SAMSON, lord high chamberlain for his majesty, King Ak-Sar-Ben, sat in his den busily thinking—Tuesday afternoon will be the Floral parade, and all of the prettiest young women of the kingdom will ride in their flower-decked cars. And the children of the kingdom will ride in their flower-covered bicycles in parade for the king and his royal subjects. But how about the "Omaha Wheel club," the oldest organization of its kind in the city. Will the wheel club be represented? So members of the club this morning received royal commands to appear in the Floral parade, but Mr. Bert Potter was the only one who had retained his bicycle, and he has promised to ride his wheel, which was made about twenty years ago. In order to mount this original model high wheel it is necessary to have a step-ladder, and this feat will be one of the leading features of the parade. Other members of the original wheel club who used to ride the high bicycles, but who have not entered for the parade, are Charles Saunders, King Denman, T. W. McCullough, Walter T. Page, Gould Dietz, T. E. Mickel, James Morton and W. A. Pixley.

One Secret of a Magnetic Personality

I have in mind a certain lady who seems to possess some mysterious power of attracting others with little or no effort. When she enters a ballroom she is immediately surrounded. Youth and old age do her bidding. Women attempt to copy her, but ultimately join her circle of devoted slaves. Men attempt to resist her charms, then suddenly make an unconditional surrender.

I've learned one of her secrets. One should look both and feel magnetic, she says. Before going to any social affair, she always wears over her face a thin coat of purified jellied jelly, a harmless substance obtainable at any drug store. This brings an indescribably beautiful girlish look, immediately improves her countenance and even makes the eyes appear sparkling. The purified jellied jelly, which quickly hardens into a mask, is allowed to remain on about half hour. When washed off one feels wonderfully refreshed and exhilarated. It is natural then for one to radiate cheer and confidence. And natural for a countenance so lovely—an affect from a stiff, cold, unadorned complexion—be fascinating and captivating. FOR SAFETY OF CHILDREN

Commissioner Ryder Has Plan to Offer the School Board.

USE LECTURES AND PAMPHLETS

Ryder Will Offer the Co-Operation of the Police Department to Provide Safeguards for School Children.

Police Commissioner J. J. Ryder at the next meeting of the Board of Education will ask the co-operation of the school board with the police department in securing safety for children. The police commissioner's plan includes lectures by teachers and issuance of pamphlets containing rules for emergencies. Concerning the scheme Mr. Ryder said: "We ought to have in Omaha a safety league for children. To start the thing, I am going to ask the privilege of the floor at the next meeting of the Board of Education to outline a simple plan that should result in eliminating many of the distressing accidents to children in city streets."

"While attending the municipal league convention at Winnipeg recently I learned that in New York City there is a society known as the American Museum of Safety. Its main object is to secure safety for children in the streets. The principal method of work is centered in daily talks on safety in school class rooms. After the talks small pamphlets containing 'safety fair tales' are distributed, to be taken home and talked over with the parents. At the municipal league convention a New York official assured me that this safety campaign, which was started last December, has resulted in very materially lessening the serious and oftentimes fatal accidents to children on the streets of New York."

Offers Co-Operation.

"In presenting this matter to the Board of Education I will offer the active co-operation of the police department in a daily campaign for safety to children on our streets, and especially in the neighborhood where the youngsters are compelled to cross railroad and street car tracks several times a day."

"The New York rules are devoted mainly to teaching caution and self-control, but they also embody instruction for emergencies, as when a child's clothing catches fire, when a fire starts in a house, how to use fire escapes and the importance of keeping the platforms and entrances of fire escapes free from obstructions, and many other things. These lessons go through life with the boy or girl."

"I made some notes of the New York plan as my friend outlined it, and will present to the school board for consideration some simple rules that will cover the ground very well for a starter."

Start Campaign to Relieve Mrs. Haslock in Her Misfortune

Moved by pity for Mrs. Nora Haslock in her misfortunes, E. A. Scott, Brandeis Stores, has started a campaign to bring her permanent relief. About $600 or $700 will accomplish this and several tender-hearted citizens have promised to contribute quite liberally. A fund has been started by The Bee in which J. Scott, 11 years ago, Lynn Case, South Omaha, gave $7 pennies and Lynn Case, South Omaha, gave $1. Other contributions will be received. The Bee office or by Mrs. A. E. McConnell, 2111 Farnam street, who is now taking care of the Haslock baby.

HOPE TO DEDICATE NEW CHURCH FREE OF DEBT

With the reconstruction of the residence at Eighteenth and Wirt streets, tornado damages have disappeared in every portion of Kountze Place, with the exception of the Plymouth Congregational church building at Twentieth and Spencer streets. This building will be torn down to the foundation walls and a new structure reared on the site. The new building will be of brick and stone construction and work upon it will probably be commenced this fall.

Money sufficient for the building of the new Plymouth church has been about all raised and when it is finished the members of the congregation hope to dedicate the church, free of debt.
