IMPLEMENT MEN GATHERING

Arrivals Are Slow During Morning Because of Late Trains.

EXHIBITS AT THE AUDITORIUM

Entire Structure Is Filled with a Complete Display of the Latest Products and Farm Machinery and Accessories.

Because of delayed train service due to the storm, delegates to the fourth annual convention of the Implement Men of Nebraska association did not arrive in the numbers expected yesterday and only a few were registered at the secretary's office at the Auditorium at noon. The meeting of the board of directors which was also scheduled for the morning, had to be cancelled because of the same reason.

The estimate of attendance at the convention is placed at 500. Implement men of the Auditorium said at least 1,200 men would be here. Of course, not all of them are members of the association, but outside visitors will make up that number. In going over the records the committee have found that the association has gained 40 per cent in membership over any former year. Another increase is anticipated as a result of the present convention.

Practically all the exhibits have been put in place at the Auditorium and the whole makes the largest exposition the Implement men have staged in Omaha. All manner of implements, accessories and vehicles are on display there. Omaha Implement houses are receiving visitors. At many of them luncheons were served at noon. A dinner, largely attended at the Moline Plow company's offices.

EARLY NEBRASKA PIONEER INDIAN FIGHTER IS DEAD

STELLA, Neb., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Theodore Schultz, a pioneer of Stella, was called to Peru to attend the funeral of his father, Joseph Schultz, whose death occurred on his eightieth birthday. He had the first jewelry store in Brownville, locating there in 1854, and is believed to have been the first jeweler in the Nebraska territory. He was born in Germany and at the age of 18 came to America, settling first at Cincinnati. Mr. Schultz enlisted in Company B, Second Nebraska Cavalry, under the late Robert W. Putnam, and took part in the Indian fights about Devil's Lake, Dakota. When the Indian uprising was on the Blue river near Beatrice he mounted his pony and with his gun went to the rescue of his beloved relatives. A nephew, Theodore Uhlig, was killed in the fight. The second wife and five children survive.

WHAT IS THE USE OF CATCHING COLD?

None Whatever, Says a Prominent Physician.

S. B. Hartman, M. D., of Columbus, Ohio, sends out the following pungent and pointed advice to the reading public: You catch cold easily. You have several colds every winter. You do not exactly have catarrh, and yet there is more or less stagnation in the nose. You have got so you expect to have a cold every month or so. Your trouble is lack of resistance. You lack vital powers to resist the climatic conditions. With anything that would raise the nervous tone or invigorate the nutritive system you could go right through the winter without catching cold. It is a foolish waste of energy and a reckless risk of your life to continue in this way.

I have a way to avoid all this, if you will take my advice. First, you should take a cold water towel bath every morning. It should be taken very rapidly, with a wet towel and can be taken anywhere, in a hotel or a small bedroom. A quart of water is all that is necessary. Rub yourself until you are thoroughly warm and dry.

Now, in addition to this you should take a tablespoonful of Peruna before each meal, and if you are out late at night and exposed somewhat to cold, crowds and stuffy rooms, take a tablespoonful before going to bed also. If you will follow these simple, plain directions you won't catch cold again. Try it. Write me about it. It will work, and be worth a fortune to you. For men or women, old or young, strong or weak, this advice is applicable and there are no failures when it is properly followed.

A new insurance code has been prepared by Mr. King, completely changing existing law on many points, while Judge Post has prepared new codes governing jury practice, judicial appeals and elections, as advised to the legislature as to what the commission believes the law ought to be.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Smith & Smyth, attorneys for the state of Nebraska in the contest over the will of the late John M. The heirs to the estate contested the claim of the home and the district court of Douglas county awarded the home but $75,000. The case was appealed to the supreme court and the higher court held for the original bequest of $100,000. Mrs. Craig of Norfolk Sues for Divorce

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

MADISON, Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Mrs. Frankie Craig has filed suit in the district court of Madison county for divorce from her husband, Adrian E. Craig. She seeks a divorce on the ground that her husband has wilfully perjured himself and makes other charges. The Craigs reside on a farm a short distance from Norfolk and are well known, having resided in that locality many years. They have a daughter 16 years old and a son 14 years of age. The defendant is the owner of a large tract of land lying just outside of the incorporated limits of Norfolk which is considered very valuable; he also owns considerable personal property. The plaintiff asks the court to grant her a divorce, the custody of the children, and a reasonable sum as alimony during the pendency of this suit, and such permanent alimony as the court may deem proper. She also asks that a restraining order issue in this case enjoining the defendant from going to her home or any place where she may be, or in any manner disturbing her on the farm until this action has been heard, and that the defendant be enjoined and restrained from selling or encumbering any personal property upon said farm until the final hearing in this case or the further order of the court. Such restraining orders have issued. H. F. Barnhart is attorney for the plaintiff.

KEARNEY, Neb., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—The annual poultry show of the Buffalo Poultry and Pet Stock association opened in the city hall last night with most of the birds to be exhibited on display. Southard of Kansas City is in the city and will do the judging. It is understood that many of the prize winners will take their birds to the state meeting and also that some of them will be taken to Denver to the Colorado Poultry show, where several prizes were won last year.

Salvation Army is Taking Care of Many Families in Need

Clothing distribution stores of the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America have been thronged during the extreme cold weather of the last few days with needy men and women and hundreds of overcoats and parts of suits have been given out.

Captain Harriott of the Volunteers of America has thrown the volunteer assembly hall open to the cold and hungry and many have slept there each night. The place is kept clean and warm and magazines and a few books are supplied for those who care to read.

"I never saw such a rush for clothing," said a Salvation Army worker. "We are giving dozens of coats away every day. We expect those who need overcoats to do a little work in the industrial department to pay for them. If they come hungry we feed them and give them a chance to pay for it by working."

"We have found many families suffering with cold and hunger," said Captain Harriott of the Volunteers. "Yesterday we supplied a family of six with provisions. A brother-in-law of the mother of these children called here and told us the condition of the family and we investigated and found it true. The father cannot find work. We have supplied them with enough food to last three days."

"A widow with five children is very sick at her home on Jones street. Her mother is a cripple and lives with her. We found them in great need, the children shivering in a cold room with little clothing and practically no food. The mother will soon give birth to another child. We have arranged to keep the two women and the children from suffering."

Many applicants for charity are supplied with work for which they have sought in vain. The snow is a boon to jobless men as it offers them an opportunity to earn a few cents.
