

WOMAN SUFFRAGE SOCIETY BLENDIVE

By MELLIFICIA. Tuesday, January 14, 1913.

PRACTICAL expression of the strength of the movement for national woman suffrage is to be emphasized March 3 next at the capital in Washington by a parade of women, mobilized from all parts of the country.

Invitations are now being received by the college alumnae of Omaha earnestly soliciting them to be present and participate in what may prove an epoch in our government. All Vassar women have been asked to attend, and if it is not convenient for them to be present, the suggestion follows that contributions sent to help defray the attached expenses will be met with appreciation.

A signal feature of the parade will be a troop of Washington society women on horseback. It is likely that they will lead the procession which will pass up Pennsylvania avenue from the Peace monument to the Treasury department.

The movement is the fruit of the National Woman's Suffrage association, and it has been planned for this particular time and place because there will then exist an unusual opportunity of demonstration before our national and political organizations and the usual throngs that visit during the inauguration exercises.

It is the first procession to be held by the association and has awakened broadcast interest. There will be numerous divisions, and among the college graduates the caps and gowns of their alma mater will be worn. Washington women are making every possible arrangement to provide comfort for the visitors, and on account of the extraordinary assembly expected, any one anticipating the trip is urged to be there not later than Sunday, March 2. This is for two reasons: One, so that they can secure accommodations without anxiety, and the other so that they can learn of the plans in which they are to play a part.

College women in Omaha were the first to receive official notices, and it is expected that shortly the suffrage societies will receive word from headquarters. A general invitation has been issued through the Suffrage Journal.

The Omaha women have not had time to decide whether they will be able to attend or not, but it is probable that the different suffrage societies will be represented.

Many Guests at Christening.

The christening of Master Ross Warner, the infant son of Marshall and Mrs. William P. Warner of Dundee, Monday evening was celebrated in the nature of a reunion of the Nebraska colony which has purchased a large tract of timber land for summer home in northern Minnesota.

Master David Ross Warner was born last August at their camp there and spent the first few weeks of his life in the attractive Warner log cabin with his first cradle as a birch bark basket.

This fortunate youngster has two god-fathers for whom he is named—Ross L. Hammond of Fremont and David Parmalee, both of whom have neighboring cabins in the northern camp.

The christening robe worn by Master Warner has been in his mother's family for a half century and was previously used by many members of the family.

Among the guests, all of whom belong to the summer colony in Minnesota, were Mr. and Mrs. Ross L. Hammond of Fremont, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crowl, Jr.; Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Sherraden, Dr. and Mrs. Mack, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Dunham, Miss Fisher, Rev. G. E. Fisher, Victor Warner, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. TO DISMISS BRIBERY CHARGES

To Release South Omaha Men Accused of Giving Bribes.

OTHER CASES ALREADY BEATEN

Sensational Charges Brought Before the Grand Jury Are Not Borne Out by Corroborative Evidence.

Bribery charges against former City Clerk Frank Good and former Justice of the Peace P. C. Caldwell, both of South Omaha, and Sol H. Goldstrom, former secretary and agent of the South Omaha retail liquor dealers, are about to be dismissed by Special County Prosecutor Charles A. Goss. The dismissal will be moved because corroborative evidence necessary to convict is lacking.

Last June Mr. Goss dismissed charges of accepting a bribe against P. J. Trainor, former mayor of South Omaha, and John J. Ryan and Joseph Pivonka, who, with Trainor, constituted the South Omaha Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

At the time of the dismissal of these charges of accepting a bribe it was given out to the press that the charges were dismissed only as to Trainor, but an examination of the district court journal has revealed the fact that the dismissal was moved and entered as to all three defendants in that case.

Goss No Results.

With the coming dismissal of the charges against Good, Caldwell and Goldstrom the work of the February, 1912, grand jury will have come almost to naught. Sensational charges of graft in high official places in Omaha and South Omaha had been made before the grand jury was called and continued to be made for some time while it was in session. Charles A. Goss was appointed special prosecutor and devoted special attention to the case of Arthur W. Goss, former claim agent for the street railway company, who finally was indicted for bribing a juror. Goss was acquitted by a petit jury.

Out of charges that the South Omaha fire and police commissioners had accepted a bribe raised by the South Omaha liquor dealers to induce the commissioners to accept worthless bonds, came indictments of Trainor, Pivonka and Ryan for accepting a bribe and of Caldwell, Good and Goldstrom for giving one. The indictments came after Goldstrom had been given a sort of "third degree" in the grand jury room and had admitted the truth of the charges. No corroborative evidence ever was obtained. Once out of the grand jury room Goldstrom consulted an attorney and thereafter he was as silent as a clam.

The case against Goldstrom, Good and Caldwell has been kept on the criminal docket in the hope that further evidence might be obtained, but that hope is dead and the case is about to be wiped off the docket.

In the meantime Trainor has been succeeded in office by Mayor Tom Hoctor and Pivonka and Ryan have been ousted by the supreme court.

Eight-Year-Old Lad is Something of Tourist Himself

Cecil Wood is on his way from Guttenburg, Ia., to Redding, Cal. He spent yesterday in Omaha, the same as many other travelers. Cecil, however, is but 8 years of age and is making the trip alone. Both of his parents are dead and he is going to California to live with his grandmother.

When the Milwaukee train arrived Cecil, carrying a grip and a well-filled lunch basket, climbed down from the car in which he has been riding without asking questions made his way to the waiting room in the Union station, where he remained most of the day, awaiting the departure of the California Mail on the Union Pacific, when he will continue his journey. The little orphan has sewed to his coat a card on which is printed, "Cecil Wood, Redding, Cal., from Guttenburg, Ia." This is his introduction, and it is helping him along, as he is some 16 years old among the passengers. He is traveling on a first-class ticket.

Thirteen Years in Office on Thirteenth, Nineteen-Thirteen

Thirteen years of work as a justice of the peace in Omaha were completed by Justice William Altstadt on Monday, Thirteenth years completed on the 15th day of January, in the year 1913, yet this array of thirteens held no terrors for Judge Altstadt.

"I had a very good day on the thirteenth," said the judge, "and I expect to complete three more years in the office. Then I will be 50 years old. It will be high time to retire then. On account of the biennial election law, I expect to hold office a year longer than I was elected for. That will carry me in the office to three years from now."

Judge Altstadt says he has heard over 11,000 cases in the thirteen years he has been justice of the peace here.

Storz Pays High Price for a Lot

Luther L. Kountze, vice president of the First National bank, has sold a third of his home place, the southeast corner of Thirty-sixth and Harney streets, to the Gottlieb Storz brewer. Although the price is not made public, it is understood that the lot changed hands at the highest price ever paid for Omaha residential property.

Storz bought the land for one of his children and will build a handsome house upon it. The lot fronts 110 feet on Thirty-ninth street and extends 150 feet along Harney street.

It is one-third of the Kountze home estate which has been proportioned in three parts by Mr. Kountze who has decided to dispose of the north two-thirds. The purchase is the fourth Gottlieb Storz has made in that neighborhood.

The Kountze-Storz deal was negotiated by A. P. Tully & Son.

The ground was used last summer as a tennis play grounds.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR WIFE'S ALIENATED AFFECTIONS

Lacey K. Peyton, formerly a druggist and now a broker, has started suit for $20,000 damages against Hugh W. Williams, a local real estate dealer, charging alienation of Mrs. Peyton's affections.

The Peyton divorce suit was in district court last summer.

ADD POWER TO UNION PACIFIC

Latest Changes to Increase Forces in This City.

TO OPERATE ALL FROM HERE
Local Men Now Think Plan to Take Over the Old Central Pacific Will Be Carried Out in Full.

With the executive officers of the Union Pacific all in New York, company men who are here do not pretend to speak by the book, but they all agree that the resignation of R. S. Lovett from the Southern Pacific board of directors and the resignation of Julius Kruttschnitt, director of maintenance and operation on the Union Pacific, and his immediate election to head of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific, means the complete dissolution of the merger of the two Pacific roads.

Railroad men here believe that R. S. Lovett will remain with the Union Pacific and that he will be elected and continue as the chairman of the board. Mr. Lovett represents the Harriman interests in the Union Pacific and it is said that it is the desire of Mrs. Harriman that he remain in an executive position where he can properly protect and look after her holdings, which are extensive in Union Pacific.

Local men now believe that a plan of dissolution satisfactory to the government has been agreed upon and that the resignations have come as a natural and logical result. They figure that in the plans the Union Pacific will take over the old Central Pacific from Ogden to San Francisco, and that the line from Omaha to the coast and numerous branches will all be operated from this city. None of these men expect to see the headquarters in San Francisco entirely abandoned. They figure that a general agent and force large enough to take care of the business will be maintained there.

This, they say, will mean the removal of from 300 to 250 persons to the headquarters here. Most of these clerks are men and a large proportion of them have families. Thus it is estimated that when the removal is complete, a population of 1,000 to 1,500 will be added to this city.

BURGLAR MISSES VALUABLES

Was Either Poor Judge of Jewelry or Else Could Not See.

TAKES INFERIOR ARTICLES

Goes Over Entire Stock of Jewelry Manufacturers and Pockets Articles of Less Value Than Those He Leaves.

During the quiet hours of Monday night a burglar went down the fire escape from the top of the Barker block and succeeded in forcing an entrance into the establishment of Caron & Banks, manufacturing jewelers, who occupy quarters on the fourth floor of the building.

He made a search of the three show rooms and gathered up approximately $2,500 worth of jewelry and escaped with the loot. Drawers were pulled out, show cases smashed and rings and diamonds and other valuable stones were found scattered over the floors this morning.

Either the robber made his search by the light which shone in through a portion of one of the windows from a street light a block away, or else he was not acquainted with the value of jewelry and stones, for he passed up thousands of dollars worth of precious stones and valuable articles for ones of lesser worth.

Four lavalliers, set with large diamonds, were found near the window leading out onto the fire escape by employees upon opening the offices. These alone were worth in the neighborhood of $600. In one instance the robber opened a drawer of solid gold rings, scattered them on the floor and carried off another box full of plated rings.

Caron & Banks are practically the only jewelry manufacturing establishment in the city. They carried such a large stock that it was impossible to get all the valuables in the safe in the offices, and while the thief tried to get into the safe, the mechanism prove to be too perfect for him without the use of explosives.

Had stock in the safe, which would run well up into the thousands, been taken, the loss would practically have put the company out of business, as no burglar insurance was carried.

Detective Tom Ring, who is working on the case, seems to think that the job was done by a professional thief. The burglar gained access to the roof through a skylight, then went down the fire escape to the fourth floor and into the company's rooms. He forced the window with a large chisel, tracks in the snow on top of the building show that but one man was in on the job.

The burglar took from 50 to 600 solid gold ring settings, worth $2 apiece; fifteen diamond rings, seven dozen scarf pins, one dozen cameo stones, numerous Masonic emblems, eighteen feet of German silver chain and a large quantity of jeweler's gold findings.

W. C. T. U. TO GIVE PROGRAM AT MOTHERS' CLUB MEETING

For many years there has been a Mothers' club at the City Mission, which meets every Thursday afternoon. The club has been for the benefit of the mothers who come to the mission for help.

The Omaha Women's club at a recent meeting decided that some one of the departments of the club would give a program every other week for the Mothers' club.

The Women's Christian Temperance union has asked that it may give the programs at the meetings which are not in charge of the Women's club.

The Frances Willard union of the Women's Christian Temperance union will give the program at the Mothers' club this week and the following meeting will be in charge of the social science department of the Women's club.

The Slim Woman Is Winning

The day of the slim woman's triumph has arrived. "The thinner she is the more stylish," say the dressmakers. This would have been said and news for the fat woman a year ago. She would have had to try dieting or exercise. Nowadays, however, the woman who is too fat for the styles goes to a druggist and gets a case of Maron's Prescription Tablets, one of which she takes after each meal and at bedtime, and so reduces her unbecoming flesh quickly.

These tablets, being made in accordance with the famous prescription, are perfectly harmless, and they are, also, the most economical preparation a person can buy, for they cost only 15 cents a large case, one of which is frequently enough used to start a person losing fat the rate of 15 to 16 ounces a day. Pretty nearly every druggist keeps this tablet in stock, but should yours be sold out, you can easily obtain a case by sending to the makers, the Maron Company, Farmer Building, Detroit, Mich.
