

THE SOCIETY OF THE BEE-HIVE

By MELLIFICIA. Wednesday, January 29, 1913.

IN CHARMING agreement with an early Easter—and subsequently a proverbial early spring—come now in good season the arrival of nature's first expression, spring flowers. The bright colored tulips, the golden jonquils, the dainty narcissus, the fragrant hyacinths, and the ever popular violets and sweet peas—all make one think that the brightest time of year is near.

I notice that wonderfully wrought French flowers of silk and velvet are being replaced by nature's own blossoms, and the debutantes and brides to be are wearing beautiful corsage bouquets of violets and narcissus, and sweet peas, in the dainty shades of pink, lavender and white.

At most social affairs, spring flowers are replacing the popular American Beauty rose, and also other varieties of roses and carnations.

At the luncheon given today by Mrs. W. A. C. Johnson in honor of Miss Chase, pink sweet peas formed an unusually attractive decoration.

Yellow jonquils brightened the rooms at the informal tea given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Carl F. Hartmann at Fort Omaha.

A variety of spring blossoms were used at two larger affairs of the week—the dancing party given by Mrs. R. S. Hall Monday evening for Miss Dorothy Hall, and at the bridge supper given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Wyman.

All of the spring blossoms are grown in local green houses.

Strange New Drug Stops Scalp Itching

(From Advanced Science.)

Ever since this paper published the discovery of that eminent London specialist, Prof. J. B. Hobbes-Curtin, that the drug quinine could be used for the successful treatment of eczema on the scalp, it has been growing in popularity. The treatment is simple and is used as a household remedy by many. Get two ounces of quinine from the druggist, dissolve it in one-half pint of hot water, and apply the solution twice daily to the affected surfaces.

"Not only has quinine proven invaluable for treatment of eczema on the scalp, but it has been successfully used for salt rheum, eczema, tetter, ringworm and other itching skin eruptions."—Advertisement.

DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

This Recipe Makes an Excellent Home Made Preparation.

It is humiliating to go into a drug store and ask for a hair dye or stain or restorer, as it at once calls attention to a fact you want to hide—that your hair is turning gray. This simple recipe relieves you of all such humiliation and at the same time gives you a cheap and better hair darkener than any other. Procure from your druggist at little cost one ounce of bay rum, a quarter ounce of glycerine and a small box of Barbo Compound; then in your own home dissolve the Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water and add the other two ingredients and you will have a most effective hair darkener as well as a good remedy for dandruff and other scalp humors. It not only browns the gray hair but acts as a tonic to the scalp, makes the hair soft and glossy and is not sticky like many store preparations. It is to be applied once a week until the hair is darkened, then every two weeks. Be sure your druggist gives you Barbo Compound—no other ingredient will take its place.—Advertisement.
