Policeman Flynn On Retired List

After serving faithfully and continuously on the Omaha police department ever since May 25, 1891, Patrolman Dick Flynn, one of the best liked officers in the department, turned in his shield and keys yesterday to Chief Dunn and asked to be placed on the retired list. Mr. Flynn is about 60 years of age and has walked the downtown beats since he became connected with the department. Nearly all of the older business men of Omaha are numbered in his list of friends. Police Captain Dempsey, who knew Flynn intimately, said last night: "Dick Flynn is one of the best officers I know. He had exceptionally good judgment, was fair-minded and always did the right thing at the right time. He is one of the men that the department can ill afford to lose. His record is spotless and some of the most important arrests made during the last twenty years are to his credit."

Holdup Game Worked in the City Lockup

To Lydia Hall, a negro woman of the lower Capitol avenue district, goes the prize for sheer nerve. She was arrested last night with some fifteen other negro women by the police in a raid. A few hours later two white girls giving the names of Evelyn Thaw and Jeanne Brown were locked up in the same cell. The two girls were not searched before being locked up and each had a few dollars in her stockings. Lydia had a knife in her and as soon as Jailer Byrnes was out of sight she promptly "stuck up" the white women, securing $2 from Evelyn Thaw and $1 from the other girl. The girls were threatened with death if they told the jailer, but they complained, nevertheless. Police Matron Gibbons found the stolen money in the negro woman's possession when she searched her. The negro was then charged with robbery.

MOOSERS LAUD THEIR PARTY

Victory for Roosevelt's Progressives Predicted at Banquet.

OLD PARTIES CALLED USELESS

Killinghill, Leavitt, Lewis, Henry, Hall and Others Tell Why They Believe Will Continue as Progressives.

Bull moosers spoke of the glories of their party and its creator, Theodore Roosevelt, and gazed into the future to a day of victory at a progressive party New Year's dinner at the Paxton hotel last night. "Standpatners," regular republicans, democrats, socialists and others who have not been washed in the blood of the lamb and not of the Roosevelt party were spoken of in terms not complimentary. W. O. Henry was the toastmaster.

The first topic was "Reports from Chicago convention," with G. L. E. Killinghill and John Lewis as speakers. Both went into the nobility of the Chicago convention at which the new party was born and at which its founder, Roosevelt, was nominated for president. They likened the movement to that of an army organizing for an invasion, an army that they felt sure is on its way to victory.

The next was "Echoes of the Campaign." W. J. Braathen enumerated the net results of the votes of November and declared their handwriting on the wall, indicating what may be expected in another four years. For his part he promised to fight with undiminished eagerness and to do anything in his power to place the control of money in more scattered hands.

Leavitt for Bryan. In the absence of Nelson C. Pratt, who was scheduled to follow, H. G. Leavitt gave his views. In these he related how Mr. Bryan is the rightful follower of Roosevelt, saying he wished to convey that progressive ideas promulgated by Roosevelt when he was president were adopted by Bryan and the New Britain movement. He believed that the next four years will spell failure for the democratic party and victory for the progressives.

"What of the future?" was the third topic. C. E. Byers of Valley was the first to answer this question. With him, he recited, it was a matter of choosing between party lines and a party which, he chose the former as a party which, he said, because he was interested in everything that was good for the public, and in his loyalty he spent personal funds to aid the campaign of men on the progressive ticket. It was his opinion that socialism will be stricken from the list in another four years, and woman suffrage and the recall of judges also established. These things, he believed, are inevitable.

Democratic Failure. J. L. Kaley went back into history, cited the failure of the democrats to "make good" in 1892, and predicted with precision that the same result will appear in the next four years.

"Why not join the democrats, the republicans or the socialists?" was the next query. C. D. Hutchinson told of his withdrawal from the old party and said he believed the time for a thoroughly constitutional millennium in partisanship had arrived. Both old parties have outlived their usefulness and now exist on borrowed time.

Bigelow on All Parties. A. H. Bigelow, speaking of "all parties," said they are progressive in their own views of themselves. He then took on the coming administration and admonished that unless the party in power shows a marked tendency to be progressive its power forever will be sealed in oblivion after its term ends. The socialist scheme of economy, he stated, is wrong. While he did not wish to quarrel with any party, he believed the progressive party is the only one that will restore the people to power.

Only Honest Man's Party. According to E. A. Benson, the "progressive party is the only party an honest and thoughtful man can affiliate with."

This was one of the reasons he gave for maintaining a distinct organization.

Dr. Henry repeatedly reminded the men that they had been "defrauded out of the nomination of Roosevelt at the Chicago convention."

"If it had not been that the bosses of fraud thwarted the will of the people," Henry said, "Roosevelt would be the president-elect today."

John W. Towle reminded the progressives that they have in this country a permanent committee on legislation that expects to keep busy during the winter and see that the legislature passes the right kind of laws. He called their attention to the proposed workmen's compensation bill and said:

"The majority of the commission seems to be trying to force upon the legislature a law that will afford the laboring man little relief and will work a hardship on the employer in that it will force him back on the insurance companies and make him pay heavier premiums."

Towle is one of the employers who appeared before the Workmen's Compensation commission last week to argue against the adoption of the bill proposed by the majority.

Taft Reassured by Envoy from Mexico

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Senator Pedro Lascurain, Mexican minister for foreign affairs and personal representative, at least for the time being, of President Madero, came to Washington today to tell again to President Taft and Secretary of State Knox the story of his government's struggle with rebellions, to reassure them of its ability to protect American lives and property everywhere in that republic and incidentally it was whispered tonight, to find if there was a grain of truth at the bottom of recent reports that intervention by the United States was not merely a threat but an alarming possibility.

Although White House officials had no statement to make tonight, it became known that President Taft made no specific demands upon the Mexican foreign minister. He expressed particular interest in conditions in northern Mexico and was assumed that recent troop movements in that part of the republic and Madero's efforts to meet with this country's desires for protection there had proved fruitful.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 3.—The Zapatistas in the state of Morelos began the new year with many excesses. Various towns were sacked, cane fields burned and several persons kidnaped. The loss entailed by fires in the cane fields amount to $40,000.

Taft May Abandon Canal Zone Changes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Opposition of democratic senators to President Taft's plan of putting Colonel George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, at the head of the civil government of the zone, took such proportions today that some of Mr. Taft's advisers urged that he forego the plan and leave the creation of the new zone government to his successor, President-elect Wilson.

Some who talked with the president early in the day were convinced that he would abandon his plans. Others in close touch with the president were positive that, out of consideration for Colonel Goethals, whom he does not wish to involve in a political dispute, he would give up the idea, and that Colonel Goethals, immediately after appearing before the congressional committee formulating appropriations for fortification of the canal, would return to his work.

One feature of the plan, however, if Colonel Goethals is not put at the head of the zone government, is to place all employes on the canal work under civil service by the president's executive order. A few employes on the isthmus already are in the civil service, but the great number of canal workers have been appointed by the Isthmian Canal commission.

Castro Friendly to American People

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Cipriano Castro, ex-president of Venezuela, engaged passage this afternoon on the steamship America of the Hamburg-American line, sailing for Hamburg Saturday 8 a. m. Castro will have a room and bath in cabin No. 152. His valet will accompany him.

The officers of the Hamburg-American line said that, so far as they knew, the Venezuelan would board the steamer at its pier like any other passenger. This would require him, for a short time at least, to tread the soil of this country, from which he was barred when he arrived here from Europe Tuesday on the French liner La Touraine.

General Castro today denied that he was seeking to stir up another revolution in Venezuela. "It is impossible for me," he said, "to regain my lost fortunes. There is no reason to think that I want to stir up trouble and no proof. This last word I give to the American people. While I return I pray for the prosperity of the grand people of the United States."

BROTHER OF MADERO BARELY ESCAPES ARREST

BURLINGTON, Ia., Jan. 3.—Carlos Madero, brother of the president of Mexico, who is visiting a college friend here, was with a party of automobilists when arrested yesterday for speeding. The police were not aware of Madero's identity and, supposing him to be the driver, were about to arrest him when they were made aware of the situation. Had the arrest been made the United States government might have had a diplomatic tangle to adjust, as young Madero is said to be his brother's confidential representative in secret missions concerning Mexican affairs in this country. As it turned out, Mr. Madero's friend was fined and Madero considered the incident as a huge joke on his college chum.

SHOW NEBRASKA AEROPLANE

Only One of Kind in Machinery Hall "Made-in-Nebraska" Show.

CITY OF OMAHA MAY EXHIBIT Caricatures of Sullix Coming from Sputh to Form Background of Elaborate Decorative Plan.

So great has been the demand for main floor space in the "Made-in-Nebraska" show, which will be held in the Auditorium in March, that arrangements have been made looking to the putting on of an annex in the form of a machinery department. In co-operation with the Automobile show, the floor of the basement, which was used at the first Omaha Land show for lecture rooms and fish exhibits, is to be floored over and a number of splendid machinery exhibits will be installed there.

The only aeroplane ever made in Nebraska will be shown in operation, as far as the working of the paddle blade and motor is concerned. This machine is somewhat similar to the Curtis type, but is considered better, so far as safety and speed are concerned. It was made in Omaha and was used last fall for the filling of two practical fair dates, at each of which the aviator was paid $1,000. Another interesting machinery exhibit will be that of an ice-making plant. Every different type of "Nebraska-Made" gasoline engine will be shown and there will be a number of other very attractive machinery exhibits.

Omaha May Exhibit. The matter of the city Omaha making a budget or department exhibit will come up for final action the coming week. Commissioner Ryder and Mayor Dahlen greatly favor the plan of showing in the balcony the work of the various municipal departments. This could be accomplished through the means of charts, photographs and other exhibits.

The plan of the interior decorations of the Auditorium will be settled upon by the Federation of Nebraska Retailers and the managers of the "Made-in-Nebraska" show the coming week. If the plan as at present outlined is carried out the Auditorium will resemble a grand bazaar of loveliness. Several caricatures of southern states will be used in the decoration. Each exhibitor selects his own colors for both decorations, although the booths will be uniform in shape and height. This variety of color effect greatly will enhance the good appearance of the interior of the building and also will satisfy each exhibitor, inasmuch as he will be able to form a color scheme of his decorations together with the colors of his packages and goods shown.

Open Long Hours. Directors of the "Made-in-Nebraska" show have decided to keep the building open from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 p. m. and that the opening night will be designated "Tri-City" night. Exhibitors will have a chance to place their exhibits three days before the opening of the show. This will give enough time for arrangements absolutely to assure the show to open on time at 6 o'clock on the evening of March 5.

The moving picture shows and animated lectures on manufacturing industries and other topics will be given in specially fitted lecture rooms seating 500 people. These lectures and picture shows will be free, one admission of 25 cents covering every feature in the building.

RAILROADS SEE MILLERS ON FLOUR RATE PROTEST. Committees representing the Nebraska Millers' Protective association on one side and railroads operating in Nebraska on the other met at the home yesterday to discuss the millers' complaints against alleged discrimination in favor of St. Paul millers. It is said the railroads may take some action to appease the Nebraska millers, though this information is not official.

The millers have complained to the Interstate Commerce commission that the rate on flour between Omaha and St. Paul is 12 cents, while that on wheat is 11 cents. They want the tariffs made identical.
