar plants and cider mills were located at Valley in the early part of September, were elected and are of the apple crop grown in that portion of the state. To foster the industry, the Burlington made a 6-cent rate on culls and specked apples, a rate that hardly paid for the handling. Until this year, all went well, but now Kansas points of quiet distress have filed complaints with both the Nebraska and Kansas railway commissions, charging that the Auburn and Nebraska City rates are unfair, as against the rates charged to the points where the complainants reside and do business.

SUES GAS COMPANY FOR LEAVING TRAP DOOR OPEN

Mrs. Hazel Nix, 2877 Burdette street, filed suit in district court against the Omaha Gas company for $125, charging that an employee of that company called when the occupants of the house were out, installed a meter in the basement, and left the trap door open. Mrs. Nix asserts in her petition that she fell through the opening and into the cellar.

COSTLY TREATMENT

"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatments," writes C. H. Lines of Whittier, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.

UNION PACIFIC OFFICIALS EXPLAIN BOSTON REPORT

Union Pacific officials say that the Boston report, which states that the net income of the road fell off $27,500, as compared with the corresponding month of one year ago, does not mean that the balance is on the wrong side of the ledger. In support of the contention they point to the fact that during July, 1913, the net income was about $1,760,000, one of the best money-making months in the road's history.

PERMANENT ADVERTISING IS THE ROAD TO BIG RETURNS.

Grain Receipts for Omaha in August Run Up to Big Total

August of the present year is running close to the best month in the history of the Omaha Grain exchange. With the official month closing August 30, the total grain receipts were 6,500 cars. There were 2,227 cars of wheat, 1,794 cars of oats and the balance barley and rye. With the exception of oats, the different kinds of grain have moved out as freely as usual. Oats have been held in storage on the report of a short crop and in anticipation of higher prices. The grain in storage elevator August 24 was as follows: Wheat, 679; corn, 200; oats, 883 cars.

Turk's Bride Sues Two Men for $20,000

Mrs. Rebecca Omar, a Jewish woman who was married to Ali Omar, a Turk, about two weeks ago, has filed damage suits in district court aggregating $20,000 against two police officers. One suit was filed against Martin Sidman for $10,000 and another against Harry Peilman, charging the men with having referred to her in a lewd, insulting and insulting manner because she was married to a Turk.

Joy Rider Almost Runs Over Heitfeld

MUSICAL PAIR DISCHARGED AFTER COURT HEARING

Frank Spicover, 222 Pierce street, the complaining witness, testified that for the last two months Monoco and Chindrio have been keeping him and his family aroused till past midnight by their determination to harmonize vocal strains with the piano.

Connell Requests Outdoor Clubs to Install Pulmotors

City Health Commissioner R. W. Connell has written letters to the managers of the Carter Lake club, Mazawa and other places where there is an expense of water large enough for swimmers, directing them to install pulmotors at once and have attendants thoroughly versed in their methods of operation.

Today's Beauty Recipes

"No woman need countenance beauty-destroying superfluous growths of hair, for with a few delicate strokes of the face brush or arms can be made hairless in a few minutes. A little of the powdered deodorant and water is made into a paste and applied to the hairy surface for two minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining paste. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair or fuzz and leaves the skin free from discoloration or blanching of any kind. The hot, sultry days of summer multiply complexion troubles for women who use powder or makeup creams. A plain maraschino lotion, made by dissolving an original package mayonaisse in one-half pint which has been made into a paste and applied to the skin each morning and massaged gently until it dries imparts a milky smoothness to the skin and gives it the touch of refined gentility so much sought for by all women. The maraschino lotion cannot be detected when on and is especially nice for tan, freckles and the "shiny" condition as well as for other complexion uests."—Advertisement.
