going to be a little discussion right away if the writer is not mistaken in the temper of the people of Lincoln. And there will be some more discussion of a very definite sort when this select bunch of altruistic councilmen come for your votes as candidates for city commissioners presently.

The action of the council is indefensible, doubtless it was well meant and for the best interests of the city, according to their lights; the people may endorse it—but one may be permitted a doubt of the judgment of the writer the state of Nebraska is prosperous enough to take care of its university; the institution does not belong to the city of Lincoln, nor is it an object of municipal charity. If we are to aid the university let it be done in a manner which will be legal, defensible and with due regard to the pressing needs of our city schools. Take care of the children of Lincoln first.

SHUMWAY DISGUISES SELF

Senator Removes Mustache and Friends Do Not Know Him.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Feb. 11.—(Special).—While Senator Kemp attempted to disguise himself with a pig hat and a "since Albert coat" last Sunday, other senators seem to think that some sort of disguise is necessary to enable them to steer clear of the festive lobbyist, who notwithstanding the stringent rules against playing the lobby game still continue to ply their vocation in some manner.

The latest senator to resort to the disguise is Senator Shumway, who showed up in the senate chamber this morning as changed that even his colleagues do not recognize him. The luxuriant mustache that had been a thing of beauty had completely disappeared and was not that he occupied the seat of the senator from Dixon would have escaped unnoticed.

Camp showed letters he had received in 1910 asking him to contribute $50. His salary was then $4,500. The letter to him was included in a letter to his wife with the admonition to her not to make the delivery of the letter to the postmaster "in a building used as a postoffice or other government office."

Camp did not make that contribution, he said, and told the committee that he had understood from inspectors who had examined his office that affairs were in good shape.

Inspector Wynne had told him, he declared, that he would "go into almost any postoffice and take up enough irregularity to put any postmaster out of business."

Under questioning by the committee Camp said that the inspection of his office had been made before any of the letters were received solletting his campaign contribution. He could recall no visit of an inspector after he had received and failed to answer the campaign funds request.

Gordon H. Campbell was present at the hearing today and will testify tomorrow.

CRITICISE LINCOLN COUNCIL

Action to Buy Land Not Liked by Some Taxpayers.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Feb. 11.—(Special).—The action of the city council of Lincoln in deciding to buy several hundred thousand dollars of the taxpayers' money for ground to add to the university campus has caused considerable comment, not all of a favorable nature.

In the first place, one of the most ardent champions of the present site of the university and an opponent of consolidation of the university with the state farm is very much opposed to the state accepting anything from the city of Lincoln. He sees in this proposal of the city of Lincoln an attempt finally to get out of this property or at least taking it out of the hands of the state insofar as its management is concerned, at a later date.

In other words, very few legislators or those familiar with the way Lincoln has been built up at the expense of the state have confidence in the motives of love for the state university expressed by those Lincolnites. It has been the experience of the past that Lincoln loves the state treasury.

It is the plan to have the legislature give the council authority to levy 5 mills instead of 3 mills for park purposes and to add to the "park purposes" the words "university extension."

Some of the legislators believe the state is not yet an object of charity and they are opposed to having Lincoln pretend to give the state anything. On the other hand the taxpayers of Lincoln object to the city council voting any money to buy land for the state. The taxpayers of Lincoln are sufficiently burdened as it is. So it is very doubtful if Lincoln's city council will be able to put across its plan.

Views of Frank Odell.

Frank G. Odell, a member of the rural life commission and a taxpayer of Lincoln, has this to say of the proposition:

The Lincoln city council has come to the relief of the state of Nebraska and the legislature should now breathe easier. A sum of money, variously estimated from $200,000 to $500,000, is generously offered to the university to enlarge the city campus. That the taxpayers of Lincoln have not been consulted regarding this generous disposition of their future substance is a mere detail; that the proposed gift is in rank violation of law and of official oath is another mere detail of no consequence to the grave and reverend signiors who administer our city affairs.

This you get the full significance of that council action. There is admittedly no legal authority for the council to thus unilaterally dispose of the money of the people without specific authority from the legislature, therefore, they generously increase the levy for park purposes, and give the park money to the university. To be sure they naively admit that "it is scarcely legal," but what is the law between friends?

One might pertinently inquire when the state of Nebraska became an object of charity? If the university is to be put up at auction there are doubtless other cities that would like to get into the game. Moreover, your children and unfortunates are being crowded and imprisoned in the crowded and insufficient condition of our city schools; your children and mine are forced to play in the streets and dodge trolley cars and automobiles; your children and mine are attending school but half buildings and playgrounds; your children and mine are attending school but half buildings and playgrounds; your children and mine are attending school but half buildings and playgrounds; your children and mine are attending school but half buildings and playgrounds.

Did we not recently hear something about treating the university as a trust, the intent of which was to "stop discussion of university removal? Well, there's

LINCOLN PHONE HEARING ALLOWED TO CONTINUE

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 11.—(Special).—The railway commission this afternoon handed down a ruling in the Lincoln telephone case denying the application of the city of Lincoln, Havelock and University Place for dissolution of application, and setting Tuesday, March 18, as a time for hearing in the matter when the commission will continue the hearing as long as there is anything to be considered of importance. They considered that the Lincoln company was entitled to some measure of relief on rates and the hearing will be continued along those lines.

ATTEMPT TO USE LINCOLN TO KILL WILSON'S BILLS

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 11.—What was declared to be an effort to postpone action on Governor Wilson's anti-trust bills until after he had departed for Washington was defeated by the democratic members of the senate in caucus this afternoon. They voted to rescind a resolution passed this morning to adjourn until next week out of respect to the memory of Lincoln, thus foregoing a session tomorrow. The resolution was favored by the republicans, and to pass it four democratic senators voted in the affirmative. Later the democratic leaders urged this work and the bills probably will be passed on third reading tomorrow. The seven bills came out of committee today with amendments to three of them.

SUFFRAGE AGITATES MEMBERS

Desks of Legislators Covered with Anti-Vote Literature.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 11.—(Special).—The woman suffrage question is getting to be quite a question around the legislature. The desks of the members this morning were covered with pamphlets issued by the New York State association opposed to woman suffrage. The pamphlet takes up those states in which woman has the right to vote and compares conditions there with conditions in states where men do all the voting. The comparison brings out that more laws are in force in the "men-control" states than in those where women vote. The writer quotes Judge Ben Lindsey as saying the woman voter is controlled by expediency as much as men voters. The writer sets out that divorce laws are more lax in the woman suffrage states than in the others; that wages for women are less in the woman suffrage states. The pamphlet devotes considerable space to the Denver election, in which it says the writer saw about $7,500 paid to women workers at the polls to keep the town "wet."

The advocates of equal suffrage have not yet distributed any literature among the members.

SENATE TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED

Will Go to Lincoln Monument To Say to Be Taken.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 11.—(Special).—When the senate convened this afternoon, after a recess lasting since Friday noon, a flood of petitions and resolutions were found on the secretary's desk. They carried protests against any railroad legislation, against licensing vendors of stock food, against university removal, etc.

A petition was read signed by H. J. Penfold and about fifty other former Nebraska people living in California, asking the legislature to appropriate sufficient money to enable the state to make a respectable showing at the Panama exposition to be held in 1915.

Hoagland of Lincoln county sent up a resolution to let congress appropriate $200,000 to investigate conditions in western Nebraska and make surveys for the purpose of establishing methods of holding the water supply that it may be used for agricultural development. The resolution passed.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy

Some time ago I had an attack of grippe which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your Almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.
