A. T. Stewart was one of the greatest merchants ever known in this or any other country. The old Stewart store is today a model for the world, notwithstanding the numerous changes of ownership, since his death. John Wanamaker was shrewd enough to see that the Stewart name still means much, and so he spans the years and says on the sign—"Wanamaker, formerly A. T. Stewart & Co."

The Sam Slicks are as numerous today, perhaps, as ever, but they have discovered that the people are wise to their fake advertising and fraudulent schemes and so they hire experts to dish up a tale in plausible phraseology to catch the unwary. TODAY, AS EVER, THEY WILL BEAR WATCHING. People say daily if you know values and are real careful, you may get bargains EVEN from the BARNUMS.

You don't have to know in this store—it has been aptly said: "A child can buy as cheap as a man." At Kilpatrick's that's true, and more—the child will get aid and counsel to buy wisely—and if the purchase doesn't suit mother—money back will.

We desire to thank the thousands upon thousands who responded to our invitation to eat and sup with us on the first business day of the New Year.

Omaha's Genuine White Sale Continues. Saturday the matchless values will be spread out to greater extent to make buying easier for you.

FAIL NOT to inspect the Linens, the Bedding, the Undermuslins. Somebody called these the BIG THREE of January Sales. We didn't think that was bad. At our store, however, you will find reductions everywhere. Come in the morning if possible.

Gratefully, THOMAS KILPATRICK & CO.

When they arrived at the home of their hostess, several young people in the second motor car rushed ahead of them and, to their great surprise, opened the door for them. When the light from the hall disclosed their identity, the culprits who were following, apologized profusely, and said, "Oh, we thought we were following a bride and groom."

The cement show scheduled for Omaha in February by the Nebraska Cement Users' association, will be the only one of its kind this year west of the Mississippi river. Kansas City has heretofore held the national association exhibit in conjunction with its own, but this year has abandoned it. As a result of this Omaha will add materially to its last year's attendance, and at this date has practically sold all of the space in the Auditorium.

Paul Freeman of Oakland, president of the association, has just returned from the cement show at Philadelphia, where he says a great deal of interest was aroused in the coming Omaha event, and many eastern cement dealers are expected here as a result.

The exhibit will be opened in the Auditorium at the same time the business sessions are held, February 4 to 8.

THEOLOGICAL LECTURER TALKS HERE AND COUNCIL BLUFFS.

D. S. M. UNGER.

D. S. M. UNGER.

In this lecture Mr. Unger will take the position that religions are graded to meet the requirements of humanity at their different points in evolution, for the primary object of religion itself is to quicken human evolution.

In Council Bluffs Mr. Unger's public lecture will be on "The Sacraments," Sunday evening in the Theological society's hall, 322 Merriam block. Mr. Unger will be remembered in Omaha for his noted lecture on "The Coming Christ."

CHICAGO WANTS RATES CUT

Asks Interstate Commerce Commission to Lower Wheat Schedule.

BETWEEN CHICAGO AND OMAHA Reduction is Asked in an Effort to Restore Chicago to its Former Position as the Leading Grain Center.

Representatives of the Omaha-Chicago roads are greatly exercised over the action of the Chicago Board of Trade in filing complaint with the Interstate Commerce commission, asking that the rate on grain from Missouri river points to Chicago be reduced from 12 cents per 100 pounds, the present rate, to 7 1/2 cents. All of the Omaha representatives admit that this reduction would restore Chicago to its place as the grain market for Missouri river territory, but that it would bankrupt the roads if they should be forced to carry the grain at this rate. They contend that on an 80,000 pound capacity car, which is the type of the new cars in use, under the present rate the gross revenue derived from hauling a car of wheat to Chicago is $38. However, they say this is not all profit, for there are fixed charges that have to come out. According to railroad men, the fixed charges on an 80,000 pound car are as follows: Switching, $10; elevation, $8; cooperage, $8; leaving $74 for hauling the car 100 miles. If these were the only charges, the railroad men say they could pay expenses, but according to them they are not. They insist that there is a shrinkage charge that will average not far from $20 per car, due to loss of grain in handling and leakage along the road. This brings the revenue down to $54 per car.

On a basis of the proposed rate of 7 1/2 cents per 100 pounds, railroad men say the fixed charges would be practically the same, while the gross revenue would be reduced to $40 and the net, aside from the transportation, to $18. On a 60,000 pound capacity car, they say that handling of wheat from Chicago to Omaha at 7 1/2 cents per 100 pounds would, as a matter of fact, run the roads in debt. The gross haul on these cars would be but $45 each, while the fixed charges and shrinkage would remain practically the same as on the 80,000 pound capacity cars—$44.

leaving but $1 per car for transportation charges and doing the business. Railroad men of all the lines admit that the 12 cent rate to Chicago is out of line with the 19 cent rate to New Orleans, but that the reduction proposed by the Chicago Board of Trade is much too great. They do not believe the position can be maintained before the commission.
