

What Women Are Doing in the World

AN AMBITIOUS program, which omits no subject in which the modern woman is interested and which is notable for the number of prominent men and women who are interested in practical results rather than theories whose names appear on it, has been announced for the eighteenth meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held at York October 6 to 9, inclusive.

The committee which gave out the program announces that it is a tentative one and that some minor changes may be made, but no alteration will be necessary which will lessen the interest of the women who will attend. The sessions of the federation will be held in the First Congregational church of York.

At the opening meeting to be held the evening of the first Monday in October Mrs. T. G. Gist of Falls City, state president, will preside, and, together with Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker of Austin, Tex., president of the General Federation, will extend greetings to the delegates following speeches of welcome by Mayor Baxter Nelson and Mrs. Lena Mead, former president of the York Woman's club. Mrs. Carrie Peterson of Aurora, state vice president, will deliver a response to the addresses of welcome and the invocation will be said by Rev. R. M. Lindsay, pastor of the First Congregational church.

An industrial session will follow, when Charles F. Weller, associate secretary of the Playgrounds Association of America, will deliver an address on "Industries Humanized by Recreation."

Tuesday morning will be given over to reports of committees, officers and district vice presidents, but in the afternoon and evening many interesting papers, reports and discussions will be in order, including such topics as "Civics and Civil Service Reform," "Household Economics," "Education" and "Health." At 4 o'clock a memorial session will be held for the late Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker.

Tuesday evening, following a literature session, Bishop Frank M. Bristol of Omaha will deliver a popular lecture on "Brains."

Wednesday morning will be marked by a health session, at which papers will be read by members of the health committee, and a library session. "Food Sanitation," "School Hygiene," "Eugenics" and "Necessities for a National Health Bureau" will be discussed at the health session. In the afternoon a household economics session and an education session will be held. Dr. Charles W. Ford, dean of the teachers' college, University of Nebraska, will make an address on "Vocational Training."

Civics and art sessions Wednesday evening, a legislative session Thursday morning and literature civil service reform and forestry sessions Thursday afternoon are on the program. Thursday afternoon John H. Morehead, governor of Nebraska, will deliver an address on "Conservation of the Natural Resources of Nebraska."

Thursday evening the meetings will end after the introduction of new officers and an address by Mrs. Pennypacker.

Miss Lillian Glavin entertained the sermo-club at her home Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. E. H. Barnes was the leader. The subject chosen for the year was "Natural History."

The Woman's club of the railway mail service met with Mrs. O. S. Hubbell Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. A. J. Anderson's paper was read by A. C. Rawson on "Domestic Science in the Grades." Mrs. J. A. Angus gave an instrumental. Mrs. C. D. Dodds responded to "Current Events." Mrs. W. T. East was elected delegate to the State Federation club convention at York October 8 to 15. Mrs. C. D. Dodds, the president, will also attend the convention.

The afternoon vespers services are beginning with great interest and enthusiasm. It is a splendid opportunity for girls alone and unacquainted to make friends among young women. The meeting is in the second floor parlor at 4:30, with a social hour and light refreshments at 5:30. Miss Lila Banc, director of the household arts department, will give a talk on "Home Problems" and there will be a solo by Miss Glen Sleeper. Tuesday evening will be the second meeting of the Business Girls' club. Supper is served to the club at 6:15, and a meeting following. This club is for any young business woman and new members will be cordially welcomed at this time. Come in and meet the girls and learn the pleasures of the work in this club. Classes and clubs include October 7, including domestic science, sewing, English literature, languages, china painting, music or dramatic art. This is the week to get in line for gymnasium classes and to arrange for physical examinations and ordering of suits. At the request of some matrons unable to enter the gymnasium class scheduled for Tuesday and Friday mornings, a new class will be organized to meet Monday and Thursday mornings at 10 o'clock. Only those having had some gymnasium work will be registered in the Tuesday and Friday class, the new class being for beginning pupils. The Benson Women's club will hold its annual meeting of the year Thursday, September 25, when Mrs. C. H. Tuttle will be hostess. "Scotland" will be the topic of the meeting. Roll call will be answered by favorite Scotch ballads. Mrs. Charles A. Tracy will read a paper on "Edinburgh Art Galleries;" Mrs. Lucas Johnson on "St. Giles Church, St. Mary's Cathedral and Monuments;" Mrs. J. A. McCulley on "Robert Bruce," and Mrs. E. R. Parker will read a paper on "Sir Henry Raeburn." At the meeting the delegates will be elected to the district convention at York, Neb., October 6-9. The West Omaha Mothers' Culture club will have its first meeting with Mrs. W. W. Carmichael, 284 California street, Friday, September 25, at 1:30 o'clock. There will be an election of officers. Mrs. Francis Follanabee, leader of the social science department, asks the executive committee of the department to meet Monday at 3 p. m. at the Young Women's Christian association rooms. The women of General Henry W. Lawton auxiliary to Lee Foby camp of the United Spanish War Veterans held an all-day kennington and card party at the home of Mrs. Lindsey M. Travis, 1327 South Forty-ninth avenue, Thursday. Prizes were won by Mrs. Fero, Mrs.

Omaha Not to Lack for Good Music

Mme. Ottilie Metzger - CONTRALTO, Franz Egenieff - BARITONE ROYAL OPERA, BERLIN, Marie Rappold - SOPRANO.

Mme. Nellie Melba, Katharine Goodson - PIANIST.

Omaha will not lack for good music, according to the fifth annual announcement just being issued by Miss Evelyn Hopper. The plan is for a series of four matinee concerts to be given at the Brandeis theater, embracing artists who have not previously visited the city, and four "extra" concerts given by artists formerly heard here.

Mme. Marie Rappold, whose dramatic soprano voice is considered by Tascantini and many other authorities as the most beautiful on the roster of the Metropolitan Opera House, will open the series on Tuesday afternoon, October 23, assisted by Vera Barstow, young American violinist, and Harold Osborn Smith, pianist.

On Tuesday afternoon, November 25, the second event of the series will be given. A joint recital by Franz Egenieff, baritone, of the Royal Opera, Berlin, and Katharine Goodson, celebrated pianist. Though Egenieff's fame as a recitalist has been gained largely through his perfect and beautiful style of lieder singing, he is no less familiar with American and English song literature. His press notices are of remarkable strength. Both as an interpreter and executant, Katharine Goodson occupies a lofty pinnacle in the realm of present-day artists. She is now starting on her fifth American tour. Mme. Ottilie Metzger, leading contralto of the Hamburg Opera, will be the principal soloist on the afternoon of February 9, when she will be assisted by a pianist and Clara Thurston, solo-harpist. Mme. Metzger came to New York for a series of concerts with the Philharmonic society last season, and, although her leave of absence will again be brief, she includes three concerts with the same organization and appearances in the largest cities of the east and middle west. Mme. Metzger comes to us from the position Mme. Schumann-Heink filled before coming to America and was chosen as her successor.

The fourth concert of the series will be given by the St. Louis Symphony orchestra and an assisting soloist on Tuesday afternoon, February 24. The entire membership of the orchestra will be presented on this occasion under the direction of Max Zach, who has just completed his sixth year as their conductor. Mr. Zach was connected with the Boston Symphony orchestra for many years prior to his engagement in St. Louis and it was there during the summer season that he first established his reputation as a conductor of remarkable ability. As the first of the "extra" concerts Mme. Gadski is booked for Thursday evening, November 6, at the Auditorium and as this concert occurs during the Nebraska State Teachers' association the publicity bureau of the Commercial club has arranged for between 2,000 and 4,000 tickets to entertain the visiting teachers. Miss Hopper retains but 500 seats to meet the local demand.

Mme. Melba, Jan Kubelik and Edmund Burke of the Montreal opera, appear in joint recital at the Auditorium on Monday evening, January 13. These artists will be assisted by a flautist and pianist and the entire combination is considered the most expensive ever offered American concert goers.

Mitscha Elman, the young Russian violinist, who gave a recital under Miss Hopper's management three years ago, will return for a matinee recital at the Brandeis theater on Tuesday afternoon, March 19.

On Sunday afternoon, May 24, the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and spring festival soloists will give one concert and the last of the season.

WILL PRESIDE OVER WOMAN'S CLUBS AT YORK THIS WEEK.

Mrs. T. J. Gist

Kreig and Mrs. Blackett. Those present were: Mesdames Blackett, Travis, Gellus, Fero, Nye, Corneau, Wheeler, Hansen, Kreig, Esler and Miller.

The Wyebe Story Tellers' league will meet Thursday at the public library at 4:15. There will be stories of self control and from Hawthorne's "Wonder Book." Miss Stitt, leader, will be assisted by Mrs. Elliott, Miss Grace Conkila and Mrs. Laverty.

BAKER TO GIVE OPINION IN THE MALONEY CASE

City Corporation Counsel Ben E. Baker will give a written opinion to the city commission some time next week regarding the charges preferred against the chief of detectives, Steve Maloney. Judge Baker says he has not arrived at a conclusion as to whether the charges justify a hearing, dismissing a malfeasance in office or any violation of duty.

Wedding Postponed When Groom Leaves

The wedding of Fred R. Shearer to Miss Hoba McNamara, which was to have occurred at the bride's home, 3605 Burt street, last night, has been indefinitely postponed, the result of the unexpected departure of the groom from his home yesterday morning. It is not known where he went. Two letters posted in Omaha merely say that he believed his action was "for the best."

A. L. MANCHESTER DIES FOLLOWING OPERATION

Word has been received here that A. L. Manchester, husband of Mrs. Emma B. Manchester, supreme guardian of the Woodman Circle in Omaha, died following an operation in Wichita, Kan., at 4:30 Friday afternoon. Mr. Manchester was prominent in Omaha and very popular among his many friends. He was an enthusiastic Mason and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. Mrs. Manchester is in Wichita and the funeral arrangements will not be made until her return.
