

Members of the McGaffin Family at Their Reunion

The family reunion held at the home of William H. McGaffin at Bellwood, Butler county, last Sunday, brought together eight sons, three daughters and nineteen grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. McGaffin. With the children and the wives and the grandchildren there were forty-four persons present and a most enjoyable day was spent, a sumptuous dinner being served, after which all posed for a group picture.

The McGaffins, with the exception of Robert M. and his family, have lived in Nebraska for years. They originally came from Scotland and settled in this state. Robert remained behind and this his family came to the United States recently and directly to the home of his father at Bellwood. His coming suggested a reunion, as it had been thirty-four years since he had been seen by his brothers and sisters. Last Sunday was the date fixed for the gathering and at the parents' home, Bellwood, the

Those present were: W. H. McGaffin and family, David City; H. M. McGaffin, Polk, Neb.; Robert McGaffin and family, Glasgow, Scotland; George McGaffin and family, Bellwood; N. G. Nantkes and family, Bellwood; J. M. McGaffin and son, Omaha; J. C. Mahlin and wife, Omaha; Fred McGaffin and wife, Kingsley, Ia.; Walter McGaffin and family, Columbus; Joe McGaffin and family, Bellwood, Neb.; Ralph Harris and family, Bellwood.

W. H. McGaffin is editor and publisher of the Bellwood Gazette, a weekly paper, and is regarded one of the most substantial and influential citizens of Butler county.

TO OBSERVE COLUMBUS DAY

Monday, Italian Societies Will Parade Streets of the City.

EXERCISES TO BE AT METZ HALL

Dancing, Music and Speaking to Continue During the Afternoon and Well on Into the Night.

Omaha Italians last night practically completed arrangements for the Columbus day celebration Monday. There will be a parade of 2,000 Italians, representing the five Italian societies in Omaha. After the parade, the marchers, and those who do not march will assemble in Metz hall for dancing purposes. The dance will be on indefinitely.

Speakers last night were Louis Piccini, Joe Sesto, Mosco Cristoforo and Antonio Rizzuto, who will impersonate Christopher Columbus in the parade, and Prof. V. Angelo Notti, teacher of Italian royal schools in foreign countries. Prof. Notti told of the work of the Italians in the advancement of the world along artistic lines.

Columbus' Ship in Line

A float, built by Gus Renta, representing Columbus' ship, the Santa Maria, will take a prominent part in the parade. A final meeting will be held tomorrow night at Twenty-second and Farnam streets, at which all questions pertaining to the parade will be settled.

The line of march Monday will be as follows: Starting at 2 o'clock sharp at Eighteenth and Harney streets, east on Harney to Sixteenth, north on Sixteenth to Capitol avenue, west on Capitol avenue to Seventeenth street, north on Seventeenth to Davenport street, east on Davenport to Sixteenth street, south on Sixteenth street to Capitol avenue, east on Capitol avenue to Fifteenth street, south on Fifteenth to Douglas street, east on Douglas to Tenth street, south

Appetite Ho! Ho! 'Tis a Great Joy

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are the Best Appetite Makers Dyspeptics and Stomach Sufferers Can Use.

Appetite is very largely a matter of signals from the stomach. When one has a rousing appetite at the sight or smell of food, the stomach through its connection with the mind of man is asked whether the food seen or smelled would be welcome.

The stomach if healthy says yes and at once our mouths water and we are hungry from desire—healthy, ravenously hungry. If the stomach be sick then we have no appetite and are actually nauseated.

Water—How's your appetite today, sir?

Guest—"Bully good, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make me eat like a horse."

Appetite makes the glands of the mouth open and saliva flows very freely—hence the term "Mouth Water." This is the first digestive juice. It has an important office to perform as all starchy foods are partially digested by it because one of its ingredients, ptyalin is almost an instant digestive of starch. The process reduces the starch in foods to sugar.

The appetite causing a free flow of saliva aids the stomach by its ability to mix the food eaten with mouth juices which enable it to move readily to its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into the mouth like food, are eaten, then dissolved and dissolved into the saliva. This mass then goes into the stomach and there quickly readjusts the stomach juices so that in a short time food is not offensive and man's appetite comes speedily back to him and he is hungry in a healthy normal way.

By all means use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet the very moment you feel a loss of hunger. The quick return of appetite to you will convince you quickly that your stomach has been out of order and that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were the means of restoring its normally healthy condition.

Every druggist carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and no matter where you may be you can always obtain a box anywhere for 50 cents.

Policeman Corneau is Called Upon for Diversified Duties

Officer Horace D. Corneau, who supervises the traffic at Fourteenth and Farnam streets, is suffering at present from a wounded dignity inflicted by an unfeeling neighbor.

Corneau, who is both a capable and corpulent policeman, declares that after a hard day's tussle with the "boneheads" who pass his corner, he is more than ready to seek the "fragrant hay."

After such a day the officer retired early Friday evening, but had scarcely closed his eyes, when a neighbor's boy summoned him in panting tones to arise and hurry several blocks away where stirring events were transpiring. Corneau put on his hat and badge and hurried to the scene of action.

"Oh, Mr. Corneau, Edward won't take his medicine and I thought the sight of a policeman would frighten him into doing so," explained an anxious mother.

Upon hearing "them" words, Corneau's visage became so terrible it was all the mother could do to keep her offspring from consuming the entire bottle. Corneau departed mottled in gloom and leaning terribly towards profanity.

Mackay prints the following item: We have had to go to the expense of putting in new flues in the steam plant in the church at a cost of nearly $200. This is the second new set of boiler tubes since the church was built. The city water eats away the steel tubing.

One Kennedy May Register.—Only one of Frank A. Kennedy's family of four is entitled to draw a quarter section of land now, and Miss Etola will register for the chance. It is conceded by friends that if any of the Kennedys register they will win. A telegram received from South Dakota gives the news that an agent had succeeded in purchasing 160 acres for Kennedy adjoining his previous drawing. His new luck eighty acres of having a full section.

MRS. DOLLIE OLSEN MAKES ATTEMPT UPON HER LIFE

Dollie Olsen, wife of John Olsen, 283 Webster street, attempted suicide at Twenty-third and Webster street, by taking poison. The police ambulance was called and Dr. C. B. Polts administered medical attention, after which the woman was conveyed to St. Joseph's hospital, where she is in a precarious condition.

Mrs. Olsen has been keeping company with G. M. Ferris, Harvard hotel, and the attempt upon her life was made when he informed her that they must discontinue their acquaintance.

CHARITY NEEDS WATCHING

C. F. Weller So Advises Omaha Association in Behalf of Needy.

DISCRETION IS NECESSARY

Many Families Are Poor Because of Their Own Negligence, and These Are Not Deserving of Continued Assistance.

That charity should be handled in the same manner that a physician handles a case is the belief of Charles F. Weller, of New York, associate secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America. In his address to the Omaha Associated Charities, Friday noon, Mr. Weller said more harm than good is done by promiscuous gifts of money and goods to families.

"The trouble is, not enough pains are taken to find the real cause of the stricken condition of the poor family. When I was sick last summer, the doctor charged me $30 and he used about $50 cents' worth of medicine. The doctor ferreted out the cause of my ailment. He charged me for his services, for his experience, in discovering the cause of my sickness.

"Charity should be handled the same way. We should look into the cause. Often we find the cause is lack of character, idleness, or lack of ambition. Sometimes, the cause is idleness. Of course, we cannot hold the wife or the widow responsible, but we should look into the

WIFE BRUTALLY TREATED BY HER IRATE HUSBAND

Mrs. Alice Lawson, wife of Zack Lawson, 701 South Eighteenth street, was taken to police headquarters late Friday night for medical attention to wounds inflicted by her jealous husband. She was later conveyed to the Wise Memorial hospital for further treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson spent the evening together with a prominent Omaha business man and in the course of the program they drank together and later attended a dance. Upon returning home Lawson became enraged at his wife's actions and after upbraiding her beat her and kicked her into unconsciousness. Her nose was broken, one eye closed, her mouth badly cut and, according to the attending physicians, bleeding internally. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Lawson.

That Legal Cleanup; Justice to Mr. Brogan

OMAHA, Oct. 11.—To the Editor of The Bee: My attention has been called this morning to a letter published in your paper, from Mr. T. W. Blackburn, president of the Omaha Bar association, and your comment on the same, in which you refer him to me regarding your recent editorial relating to members of the Omaha bar.

It might be a natural inference that I had either inspired or suggested the editorial in question.

I think you will sustain me in the position that I had no discussion with any representative of your newspaper regarding the subject matter of the editorial, and had not authorized or suggested the reference to me of the inquiry put to you by Mr. Blackburn.

I have at all times declined to discuss with the representatives of any newspaper the action taken by the committee appointed by the district judge to investigate charges against members of the bar, and I had no knowledge of your editorial until after it was published. I suppose it is also a fact that the editorial in question was inspired rather by a recent sensational lawsuit than by any proceedings before the bar committee.

FRANCIS A. BROGAN.

R. V. COLE RETURNS FROM MASONIC RELIEF MEETING

R. V. Cole, 119 South Thirty-fifth street, who as Nebraska delegate to the Masonic Relief association of the United States and Canada, has been attending the convention of that organization at Buffalo, N. Y., has returned to Omaha.

The meetings of the association are held biennially, and Mr. Cole expects to land the second one in 1917 for Omaha. "I nearly succeeded in getting the one for 1913 for Omaha, but was not prepared to extend myself any farther than I did. With the assistance of a little boost from the Commercial club it will be possible to land the 1917 convention. The next one goes to Indianapolis."

Mr. Cole was also elected a member of the executive board of this association.

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

(From the Beauty Seeker.)

Every woman has it in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how soiled, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary mercurialized wax will actually remove it, and Nature will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's. The action of the wax is not drastic, but gentle and agreeable. Minute particles of scurf are swept off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual, continual improvement. One ounce of mercurialized wax, procurable at any drug store, suffices for most cases. It is put on at bedtime like cold cream and taken off the morning with warm water. It is a certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moth patches, blackheads and pimples.

Wrinkles can be treated with benefit by bathing the face in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce powdered salicylic in 4 pint witch hazel. Instantaneous results are secured.—Advertisement.
