COMING TO OMAHA TO MANAGE BIG FACTORY.

CLYDE BARNARD, Clyde Barnard to Manage the Omaha Rex Company Plant

Frank O. Moberg, president and general manager of the Rex company, with his wife, left Omaha last night for Toledo, O., where he will make his home in the future. Clyde Barnard, president of the Nebraska State Horticultural society and late clerk of the senate of the Nebraska general assembly, comes to Omaha to succeed Mr. Moberg as manager of the Omaha plant of the Rex company. Mr. Moberg goes to Toledo because of the extension of the business of the company in the east and owing to the necessity for the establishment of a factory there for the manufacture of acetate of lead, of which a large quantity—some 500 tons annually—is used in the making of the tree sprays and other insecticides turned out by the company. The difficulty in securing a steady supply of the chemical in question has grown to the point that the company decided to mass its own, and Toledo was selected as the most convenient point for the factory.

Wife of Gage County Sheriff Prevents Jail Delivery

BEATRICE, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Another attempt to break out of the county jail was made Wednesday night by the prisoners, and but for the watchfulness of Mrs. J. L. Schick, wife of the sheriff, they would have gained their freedom. The men, including Deputy Sheriff Acton, who hurried to the jail. An investigation showed that a small hole had been made in the north wall and a huge rock loosened by the use of a flat iron, stove poker and a pair of shears. A mattress had been so placed that their operations could not be seen from the corridor, and while their companions were sleeping and apparently having a worrisome time, two of the men were at work loosening the rock. An armed guard was placed over the seven prisoners for the remainder of the night. Prof. W. H. Dudley of Chicago gave an illustrated lecture at the Teachers' Institute last evening. Farm Demonstrator Lebers gave a talk on the "Relation of Farm Demonstration to County Teachers" during the chapel hour. Miss Pearl Coppel of Denver arrived in the city yesterday and identified the body of G. F. Coppel, who was killed by a train at Wymore yesterday as that of her cousin and her brother. Coroner Reed conducted an investigation at Wymore yesterday and examined four witnesses, who testified to the condition of the man who was found in a dying condition along the Burlington tracks near a west-bound Burlington passenger train had pulled into the station. The dead man's home was at Benton, Ill., where the body was taken for interment.

CENTRAL CITY MAN KILLED BY FALL FROM A SILO

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Elmer Willis, a prominent resident of this city, while engaged in the erection of a silo on the W. H. Wegner farm, situated eight miles north of town, fell with the scaffolding a distance of thirty feet this morning and lived but a few hours. Mr. Willis was a member of the Odd Fellows and Woodmen orders and was a very competent builder and electrician. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

Shelton Chautauqua a Success

SHELTON, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—The first chautauqua held in Shelton closed a six-day program yesterday. Another meeting is assured for next year for the financial and conducted by the local Women's Christian Temperance union, has cash enough to meet all the expenses and a small surplus. The music and lectures have all been of high grade and much appreciated.

Pioneers Meet at Orleans

Many free street attractions and ball games by the best amateur teams in the state furnish entertainment for all.

Gage County Farmers at Picnic Are Given Fruit Demonstration

WYMORE, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Over 500 attended the farm institute picnic on the farm of Luke Bridenbaker near here today. In addition to a discussion of live farm topics, in which great interest was shown, there was a basket dinner at noon and a concert by the Blue Springs band. The main object of the meeting was the practical demonstration of results from the proper care of an orchard. Previous to 1912, when Mr. Bridenbaker took charge, the apple orchard of 400 trees had no care. Two hundred trees were cut out and replaced with seedlings, the remaining old trees given proper care. Results have been very marked. Prof. J. R. Cooper of the State University of Agriculture demonstrated the proper care of an orchard walking from tree to tree to illustrate his points. Over 100 interested farmers followed him about through the orchard for over two hours. Otto Lebers, Gage county demonstrator, urged better and more dairy cattle, using a full blood Holstein to illustrate his points. Dean Burnett of the State Agricultural college talked on better farm methods generally and especially urged the utilization of products now generally wasted, such as fodder and straw. This meeting was one of a number to be held in Gage county, at each one of which a special phase of better farming will be demonstrated practically. Today's meeting was arranged by the Gage County Crop Improvement Association and the Wymore Farmers' institute.

DEATH RECORD

Marion Brett. TECUMSEH, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—After a continuous residence in Tecumseh since the close of the civil war, Marion Brett died at his home here today. He had been in failing health for over a year and his age was 82 years. Mr. Brett was a native of Steuben county, New York, and early in life he lived in Canada, later in Illinois and Iowa, and following his discharge from army service at the close of the civil war he located here. He was a gunsmith by trade. Mr. Brett is survived by his widow and seven children. The funeral will be held Sunday.

WILLIAMANTIC, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Edward E. White, native of Meenboro, MA, died today in St. Joseph hospital of typhoid fever, aged 47 years. He formerly lived in Baltimore, Omaha and Joplin, Mo. He was a member of the New England Order of Protection. Besides his widow he leaves one sister, Mrs. A. R. Masters of Beatrice, Neb., and two brothers, Lucius of Pine Bluff, Wyo., and Rand R. of Williamantic.

LA FOLLETTE AS A PROPHET Predicts Retirement of Callinger and Others of "His Type."

THIRTEEN REPUBLICANS AID DEMOCRATS IN DEFEATING BRISTOW AMENDMENT, AND BUDGET'S FEE HOUSED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—In a verbal tilt, marked by bitterness on both sides, Senator La Follette today predicted the retirement of Senator Callinger of New Hampshire, republican, and others of "his type," because of their alleged failure to adjust themselves to changing industrial conditions. The colloquy followed Senator La Follette's declaration that republican senators who were voting against a heavier income tax on big incomes included many who had "always opposed the establishment of any income tax." He was commenting upon the defeat of the Bristow amendment proposing a tax running up to 30 per cent on incomes of $100,000 and against which thirteen republicans and the solid democratic side had voted.

New Day Coming. "I am sorry there is a division on the republican side," Senator La Follette said. "There is a new day coming in this country. If the republican party will not see, then its place will be taken by some party that will." He recalled that he had predicted some "vacant seats," six or seven years ago and the prediction had been fulfilled. "It is true that some senators have disappeared from this side," Senator Callinger retorted, "and it is true that the republican party has been put out of power by some men who sympathize with the senator from Wisconsin in his extreme view." "The republican party has been put out of power by the people of this country who sympathize with the views which I am now expressing," Senator La Follette cried, "and they will put more men out of the senate of the type of the senator from New Hampshire before we get through with the disposition of these issues."

Democrats Stand Solid. The defeat of the Bristow amendment by a vote of 46 to 16 came at the end of a short debate, during which many republicans had urged a heavier tax on the larger incomes of the country. The democrats voted solidly against the change, as they had done in the case of the Foran amendment yesterday, and were joined by the following republicans: Senators Bradley, Brandegee, Catron, Colt, Gallinger, Lodge, McLean, Oliver, Penrose, Root, Smoot, Townsend and Weeks. Senator La Follette proposed another amendment as soon as this was defeated, changing the basis of tax. It proposed an increase of one-half of 1 per cent on each $100 up to $50,000, an increase of 1 per cent on each $10,000 from $50,000 to $100,000, and a jump from 1 per cent to 30 per cent for all incomes above $100,000.

Senator Williams, who directed the progress of the tariff bill for the democrats, again declared that the framers of the bill had considered all phases of the subject and had dismissed the idea of a heavier tax in favor of the policy of starting the new form of taxation upon a "moderate basis." Hitchcock Offers Amendment. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska today introduced his proposed amendment to the tariff bill to levy a graduated tax upon corporations for the purpose of curbing monopolies and breaking up trusts. This represents a plan that has many supporters in both parties, and a strong effort will be made to have it incorporated in the tariff bill. It would provide:

A Good Investment. W. D. Mearns, a well known merchant of Whitecloud, Wis., bought a stock of Chamberlain's medicine so as to be able to supply them to customers. After receiving them he was himself taken sick and says that one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was worth more to him than the cost of his entire stock of medicines. For sale by all dealers.—Advertisement.
