

SCENES IN CITY HOSPITAL

Little Ones Not the Least Afraid of Gruff Commissioner Connell.

THOUGH IN PAIN, THEY SMILE

Contagious Cases Kept in Sealed Compartments—Patients Are in Better Spirits Than Physicians Outside.

Health Commissioner R. W. Connell, who has been known to fight and use strong language to excite men, doesn't strike a common little shaver at the city emergency hospital as a very dangerous man. Sure, he has them "bounced," but they seem not to mind.

Yesterday afternoon the health commissioner was showing the hospital to a visitor, who was wrapped up in disinfectant white robes, and for the first time he greeted observed that a lot of noise is created by the gruff commissioner's visits into each ward.

In one of the wards five little tots huddled up in bed as Dr. Connell entered and one black-eyed girl, 5 or 6 years old, called out cheerfully:

"Hello, doctor."

A 4-year-old boy whose face was drawn with pain, with a white circle around his tightly pressed lips, attempted to rise, "beating the propositions of the nurse. When he couldn't make it he fell back on the pillow and in a weak voice greeted the health commissioner.

"Hello, doc."

Connell asked the youngster how he felt and the boy declared he never was better in his life. He was suffering with diphtheria.

"Any of the children homesick?" Connell asked a nurse.

"Oh, Ma'am, cried a little last night," was the reply. "But she was feeling rather badly. She was worse last night, but she is better today."

His Mustache Palled.

Connell made a "bee line" for the homesick child's ward, but unavoidably was delayed when he came upon a 10-month-old babe in the arms of a nurse. The child was wan and listless, but when the commissioner began to fuss around with it the babe reacted in a pitiful attempt at play and pulled the doctor's mustache.

Everywhere Connell went his coming was heralded with joy. The children who were not too ill to play appeared to be having a vacation. Those who suffered much made sorrowful attempts to look cheerful, and while they had no objection to the doctor's examining their throats, they invariably attempted to convince him they were feeling fine.

"Much better," one little fellow said. "She's gone home," the last in answer to Connell's question as to what had become of his sister, who had been in the same ward. Connell called the names of all the boy's family and there were ten of them.

Although seventeen cases of contagious diseases—including measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, chicken pox, erysipelas—were confined in the hospital, all isolated by green proof apartments, there was no gloom there. The rooms were bright and clean and the inmates more cheerful than their fellows who were skurried past outside the hospital.

"Never Treated Better."

A very serious case of erysipelas was treated with joy. He was a man of probably 45 years, who had been in the hospital for some time. He had been in the hospital for some time. He had been in the hospital for some time.

"Was never treated better in my life," he said. Nurses do everything they can for me. Food is fine and the room is well lighted and airy. I'm getting on better than I ever expected to in a contagious hospital.

It was no with all the other inmates. Even some of the very little children said they didn't want to go home. One of them cried when he was discharged, cured, yesterday.

"No wonder the poor little devils want to stay here," said Dr. Connell. "That little boy lived with a family of six in two rooms. The mother is a seamstress. She said she couldn't afford to be quarantined, so we took the child and brought it here."

"This boy became ill with scarlet fever in a rooming house where twenty-five people lived. Instead of quarantining them we proceeded to disinfect the house from roof to cellar and here is your patient, about well after three weeks' confinement here. He's about through peeling off and will then be discharged. Some of the other roomers in that house was infected."

It is not, however, one round of pleasure for the nurses at this hospital. Care one day a patient with erysipelas. The first night he raved. Four nurses utterly failed to keep him in bed. A call for aid went to the police station and officers helped hold the man down. A few days ago he was discharged, cured. One boy was taken to the hospital Tuesday afternoon, one of the worst cases of diphtheria the health commissioner has treated. He could breathe only when his head was thrown far back. The nurses predicted he would live forty-eight hours at the most.

Severe Erysipelas Case.

Now, an ordinary administration of the diphtheria anti-toxin used by physicians is from 2,000 to 4,000 units. In this case Dr. Connell used 25,000 and six hours later injected 17,000 more. Yesterday the boy said his throat no longer hurt him and he was feeling well. He will recover.

"I discovered during my visit east last summer," said Connell, "that in certain cases the anti-toxin must be increased by many multiples. That theory put into practice saved this boy's life. There's no doubt of it."

To guard against patients becoming infected with other diseases, Dr. Connell has constructed sealed compartments in which different diseases are kept. There is a separate entrance to each. Each is kept isolated, even to the least piece of clothing or unimportant dish.

IOWA LEGISLATORS IN THROES OF FIGHT OVER THEIR SCHOOLS

tion is attracting a great deal of attention, and the farmers in the legislature are becoming resentful of the interference with plans for more effective road work.

General of Senator Gates.

The general of the late Senator Charles Gates of Butler county will take place Monday at the home of Mrs. Gates. A committee of the legislature will attend the funeral. Mr. Gates was a prosperous merchant of the town and a native of Iowa. He had never been conspicuous in legislation, as he was a quiet man and during most of his term he had been in ill health, but he was much respected and was regarded as a man of deep convictions and high purposes. It is probable there will be a special election called to fill the vacancy and it will be held at once.

Appropriations Must Be Reduced.

Members of the appropriations committee of the legislature realize that to get the appropriations down to the basis of possible revenue and to satisfy fairly all interests demanding more money. There is about $1,000,000 that can be used and several millions are needed. For the institutions under the Board of Control and State Board of Education, about $3,000,000 is desired. The ways and means committee of the legislature will undertake in various ways to increase the revenues of the state, but unless a state tax commission is provided, they will not be able to accomplish much.

Many Treated for Rabies.

The state of Iowa is maintaining at Iowa City in connection with the university bacteriological department an institution for giving the Pasteur treatment to persons supposed to be in the early stages of rabies, and at the present time there is being treated from this institution a number of persons, including five children. The children are:

Robert Greenhouse, Farmington, Ia., aged 1 1/2 years.

Godie Edwin, Keokuk, Ia., aged 2 years.

Wills Coffey, Clarinda, Ia., 2 years.

Arnold Edwards, Clarinda, Ia.

John Schneider, Keokuk, Ia.

World Study Agricultural Credits.

The southern congress which proposes to visit Europe and study the credit system there has asked Governor George W. Clark to recommend to the legislature the appointment of two Iowa delegates to make the trip. It will be necessary for the legislature to pass a bill making provision for this.

President Taft in his last message to congress recommended the trip that is to be made. Governor E. F. Carroll in his last message to the Iowa legislature suggested that it would be a good plan to have Iowa represented on the junket.

Iowa Has a Candidate.

In case the appointment of E. E. Clark of Iowa is confirmed by the senate as a member of the interstate commerce commission, Iowa agricultural interests will ask President Woodrow Wilson to appoint A. Sykes, president of the Corn Belt Meat Producers of Iowa to the position. The Clinton County Farmers Institute and the Benton County Corn Belt Meat Producers' association have already endorsed Mr. Sykes for the position, and it is probable that other farmers' organizations over the state will urge his appointment.

CRITE, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—A coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. J. Remis, who was killed by an automobile, driven by Clements Seidhoff, found the death an accident. It is likely the case will be settled by payment of damages to the family. Seidhoff has been prostrated, nervously since the accident.

County Notes.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—At the last meeting of the Board of County Supervisors, an order was issued for the purchase of a sewerage disposal system. The old cess pool at the court house has caused some annoyance and some action in the matter became imperative.

Commercial club of this city is making extensive arrangements for their annual meeting, which takes place at the city hall, February 6, instead of a luncheon, followed by a smoker, which is heretofore been the custom, the club will serve an elaborate course banquet, which will start at 6 o'clock.

The city council has turned down all bids submitted to it for the re-building of the water plant at this place and will pursue a new system for soliciting bids.

City Jail Empty Three Months.

KEARNEY, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—Residents of Kearney, according to the report of Police Judge C. Reilly, have reformed, only one case having been reported in the police court in the last three months. December and January passed without a single "barker" being locked up in the city jail or without the arrest or fine of a person in the court.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

"I am very glad to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Lida Dewey, Milwaukee, Wis. "I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. No family with children should be without it as it gives almost immediate relief in cases of croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant and safe when a medicine is given to young children. BOSKIE TO MILK CONSUMERS Advises Housewives to Keep Posted on the Bacteria Content.

WHAT CAUSES CONTAMINATION

Says Milk May Contain 5,000,000 or More Bacteria and Still Remain Sweet, Although They Not Fit for Food.

Claude F. Boskie, city dairy inspector, has written Health Commissioner R. W. Connell a letter to accompany the inspector's report for January, in which he urged that consumers of milk keep on file in their homes the report of the inspector so that comparisons can be made and the bacteria content of the milk known to housekeepers. In his letter Boskie explains the causes of contamination of milk.

Lack of cleanliness, dirty bottles, improper storage, lack of being in transportation, diseased udders; aged milk—these he says are the causes of milk contamination.

Milk containing less than 5,000,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter and still remain sweet and palatable. At the same time it is not fit for food, unless used for cooking only.

Milk containing less than 5,000,000 bacteria, kept at a temperature of not over forty degrees Fahrenheit will remain sweet and wholesome indefinitely. High temperature milk containing very few bacteria will sour, and be unfit for food, as bacteria multiply rapidly when temperature increases. For example, not many years ago, nothing but condensed milk or cream was used on steamboats and ocean liners as milk and cream soured too soon. In recent years science has given us a method of keeping milk sweet—namely—clean milk and low temperature for same. All ocean liners now carry milk and cream in this way and it remains sweet for weeks.

"Do not let milk stand in ice box uncovered, after removing part of contents of bottle, do not pour any back in same bottle."

WOLZ WOULD CENSOR FILMS

Dodge Senator Will Have Bill for State Official.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—A bill will be introduced by Wolf of Dodge before the time for introduction of bills opens to create a state censor board of motion picture films. This bill is introduced at the request of the motion picture people themselves, who organized a short time ago a state society of motion picture exhibitors.

The bill makes it unlawful to exhibit in the state any motion pictures not censored by the state board of censors. The governor of the state shall be the chief of the board and within thirty days from the time this act takes effect he shall appoint three other members who shall serve two, three and four years, respectively, who shall organize by the election of a chairman and secretary.

It will be the duty of the board to examine all pictures to be shown in the state and it shall receive the sum of $1 for each film so censored. The board shall on or before the 10th day of each month make a complete report of all pictures censored and pay the fees received into the state treasury.

Each member of the board shall receive a salary of $1,500 per annum except the secretary, who shall receive an additional $500. Any person who is shown in a film to be a criminal shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $50 or imprisoned not less than thirty days or more than one year.

HERDMAN FOR COMMISSIONER

Owaha Politician Said to Be After Election Control.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—If that Sugarman pure election bill for Omaha gets through, in all probability it will be R. E. Lee Herdman, "election commissioner for Douglas county," at a salary of $3,000 a year and all the power of a czar, insofar as elections are concerned.

Mr. Herdman wants the place and he has the ear of the governor and the friendship and backing of those who were largely responsible for the election of the governor, with the possible exception of former Governor Aldrich. So, if the bill to make elections in Omaha "honest and fair elections" becomes a law, it will in all probability be Mr. Herdman's duty to see that his provisions are carried out.

STRINGENT BLUE SKY LAW

One Measure Gives Unlimited Power of a Trustee to Investments.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—Before consideration of all the proposed blue sky laws is concluded it is possible an amendment will be offered to declare "the people of Nebraska incompetent and incapable of attending to their business and all persons worth $5 or more shall be placed under the charge of the governor or a state board."

Some proposals that all investment schemes must be passed upon by the governor, auditor and attorney general. In case of real estate or town lots the board may in its discretion look at the proposition personally and have the promoters pay the expenses. Before any sales may be made of securities the salesman must secure a license from this board and put up a bond of $1,000. No advertising matter may be issued by a promoter until the state board passes upon it. The bill does not provide that an attorney general, the governor or the auditor must qualify as expert discoverers of jokers in schemes and neither do they have to prove their judgment better than that of the average citizen when it comes to making investments.

The bill also informs the supreme court that if one section is held unconstitutional this shall have no effect on the remainder of the law.

MINDEN MASS MEETING AGAINST FIFTY-CAR BILL

MINDEN, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—At a mass meeting held at the assembly room of the court house, J. S. Patterson, president of the Commercial club, presiding, E. Bignell and District Superintendent Flynn, both of the Burlington Railroad company, made address, after which the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That there should be no legislation enacted at the present session of the legislature of Nebraska which would include in any one freight train and request our representatives and senators to vote against any such measure at all stages of its progress in the house and senate.

Institute at Hartington.

HARTINGTON, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—The Cedar County Farmers' Institute, which was held in this city on Friday and Saturday, was one of the best institutes which have ever been held in the history of the association. The women's department received special attention and one exhibit which attracted general interest was the one from the newly established domestic science and manual training branches of the Hartington public schools. On the last day of the institute a stock parade took place.

DRUGGISTS CHARGED WITH VIOLATING PHARMACY ACT

HIJ SPRING, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—Complaint has been filed in the county court of Deuel county against C. H. Smith of Big Spring for conducting a drug store here contrary to the pharmacy law of this state. No registered pharmacist was in charge of this store.

J. Earle Harper of Clearwater and Herbert Lock of Great City members of the Board of Pharmacy made a special trip out to Big Spring January 29 to look after the prosecution of this case of violation of the pharmacy law.

The drug store at Lodgepole, Neb., owned by C. F. Swann, has been closed recently on account of no registered pharmacist being in charge.

New Study Courses and Many Subjects to Better Omaha U.

Second semester will start at the University of Omaha Monday. Some courses will be added, and it is expected the enrollment will surpass that of any preceding semester since the founding of the school. This will be especially true in the preparatory department.

Aside from increase in number of subjects offered, the semester just starting will be one of the most important and will be the most remembered of any in the life of the university. At the close of the school year in June the first graduating class will go forth into the work-a-day world. For two years past there have been graduates, one each year, but this year the class which enrolled at the birth of the school will step out. With the spring will come nearly all of the activities which are usually associated with graduation, and commencement week will be as full for the young people as it is at most of the large colleges.

The class, remarkable in many ways, is different from most in that more than half of those who enrolled as freshmen will receive their degrees in June. This would be an astonishingly large proportion in any school. At the university it is especially unusual because those few filtered with the rates in registering and avowing their intentions before a class had ever been held. Upon them has fallen the pleasurable duty of framing customs and making precedents for the university. Outside of the class room all student affairs have been managed by the students and many fetes have been inaugurated.

Deeds to Big Area Offered by Indians

SANTE FE, N. M., Feb. 2.—Indians from every one of the Indian tribes in New Mexico arrived yesterday preparatory to leaving tonight for Washington, where the Indians go to urge the secretary of the interior to accept deeds to approximately 50,000 acres of land owned by them in New Mexico. The object of the Indians in deeding their land to the government, as trustees, for a period of twenty-five years is to avoid paying taxes.

A recent decision by United States Judge W. H. Pope that Indians were citizens subjects their property to taxation.

The delegation is headed by Francis C. Wilson, special United States attorney for the Pueblos.

Sensation in London Due to Land Speech

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The speech last night of David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, before the National Liberal club on the land question has caused a sensation.
