Reed Zimmerman, NASH HAS TIME OF HIS LIFE AT GRIDIRON DINNER

"I had one of the finest times of my life in Washington," said President Fred A. Nash of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company on returning from Washington, D. C., where he had gone for the hearing before the United States supreme court of the case involving the franchise of the company in Omaha. The good time he referred to was the dinner of the Gridiron Club which he attended, as he said, through the courtesy of The Bee's Washington correspondent. Mr. Snyder. "I stayed over an extra twentyfour hours to take in that dinner," said Mr. Nash, "and I certainly felt well repaid That club is composed of the brainlest men in Washington and some of the burlesque stunts they pull off at the expense of the president, the senators and the official circle, are simply great." The case of the electric light company was put over until February 24. Mr. Nash will go-to Washington again at that time to be present when the hearing Mr. Nash says he paid no attention to the proposed Fremont power plant while he was east this trip.

FURSTENBERG SPEEDING WHEN LEVINE IS KILLED

Witnesses for the defense in the Roy Furstenberg manslaughter case in the criminal division of the district court admitted that Furstenberg was exceeding the speed limit when the automobile he was driving ran down Isadore Levins, inflicting injuries which proved fatal. The defense put forth the contention that the Furstenberg car was a police department machine at the time of the accident and therefore was not subject to the speed laws. The police department was considering purchasing the car and at the time of the accident the machine was under control of the police.

The state admitted all this, but showed by witnesses that Furstenberg was driving the car and at the time of the accident was driving to an automobile supply house for a couple of inner tubes; there was no necessity for speeding.

Frozen Chicken by Parcel Post Go at Risk of the Shipper

"Can I send a dressed chicken, frozen, a question that came over the telephone to the information department at the postoffice.

"I thought she was kidding me." the information man remarked afterward. but when I talked with her further I and she was serious and that she really vanted to send a dressed chicken by parel post that distance.

Catherine Simmons, Eleanor B. Stallard, Heasis Townsend, Alfreda Traulsen, Lillian Welss, Ruth Weller, Lillian Wirt, Margaret Woodruff, "She was told that she could mail it if the wanted to, but the chances were mighty good that the clerk in charge of the mall car would kick the chicken out of the door when it got to smelling bad. Many people do not yet realize that the parcel post has provided no refrigerator cars, and that it assumes no respondibillty for the spoiling of fresh meats enroute.

ELGIN LAD WITH BULLET

Henry Bonter, aged 18 years, of Elgin, Neb., died at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday as the result of being shot to the brain with a 32-caliber builet. The lead ball was imbedded nearly three toches in the brain. The bullet could not be removed without almost instantly killing Bonter, so an operation was not
