IS AFTER SMOKING CHIMNEYS

Inspector Wolfe Says He is Tired of Being Fooled.

WILL MOVE ON DELINQUENTS

Two Railroads and Forty-Five Local Concerns Have Installed Smoke Consuming Devices to Help Out.

City Boiler Inspector R. U. Wolfe, after forcing forty-five Omaha concerns to abate the smoke nuisance, says he has lost patience with those who have refused to assist in this campaign for a smokeless city and will proceed at once to prosecute those who have shown no inclination to comply with the smoke abatement law. Wolfe said: "The Northwestern railroad is burning oil on its incoming engines. The Burlington has equipped engines with air and steam jets which are more or less effective. Forty-five concerns have complied with the smoke abatement ordinance, but a good many men have been fit to ignore the law. I'm tired of fooling with them and intend to file complaints within the next few days and will present photographs to prove these places are nuisances."

Wolfe has filed a report with City Commissioner C. H. Withnell in which he says a certain compound being used on coal has been useful in preventing smoke. He specifies the concerns which have complied with the law and says that since all have been given ample time, there will be no more delays. "After working with this smoke problem for months," Wolfe said, "I have reached the conclusion that the smoke evil can be speedily eliminated. The time to eliminate it is now. If I favor this concern with further delays they will think the law is advisory and not mandatory. The smoke inspection department is on the warpath."

HERO OF TWO WARS AND MANY DUELS IS DEAD

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 24.—Colonel James Brizolari, 66, a prominent Italian of this city and well known in the early days throughout the southwest, is dead at his home here. When 12 years old Colonel Brizolari enlisted in the army of General Garibaldi during the Italian revolution and when only 14 was mustered out of the service with the rank of colonel. During the civil war and immediately after its close Brizolari engaged in a score or more of duels, the principal one being fought in 1869 with George R. Phelan, in Memphis, Tenn. In this encounter he was badly wounded.

Officers and Crew Blamed for Wreck

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—"Man failure" all along the line, from officials and directors of the New Haven railroad down to its trainmen, is held by the Interstate Commerce commission to have been the cause of the Wallingford wreck September 2. In which twenty-one were killed and thirty-five injured. In its report, made public today, the commission blames the crews of the wrecked trains for lapses, and scores officers and directors for "inefficiency of management."

FEATURE EVENTS AT THE COLUMBUS RACE MEETING

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24.—Ideal weather conditions and what is regarded as a strong racing card, increased interest in the third day's program of the Grand Circuit, races to be staged at the driving park here this afternoon. In addition to new races for today, several heats must be run to settle features of yesterday's card.

The Horne Review Turfity for 3-year-old trotters will be the first attraction this afternoon, and it is expected that there will be more than a dozen starters. The purse for this race is $5,000. Etawah, son of Al Stanley, is a favorite. Other races on today's card are: The 2:30 pace, in which three horses yesterday won heats, and which must be settled; the 2:15 trot, in which fourteen are expected to go, and a free for all trot.

Your Part In Operating There are three parties to a telephone connection—the party calling, the party called, and the operator who serves both. You and every other telephone user are, to a great measure, responsible for the quality of the service.

When Telephoning

If you speak slowly and distinctly, and if the called subscriber answers promptly, the telephone operator, wishing to serve you quickly, will seldom make a mistake. Good telephone service depends very largely upon the attitude of the users of the telephone.
