

Nebraska RATES OCCUPY THE BOARD

Hearing on Order Continues at Capital City.

McVANN SPEAKS FOR OMAHA

Believes that Proposed Change in Rates Would Require Change in Interstate Rates and Adjustment of Business.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The second day of the rate hearing before the State Railway commission to a great extent covered the same ground already brought out. It was expected that the representatives of the railroads would have a chance to present their claims yesterday, but the jobbers were on the stand all the afternoon and were still arguing this morning when the hearing was again taken up.

E. J. McVann of the traffic department of the Omaha Commercial club talked on the attitude of Omaha on the proposed rate as prepared by the commission. He said Omaha did not have any advantage over other distributing towns, but was on a parity with them. He was of the opinion that the proposed maximum class rates would in effect also be minimum rates because the roads would not accept 25 per cent reduction and then adjust their rates lower. He thought that the best way was for the commission to drop its plan and readjust rates in individual cases wherever it is needed. He did not think this would be such a big undertaking as many supposed.

Position of Jobbers. Mr. Vann thought that the commission's distance rates would require changes in interstate rates and it would cause a hardship to jobbers all over the state to adjust their business to the new schedule if it was enforced. He thought that the distance rates would work a hardship on consumers and merchants. Merchants on cross-country roads, in his opinion, would have different rates because of the different length of roads and the trade would go to the towns which had the advantage. Under the present rates, he said that the towns have the choice of several markets. With the proposed rates the state would be divided into zones and jobbers would be restricted to their own zone.

In his contention Mr. Vann was seconded by Secretary Whitten of the Lincoln Commercial club, who believed that the proposed rate would eliminate Lincoln jobbers from the territory on the Northwestern north of Fremont and the Union Pacific territory of Central City.

Coates Opposes Plan

F. J. Coates of Grand Island, representing a wholesale fruit firm, made a strong plea against the proposed rates, contending among other things there was a lack of spread between the different classes.

The commission in preparing the schedule of rates which is the bone of contention is endeavoring to follow the plans of commissions of Iowa and other states, but according to Chairman Clarke the proposed rate is not as strong as that in vogue in Iowa. "We are endeavoring to help the consumer," said Mr. Clarke this morning, "and we are trying to establish a rate which will enable him to get his stuff at a little less than he is paying now."

C. H. Kelsey of Norfolk was in the limelight most of the time this forenoon in opposition to a flat distance tariff and defended the right of jobbing centers to make lower rates than those in effect in other places.

Norfolk's Attitude. Mr. Kelsey thought that Norfolk was entitled to an advantage in rates over the smaller towns in that locality, but the town would be satisfied to be put on an equality with Lincoln and Omaha and some other jobbing centers. He said that at the present jobbing rates Omaha and Lincoln can ship to Norfolk territory at slightly lower rates than the Norfolk merchants could do.

Mr. Kelsey thought that Norfolk should be allowed to go east as far as Wayne and south to Wisner on an equal basis as Omaha or Lincoln or even Sioux City. Commissioner Hall asked Mr. Kelsey if he thought the rates proposed in order No. 19, the distance tariff schedule, would work an injury to other jobbing centers in favor of Lincoln and Omaha, and the latter replied that he had supposed it would.

The Norfolk man thought that rates in Nebraska should be made to favor the jobbing points within the state as

Meat Cause of Kidney Trouble

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Arguments in Enyart Case Last Many Days

NEBRASKA CITY, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The attorneys employed by both sides of the case in the matter of the estate of Logan Enyart, deceased, who died without issue and left no will, but a widow and $25,000 in real estate and personal property, have been arguing the matter of whether the widow shall take under a prenuptial marriage contract or under the law, her share of the estate.

They have talked nearly a week, submitting the decision in similar cases and their views of the law governing this matter. Two of the attorneys took a day and a half each and one of them has a chance to reply, after the six or eight other attorneys have concluded their arguments. It is the longest and most interesting legal vocal contest that has ever been held in this county. The attorneys entered into a stipulation there should be no limit on the matter of their arguments and the court, Judge A. A. Bischoff, has been compelled to hold court nearly each day to hear these legal gentlemen talk.

Hon. G. W. Berg of Lincoln and Judge Good of Lincoln appear on opposite sides of the case and the remainder of the attorneys belong to the local bar, with Judge Paul Jensen on one side and L. F. Jackson opposing, with several attorneys assisting.

Notes from Nebraska City and Otoe County

NEBRASKA CITY, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—There is a lively race on in this judicial district for the appointment of judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge H. D. Travis. The candidates in this county are D. W. Livingston and W. Wilson, and in Cass county D. W. Dwyer. All of the candidates are lining up their friends, and the governor is being bombarded with all kinds of endorsements, and from all of the citizens without regard to their party affiliations.

It will be one of the largest barns ever erected in this county.

Miss Anna Cowles, one of the teachers on a school south of the city, closed her school last Friday and Monday morning failed to appear at the opening of the same, and yesterday a letter was received from her in the western part of the state, stating she had come home for a visit and concluded not to teach school any longer. Considerable alarm was felt over her disappearance until the letter was received, as it was feared she might have met with harm, as she did not let anyone of her intention to leave.
