

Nebraska RAILROAD BILLS PROBLEM

One Hundred Five of Them to Be Acted on in House.
STEPHEN HAS A SUGGESTION
Merrick Member Would Refer Them All to Railway Commission for Opinion on Adviability of Passage.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Neb. (Special).—What to do with the 105 railroad bills in the house is now the question before the railroad committee. All of the bills are in the interest of the public safety, so the sponsors say, while the opposition says they are the result of flouts between the railroads and their employees.

In the house this morning Stephen Merrick suggested what he thought a good plan to save the house time, in the discussion of these measures. Mr. Merrick believes very little of the legislation asked for is needed in view of the fact that the railway commission has power to regulate common carriers. He suggested that all the pending bills should be referred to this commission and for the opinions of the members whether any legislation along the lines suggested is needed.

He believes the railroad employees could get a hearing on any complaint they may have, at the hands of the railway commission. And in this idea several members on railroads join, while others of the committee who have in railroad bills oppose the suggestion, and insist that the railway commission has not the full confidence of the people.

The railway commission has been put under suspicion by the house which appointed a committee to investigate its acts, in so far as they relate to mergers of telephone lines and street railways, but so far that committee has no report to the house, though it has again announced it is now ready to get busy and take testimony.

The members of the railroad committee of the house will not take the responsibility of killing off any railroad bills and neither will the members recommend them for passage, so all the light in that has been done before the committee will have to be done over again in the committee of the whole unless the Stephen suggestion is carried out.

Business College Loses Suit Against South Dakota Man

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Feb. 13.—(Special).—It required only ten minutes' time for a jury in the state circuit court of Day county to declare invalid indorsements to a note secured under the pretense that the signers were giving their "consent" to their son attending a business college in Nebraska. The case was an unusual one. The defendant in the action was Andrew Lobner, a well known Day county farmer.

It was shown by the evidence that a representative of a Nebraska business college, while canvassing for students, had stopped at the Lobner place. A son was persuaded to enlist as a student under a written contract by which the young man agreed to pay $250 in installments. After talking with the boy in the field, the agent called on the mother at her home, and represented to her that he had taken the boy's note and that the college would wait until the boy had graduated and secured a position, but that it was necessary for her to sign a consent.

The "consent" proved to be an endorsement of the note. The agent next located the father in the field, and he likewise gave his "consent," as he supposed. The boy, in due time, went to Nebraska and entered the college and paid $50 of the sum called for by the note. Becoming dissatisfied he left the college, and those who conduct it instituted the action in the circuit court of Day county for the recovery of the $250 still claimed to be due on the note. The father, being made the defendant in the action. The decision of the jury released him from all liability.

MILITIA ARRESTS STRIKERS

Sixty-Nine Men Captured at Paint Creek Junction, W. Va.
DEATH OF GOVERNOR DECREED
Mass Meeting at Smithers Creek Adopts Resolution Ordering the Death of Several Officials—Posted in Towns.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 13.—A company of militia, commanded by Major Davis, surrounded the strikers' camp at Holley Grove, on Paint creek, and arrested sixty-nine men, every man in the camp. The men were taken under heavy guard to Paint Creek Junction, where they will be tried for alleged participation in the disorders early this week, when a dozen or more men were killed and many wounded. There are now about 125 strikers and sympathizers at Paint Creek Junction awaiting trial by the militia commission, which planned to begin its work this afternoon.

Holley Grove has been one of the most troublesome spots in the Kanawha coal field. A camp was established there by the striking miners early last summer and the military officers have long suspected that many of the disorders that have marked the last few months originated in the camp.

Military authorities were sent north of the Kanawha river today to inquire into a report that miners at a mass meeting at Smithers Creek last night had adopted resolutions to "execute" the death of Governor Glasscock, General Elliott and other leaders were decreed. Representatives reaching here this morning said the resolutions had been printed and posted at many mining towns for a distance of twenty-five miles along the river.

BISHOP BUSCH PLANS TO COLONIZE LAND

RAPID CITY, S. D., Feb. 13.—(Special).—After consulting with business men and a committee representing the business men's club, Bishop Joseph L. Busch of Lead, has decided at once to inaugurate a movement for colonizing several large tracts of land adjacent to this city. Several ranches have been offered to his grace at reasonable rates and either irrigated or sub-surface of irrigation. Bishop Busch left for Pierre, where he will consult state Engineer Lee regarding the most up-to-date methods for irrigation, and Immigration Commissioner Deets regarding the best means for colonizing the properties.

Later in the summer Bishop Busch plans to visit Europe and induce some of the peasants skilled in the art of intensive farming to join the colony from Germany and France. Farmers in the vicinity of Des Moines and Dubuque, Ia., who are working for cheaper lands will also join the colony.

In discussing his plans with the business men, Bishop Busch gave assurance of ample support from eastern sources and, while he did not so state, it has been generally accepted that his family, members of which are prominent in Minneapolis, are backing the colonization scheme, which has recently received the sanction of the Catholic church.
