

SUFFRAGETTES WILL RESUME MILITANT CAMPAIGN AT ONCE

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst Calls for Volunteers to Take Part in the Gallant Onslaught. MISS KENNY MAKES THREAT Says Lives of Public Men Will Be Made Impossible. ASQUITH DROPS BALLOT BILL

British Cabinet Will Introduce Another Franchise Measure. AMENDMENT IS TOO BROAD Speaker, at Request of Premier, Rules that Changes Proposed Would Make Pending Bill Equal to New Measure.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—A declaration of guerrilla warfare by the suffragettes, including seditious and riotous acts, was made by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant leader, at a meeting this evening. Mrs. Pankhurst called for the names and addresses of those who were prepared to take part in the gallant onslaught.

The suffragette leader declared that there were many women who were prepared to endanger their lives in the cause. Miss Annie Kenny, who has been very prominent in the maneuvers of the militants, added that the women would "make the lives of public men impossible" and in reply to an interruption said: "If you are a shopkeeper you had better look out. It is not just your windows which are going to be attacked, it is something else. We are going to get this question settled once for all."

Many shops immediately began to board up their windows. Franchise Bill Dropped. The cabinet decided to drop the franchise bill. This decision was due to the speaker's ruling that the form and substance of the measure would be so materially altered by the amendment granting the vote to women, that it ought to be presented in the shape of a new bill.

The precincts of the House of Commons presented many of the features of a well defined campment when the house met this afternoon to bring to a conclusion the current chapter of the work for the enfranchisement of women. Mounted and foot police were to be seen everywhere in great strength. Two thousand patrolmen and 100 mounted men were actually on duty, while large reserves were hidden in convenient court yards in the vicinity of Parliament ready to pounce on any suffragettes who should attempt to break the peace.

After the speaker's ruling it was only a question whether the cabinet would announce its capitulation before or after the vote had been taken on Sir Edward Grey's amendment. The amendment called for the omission of the word "male" and thus practically introduced adult suffrage.

Quezon Denies Report that Filipinos Are Preparing for War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Mansel L. Quezon, the Philippine commissioner in the house, made a speech today denying reports that Aguinaldo and other native leaders were fermenting a revolution. Quezon discussed reports, published today, of a battle between American troops and Morro natives in which several troops were killed.

"Coupled with this report," declared Mr. Quezon, "was the statement that Aguinaldo and other Filipinos were engaged in political activities and are preparing for war. This is not true. For the last two months, since the democrats won at the polls these reports have come from the Philippines regularly because the democrats are pledged to give the Philippines their independence.

These encounters between Moros and American troops have heretofore been concealed when it was in somebody's interest to conceal them and they are now given out when it is somebody's interest to give them out. "The Filipinos are not preparing for war. They have faith in the American people and they expect their liberty at the hands of the American people. Especially they will not fight since the democratic party, pledged to Philippine independence is coming into power."

FRIENDS WILL PAY MONEY Sheriff Who Served Warrant Starts Subscription Paper to Raise Amount of Veterans' General's Burial.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—General Daniel E. Sickles of civil war fame was technically placed under arrest at his Fifth avenue home this afternoon and immediately technically released under $50,000 bond furnished by a surety company. He is charged by the state with responsibility for a shortage of $2,426 in the funds of the New York Monuments commission.

Proceedings Are Brief. The general received the order of arrest and jossed it on the table without looking at it. He told the sheriff that it had cost him $500 to get the surety bond released. The procedure of arrest and release was short and formal.

At the age of 81 General Sickles is a picturesque character and appeared especially so to many passers-by who saw him last night, sitting by the windows of his big brick house at the corner of Fifth avenue and Ninth street. The room was crowded with many relics of the civil war. Against the general's chair there was leaning the crutch which he uses. He lost one leg in the battle of Gettysburg. On a little table near him was a large vase containing flowers. Above his chair and some two feet over his head there were two American flags.

Anti-Voting Machine Bill. Senator Dodge introduced this afternoon a bill to abolish voting machines in Omaha and do away with the party circle at the top of the ballot. In speaking of the bill the senator said that the voting machines were not conducive to an intelligent ballot. That is, a man was many times forced to vote a straight ballot, because he did not have time to work the machine in the manner necessary to vote a scratched ticket.

If a man desired to scratch his ticket he was compelled to use a great deal of time, which those in line waiting to use the machine generally objected to, and in consequence he was subjected to uncomplimentary remarks and joshing, which many times compelled him to cut out his idea of scratching his ticket and he voted straight in order to get out of the way.

Open School Buildings. Senator Dodge introduced another bill, which will provide for open school buildings for public meetings of all kinds except for political or religious purposes in
