BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 28.-Defeat overtook Francis Oulmet, the open golf champion of just a week, in the singles for the Leslie cup today. His conqueror, by a score of one up for the eighteen holes, was R. S. Worthington of Shawnee, Pa., leader of the Philadelphia team. The Massachusetts players, however, recaptured the trophy by a total score of twelve to three. Oulmet showed unmistakable signs of being over-golfed, for his drives and second shots found traps continually, while his putting was unusually weak. His score of eighty-seven for the eighteen holes was the poorest he has made In weeks on the country club course. Worthington was not much better, with an eighty-four, and the many holes were captured in a couple of strokes worse than bogey. Worthington is champion has he ever contested in a sectional or

> All the chicken shooting is now at its best, and there are birds still comparatively plentiful despite the inroads made on their ranks by the early September shooters. There are fewer parties going out from this city than was ever known before, however, and this is undoubtedly traceable to the measly law permitting the shooting of but ten birds a day and the possession of only ten at any one time, as the city sportsman deems it a waste of time and money to make the

> Thus, the country gunners are in their glory, and be it said that there are few of them who hold the restrictions above mentioned in very great awe. Of course, there are many true sportsmen among the rural contingent who will absolutely refuse to overstep the rights accorded them, just as there is in the towns and cities, and then there are hordes of the other sort.

While the general expectation is for unusually good duck shooting this fall -as is inevitably the case before every dawning season-the conditions are better suited for poor shooting, as there is never an abundance of birds in seasons where there has been a lack of water, This is a condition that never falls to send all the birds to the lakes that are fairly high, and likewise the hunters. As a consequence the fowl are soon burnt out, and after a few days wing their way to the south.

Little Shooting Along Platte. There will be little or no shooting along the Platte, for as far up as Chapman, even yet today, it is as dry as a bone, and the only birds that will be attracted thither will be scattering flocks of teaand mallard in search of gravel merely. No canvasback, redhead, widgeon or blackjack will monkey much along ita arid channel. Of course there is plenty of feed, but this proves but a pont magnet, when there is no water. There is to be no shooting permissible at all down the Missouri, that is until November, and that, too, depends on the Weeks-McLain universal bill, which will not become a law until it receives the president's signature.

Weaver scored the only run of the game. Lajole fumbled his grounder in the sixth inning and after making a wild throw to first allowed Weaver to reach second. Lord grounded out and Weaver took third and scored on Collins' out.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Clootte and Falkenburg, with the former having the better of the argument, as all the visitors' hits were scattered.

Present plans indicate that the league will be composed of six all-star teams and the scratch rule will prevail. There seems to be a difference of opinion as to Balzer whether the league will be a traveling league, bowling on all three alleys, or whether they will use the Association alleys for their home. Those in favor of the traveling league argue that it makes better all-alley bowlers, thereby fitting the teams to be in better condition at the big tournaments, where the tion to the above, they also say that all Martin Tigers . alleys are all new and strange. Those against the traveling league have objections to the lugging around of Fritscher Hancock heavy bowling balls. Another objection is that the traveling method will split up the league and prevent them from coming together at the same place every week, as they have done in the past, These points will be thoroughly settled this morning.
