

ASKS FUNDS FOR ECONOMY

President Sends Message Requesting Quarter Million. COMMISSION DOES GOOD WORK It Has Already Saved Many Times Its Cost and Has Wide Field of Usefulness Yet Untouched.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Congress was asked today in a special message from the president to appropriate $250,000 for continuing the investigation of the commission on economy and efficiency into the executive departments of the government.

In his message the president says there is no greater service that can be rendered to the country than that of the continuance of the work of the commission until some form of organization is provided for continuously doing this kind of work under the executive.

The president expresses the opinion that the technique and procedure of every branch and office of the government should be submitted to the same painstaking examination as that given those on this, however, President Taft says that ample funds must be provided, and he recommends that congress make the $250,000 appropriation by March 1 for the incoming president.

Commission Gets Results. "In my opinion," says the president, "this is not a matter in which the congress should assume that public money will be unwisely spent. At a total cost of about $250,000 during the twenty-one months covered by the work of the commission facts have been developed and recommendations have been made that if followed up will result in savings of millions of dollars each year. This has been done under the handicap of inadequate funds and uncertainty of continuation which interfered with the making of plans which could not be completely executed within a few months. It would be very much to the advantage of administration if the president were authorized to spend whatever amount he may deem to be necessary within the next two years, the only condition attached being that he render an account of expenditure.

Business Outside Washington. "It is further to be noted," continues the president, "that the offices which have been reported on are those which have been reported on under scrutiny from what is known of the offices outside of Washington, it is thought that in this field that the largest opportunities for economy will be found.

"As illustrating the relative importance of service outside of Washington, it is of interest to note that the cost of clerks here at the New York postoffice alone is more than that incurred in the Departments of War, Navy, State, Justice and Labor at Washington; that in the customs house at New York the cost of clerks here is greater than in any one department at Washington."

The report of the commission contains an account of 110 subjects, the result of twenty-one months of work. The changes recommended by the commission carry definite estimates of a yearly saving of several millions of dollars.

ARCHBALD LISTENS TO ARRAIGNMENT OF CONDUCT AS JUDGE

committed, the people have no redress if the senate does convict Judge Archbald the constitution in this case is complied with, as I believe it will be, the people will again turn to the constitution a their refuge and their harbor.

Another Reason for Removal.

Mr. Sterling declared the specific charges against Judge Archbald, at least many of them, were not the single grounds upon which the house asked for his removal from office. Reviewing Judge Archbald's correspondence with Attorney Helm Bruce of the Louisville & Nashville railroad after a decision in which the commerce court ultimately gave the award to the railroad, he said:

"It is one fact which dovetails into this system of conduct which he has carried on with the railroads, I believe, an inevitable and logical and reasonable conclusion is that Judge Archbald, by reason of this assistance from Helm Bruce, was able to convince the court that their first decision was wrong, and compelled them to reverse it.

"We are impelled to the conclusion that Judge Archbald was determined—and I am inclined to think he was wrongfully determined—to have that case decided in favor of the Louisville & Nashville railroad."

Wholesale Warehouse Burned at Peoria

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 8.—The main warehouse of the Oakford & Pannestock Wholesale Grocery company, together with its huge stock of contents was totally destroyed by fire of unknown origin this morning at a loss of $200,000, fully covered by insurance. Damage caused by smoke and water resulted in an additional loss of several thousand dollars to the H. F. Drobbich Wholesale Grocery Brokerage company and the Allen & Large Wholesale Cigar company, located in the building occupied by the warehouse.

The fire occurred in the very heart of the wholesale district and for a time it seemed almost certain that the entire district would be completely destroyed.

RELATIVE OF HARRIMANS DYING AT HOT SPRINGS

HOT SPRINGS, S. D., Jan. 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Oliver Harriman, wife of a New York business and railroad magnate, has arrived here in a special car, called to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. F. D. ALDRICH NOT ASKED TO JOIN MOREHEADS' RECEPTION TONIGHT

After the inauguration the legislature probably will adjourn until Monday.

Routine Work of Senate.

The morning session of the senate was devoid of excitement of any kind and passed off quietly. On a motion by Hoagland of Lincoln county, the president officer will appoint a committee of six to confer with a like committee from the house to examine the new statutes as prepared by the recodifying commission. In explanation of his motion he said that all bills passed by this session would have to correspond in title and form to the recodified laws and, therefore, it was very necessary that the members of the senate understand fully what was needed.

Dodge of Douglas county introduced a resolution that all members of the senate who have letters to post hand them to the secretary of the senate and he to put on the necessary stamps and charge to the incidental fund. This seems satisfactory to all and the motion went through. All employees will have to report to the bookkeeper each morning if they expect to draw their salary for that day, according to a motion by Hoagland of Lincoln county. No employee will be put to work until they are needed, and it will be of no use for them to show up for duty until they are told that they are needed. At a caucus last night the committee on employees decided to allow each member three employees, provided they are needed, but at the present time the work will done with as few as possible.

On motion of Grace of Harland a committee consisting of himself, Smith of Seward, Heasty of Jefferson, Saunders of Douglas and Ketchel of Nemaha, were appointed to investigate the resolutions introduced by the senator from Harlan calling on congress to pass laws for government ownership of telephones and another for the conservation of the water powers of this state.

House Routine.

In the house, on motion of Hardin of Harlan, the speaker was authorized to appoint a committee of five to act with a like committee of the senate in looking over the report of the code commission and make recommendations.

The following committee was appointed on rules: Norton of Polk, chairman; Kockley of York, Frye of Howard, Stebbins of Dawson, and Mockett of Lancaster.

A letter from Governor Morehead was read asking that seats be reserved for his family in the house chamber during the inaugural ceremonies. The request was granted.

Gustafson of Saunders, Heiliger of Jefferson and Jones of Furnas were appointed a committee to check up supplies and order the things necessary to keep the members going, which will include supplies for representatives of the press, a resolution to this effect having been passed on motion of Fuller of Seward.

Senatorial Fight in South Dakota is On

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 8.—(Special Telegram.)—The senatorial "brawl" is now the center of the state, that the organization of the legislature is out of the way, and the promise is made that for the next two weeks until the first vote is secured on senator there will be something doing all the time.

The legislative followers promise that they will have a little lineup of their own, and that Egan himself will be on the job to look after his own interests, and along with that is the promise of the anti-Sterling forces that they have just begun to fight, and a feeling that Sterling is yet a long way from the goal.

Injured by Kick From a Dead Horse

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 8.—John Francis, animal trainer for a circus, was rendered unconscious by the kick of a dead horse today. The horse had been killed to provide food for the lions. The animal had been dead ten minutes when the muscles of its leg relaxed, causing the hoof to strike Francis with great force in the head.

WHITE SLAVE ACT CASES GO TO SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Constitutionality of the white slave act was admitted to the supreme court with oral argument on several cases arising under it. One was the case of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist. Solicitor General Bullitt had intended to speak on the Johnson case, but changed his plans and submitted the case against Johnson by printed brief.

Wool Growers Meet in Annual Session

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 8.—(Special.)—The eighth annual convention of the Wyoming Wool Growers' association was held in Cheyenne today. President J. A. Deifelder and Secretary-Treasurer George S. Walker, who have been tendering their resignations for two years, the association falling to elect others to their places, insisted upon their resignations being accepted. Wyoming sheepmen are demanding the enactment of a wolf bounty law, and will show the incoming legislature the necessity of such a law, by the tremendous losses during the last two years with no wolf bounty to draw upon.

The questions of grazing in the forest reserves, railroad rates and service, wool storage, wool tariff and kindred subjects were discussed in detail. The forty-ninth annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association will be held beginning Thursday morning.

SODDEN GRAIN YIELDS QUANTITY OF WHISKY

PONCA, Okla., Jan. 8.—Corn and wheat which had been lying sodden in water for several weeks in the ruins of a grain elevator that burned here, turned into a whisky mash that thirsty citizens have carried away by the bucketful. State prohibition officers today were searching the statutes to learn by whom and to what extent the law had been violated.

$1,000 less than any similar motor car value on the market today is this 1913 Electric Lighted and Electric Starting CARTERCAR SEDAN. The Car for a Lady to Drive. 40 Horse Power, 36x4 Tires, Demountable Rims, Fully Equipped. A "SEDAN" type of body is regularly built for five passengers—all facing forward. The "Sedan" is essentially a family limousine. There is no division between the driver and passengers. The interior is one big comfortable, elegantly upholstered compartment, entered through a door on either side. Electrically lighted within and without. Abundant room for driver and passenger. This Cartercar "Sedan" has identically the same chassis construction that has put the Cartercar in such an enviable position today among the class of cars that give unfailing service; cars that stand up under the most racking daily use; cars that do not get out of order or require frequent visits to repair shops if only for adjustments. The simple practical Cartercar patented friction transmission—the friction drive transmission that has forced acknowledgment of its unapproachable economy, simplicity and durability—this is a feature of the beautiful Cartercar "Sedan." It is a feature, too, of every Cartercar—the limousine, the coupe, the roadster and the touring car. Are Friction-Drive Cartercars Serviceable? A question easily answered is this, and a question that is finally answered, we trust, to your satisfaction, when we tell you there are several hundred Cartercars in this territory, and yet it is necessary to employ but one mechanic to keep all of these cars in perfect condition at all times. A distributor of the geared type transmission car would require several mechanics to keep a similar number of cars in perfect trim. Surely it isn't necessary for us to elaborate further upon the upkeep requirements of the two types. More 1913 Models Arrive Today We Invite Your Inspection. Is the Car Guaranteed? What Is the Upkeep? The Cartercar assuredly is guaranteed under a contract more liberal, more in favor of the purchaser and more binding than that offered by any responsible geared car manufacturer in the country. There are no expensive gears to strip, no clutch to replace or repair at considerable cost, and we will contract and agree with you to keep the transmission always in perfect condition for you for less than the cost of lubricating oil in the gear-driven cars.
