

SENATE HAS BILL RECORD

Senator Hoagland Carries Off Palm for Greatest Number.

MACFARLAND CLOSE SECOND

Hale of Madison Introduced No Bills Whatever, While Douglas County Has Hundred and Thirty-Seven.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 9.—(Special.)—Four hundred and fifty-four bills were the record of the senate at the 1913 session. This is a greater number than has ever before been introduced and is evidence that cutting down the time for introduction of bills from forty to twenty days has not furnished the key to the situation of decreasing bills on the senate calendar.

Senator Hoagland of Lincoln county carried off the palm for introduction of the most bills with forty-one, while MacFarland of Douglas ran his close second with forty. Dodge, another Douglas county senator, ran the number up to thirty-seven, while Cordell of Red Willow pushed over twenty-eight. Hale of Madison introduced no bills. The list follows:

Eva Lang Back "Home"

Miss Lang and her company, who will in four weeks' engagement at the Boyd theater this afternoon, reached Omaha Saturday morning, and during the day held a rehearsal of the play at the Boyd. Miss Lang says a very busy woman during the afternoon, and last night she gave herself the pleasure of watching the performance of "The Concert" at the Brandeis.

"It is a real pleasure to see someone else act," she said, and went on: "You know we folks have so little chance to see one another at work. Generally, we are all working at the same time, and the very few chances I get to see a play presented by a company other than my own are always eagerly accepted. It is more of a treat to me than it is to the folks who can go as often as they like, and who have the chance to choose what plays they will see and what actors they will watch. I have to take what I can get, and be glad of the chance."

Miss Lang is very much elated over her success as a star so far, but she realizes that permanence means much more hard work for her, and so she looks forward to energetic endeavor. Of the part she plays in "Making a Man of Him," that of Doris Joyce, she speaks with real enthusiasm, for it is the first part she can call her very own. No one can look at her and say, "She's very good, indeed, but I saw Miss Hoagland-So do the role," for only Eva Lang has ever played Doris Joyce. It was not such a very hard task for her to create the role while in stock work, for she had seldom if ever seen one of the stars presenting the part she had to play. It was this thing of "creating" one role while she played another, week after week, through long seasons, that has given her the grasp and ready perception, for rapid analysis, and ready understanding that is so much the equipment of the best of actors. And that is why she was so readily hailed as a success when she went "on the road."

Mr. Woodward is still directing the stage for Miss Lang, and will give his personal attention to the productions made during the four weeks at the Boyd. It is planned to follow "Making a Man of Him" with "Green Stockings," and this with two other modern comedies. Miss Lang will go into Chicago on April 1 for a long engagement at one of the theaters there.

he did not visit the house, where a few of the representatives were taking a morning nap as they poured over bills.

Agitation Started For Publicity Plan to Advertise State

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 9.—(Special.)—Secretary Johns of the Nebraska Press association is sending out letters urging the passage of H. R. 423, which creates a Nebraska public welfare commission and appropriates $25,000 with which to advertise the state.

Some of the members are not very favorably impressed with this bureau of publicity and they believe better results can be obtained by permitting those communities who receive the direct benefits to pay the expense instead of the entire state bearing the burden. Each week the secretary of the state association mails to every paper in the state a statement of the commercial and agricultural doing and in addition plate matter is sent to the country papers advertising the resources of the state. Should a city or town desire a factory of any description the want is made known to the State association and this is given publicity through the different papers. When a nonresident communicates with the State association the fact that he is seeking a location, his name is sent to every affiliated commercial club which of course promptly gets busy.

The townpeople seem, as a rule, enthusiastic over the prospect.

RULE FOR BLEACHED FLOUR

President Does Not Hear Case, as Nebraskans Expected.

ATTORNEY GENERAL ASKS TIME

Department of Justice Not Ready to Act, but Senators Brown and Curtis Urge Some Early Decision.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(Special Telegram.)—The proposition to have the regulation of the Department of Justice concerning the sale of bleached flour by Nebraska millers could not be presented to the president yesterday by Senators Brown of Nebraska and Curtis of Kansas, as planned, for the reason that the attorney general requested it to be put over until he had had more time to examine certain conditions of the subject. Under the present regulation it is said that Nebraska millers have lost practically all of the market outside the state for flour bleached by electricity. It is asserted by the senators interested that a recent decision of the court of appeals virtually sets aside the regulation complained of, and they are seeking to have that decision followed promptly by the Department of Justice so that the business of milling in Nebraska will no longer be curtailed.

What South Dakota Wants. Senator Crawford today presented in the senate three resolutions of the South Dakota legislature, one urging legislation to permit the direct election of the president, one to enact the new land bill providing for a commission on regulation of river navigation and one urging that Fort Meade, in South Dakota, be made a brigade post.

Some action probably will be taken on the application for pardon of Charles L. Hyde of South Dakota within a few days. He was convicted of fraudulent use of the mails, but a stay of sentence was granted pending hearing and action by the president on a petition for a pardon insofar as the prison sentence inflicted in Nebraska was concerned. The stay expires next Wednesday. Hyde is in the city awaiting action by the Department of Justice and the president.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Feb. 9.—(Special.)—Box Elder people to the number of 125 gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jost on a recent night giving them a surprise party. There was dancing and a bountiful supper and so enjoyable was the party that the guests heeded not a raging blizzard that came on about midnight. When the time for going home arrived it was so dark that no one dared to venture out so all returned to the dance, which was continued until daylight. Then the men folk turned in and helped Mrs. Jost get breakfast and the festivities were continued until midnight when the storm ceased.

Wyoming Legislature Will Investigate Manson's Record

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 9.—(Special.)—The Wyoming legislature insists on knowing whether or not Representative E. H. Manson of Sweetwater is guilty of forgery as is charged by the West Virginia authorities. The fact that Mr. Manson does not deny that his true name is Floyd Roberts and that Floyd Roberts had "trouble" of a more or less serious nature before coming to Wyoming is the basis for the demand that his past be thoroughly investigated. Yesterday evening Speaker Pratt's committee consisting of Representative Campbell, republican and Representative Cable, democrat, which was directed to choose a third member and then investigate Manson, reported to the house that they had been unable to agree on any one and asked to be relieved. The committee was extended and a different program was decided on. Saturday Representative Kelley of Laramie county introduced a resolution ordering the inquiry and appointment of a committee with full powers to know witnesses and send for records.

The resolution which will be put through with all possible dispatch is the beginning of a campaign against Manson which will either land him in the penitentiary or prove him to be the victim of a colossal conspiracy. It is rumored that the committee will consist of one republican, one democrat and Mr. Manson. The plan is to have the committee go to West Virginia and thoroughly investigate the charges. If Manson is guilty, it is argued, he will not dare revisit his old home where the authorities have warrants for his arrest. If, however, he refuses to go, it will indicate that he is afraid to leave Wyoming where he enjoys the protection of Governor Carey. The Kelley resolution has reopened the whole matter and both sides are determined that Manson shall either be expelled or exonerated.

PEOPLE ALL NEED MOTHERING

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw Declares This Country Fathered to Death.

SHE CONDEMNS DRY SWEEPING

Says Children Are Now Governed by Laws Made by the Men, and the Mother Has Too Little Influence.

Never perhaps was the sword of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, national woman suffrage leader, keener than it was yesterday afternoon when she addressed a magnificent audience of men and women at the Brandeis theater. Every power of her fine intellect she brought into play, and delivered herself in a voice so clear and strong that it penetrated the farthest nook of the gallery, in which even standing room was a prize sought. Shortly after 8 o'clock the doorkeepers began to turn the people away. Crowds rushed to the gallery entrance, and soon were even turned away from there. By 2:30 hundreds and hundreds of people had been turned away by the doorkeepers, who braced themselves squarely across the swinging doors and insisted that even the standing room was "gone, absolutely gone."

Dr. Shaw spoke for a solid hour and a half, during which time she touched on most of the vital arguments in favor of woman suffrage. Reaching the point of discussing what good the women might do in politics, she said: "We'll find out whether a government is able to protect its women and children. We'll find out whether a republic is able to stop the buying and selling and kidnapping of little girls just as the slaves were sold on the auction block. We'll find out whether officials who are paid to protect these children can continue to be in league with those who trap and kidnap little girls on their way to a hool to that they are never heard of again. We'll find out whether it is necessary for men to grow rich while they warp and deform the bodies of little children to make themselves rich."

Talks of Dirty Streets. Discussing further some of the conditions of the great cities, she touched on the subject of tuberculosis and laid much of it to the dry sweeping process that is used in many cities in cleaning the streets. She said these sweepers were capable of raising the dry dust and filth in such a way in the street that a body would get more germs in it than the human body could exude in a lifetime. "And then," she said, "you pass great appropriation bills to build a sanatorium to take care of consumptives you have thus created."

Dr. Shaw came to these points when she had told the audience that the work of government today was largely to deal with matters of this general character, the development of society, for example, the development of society, for example, the development of society,
