

THE SOCIETY OF THE BEE-HIVE

By MELLIFICIA. Wednesday, February 19, 1913.

THE outlook at this time indicates that there are going to be quite a number of Omaha women in Washington during the week beginning with March 2. Not only is a great deal of interest manifested in the inaugural ceremonies, but the suffrage parade will also have its attractions.

The occasion is now only a little more than a week off and reservations are being made for accommodations. Notwithstanding the absence this year of a ball to celebrate the festivities socially, the women are making other plans to offset the disappointment. The suffrage movement will be in full swing, and besides meetings at which there will be debates, Washington society will entertain the visiting women in other ways. Although Omaha's quota of women are not peppy upon the question of equal suffrage, nevertheless some of them may join the marchers.

Mrs. Adolf Storz and Miss Claire Helene Woodard will be among the first to leave for Washington. They plan to start next Monday evening and will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden, formerly of this city. After the inauguration, they plan to go to New York and Atlantic City.

Several women will accompany their husbands on the special train leaving a week from Friday. Among these will be Mrs. T. J. O'Brien, Mrs. P. C. Heafey, Mrs. J. H. Mithen and Mrs. Arthur Metz.

Miss Francis Scheriff was bridesmaid; her gown was pink satin, and she carried a large bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Henry Fritzler was best man. The parlor and dining room was decorated with pink and white carnations. After the ceremony supper was served, and the evening was spent with music and dancing. Over 100 guests were present.

EXCHANGE AGAINST CHARGE

Votes Down Committee Report Favoring Howell's Water Bill.

SAY TAX IS NOT A JUST ONE

Announcement is Made that if the Water Bill is Passed Suit Will Be Immediately Brought to Question Right.

Opposition to the charge by the Water board of 50 cents per front foot for the laying of water mains was strongly voiced at the meeting of the Real Estate exchange, and a vote of the members turned down the recommendation of the public service committee that the section of the bill written by H. Beecher Howell, establishing the 50 cent charge, should be upheld by the exchange.

Carl C. Wilson announced that if the water bill goes into effect and the 50 cent charge section remains in it a suit would be immediately filed by a prominent Omaha citizen to determine whether or not the city has the right to the use of existing mains not paid for by the city.

"It is startling how much money is expended by real estate men for building city water mains," he said, "and as long as the city gets the revenue from these mains it should pay for them."

C. C. George declared that the charge is inequitable and unjust; that the majority of mains in Omaha do not cost 50 cents a foot. Many six-inch mains serving water to both sides of the street, he declared, do not cost over 75 cents a foot, and the Water board's price is 12 cents more than actual cost. In no case will these mains cost more than 30 cents a foot and the Water board will charge consumers on both sides of the street 50 cents each a front foot.

Fred Shotwell said water hydrants only should be taxed. They are of benefit to the city and should be paid for by the city. He said the contention that the property owners pay for water is untrue; that the consumers only were the ones who paid the bills.

Harry Tukey declared that it was a question whether the Water board could collect the taxes unless the city council makes the levy. Tukey was chairman of the committee, the section of whose report concerning the charge for water, was opposed by the exchange.

R. Beecher Howell was in the room early in the meeting, but left before the argument started. He said he was going to Lincoln in the interest of his water bill.

OMAHA GIVEN GOOD BOOST IN DOMESTIC ENGINEERING

An interesting quotation in a recent issue of Domestic Engineering gives Omaha's speed record in a business way, as seen by J. C. Bixby, president of the Nebraska Master Plumbers' association, Omaha:

"Since you wish the speed record of business affairs in Omaha and the state, I must remind you that 'Omaha' being the hub and center of the continent, could not reasonably be expected to show the velocity of cities and states located nearer the periphery. But notwithstanding the fact of its being the hub, with all that weight to turn, we still have power enough left to put up several $1,000,000 buildings in the last year on the side while attending to our duties and amusements, which with the new $1,000,000 hotel subscribed for and with Omaha the largest butter market in the world, it is easily explained why there is so much 'butter fat' rising to the surface on a great many contracting contracts. When the homes on the farm are installing from $400 to $500 heating and plumbing systems, and brooms are superseded by vacuum cleaners as well, it is fair to assume that the state is in comfortable condition, and the state clearances look well."

JUDGE E. K. LONG RESIGNS JUSTICE OF PEACE DUTIES

The Board of County Commissioners has received and accepted the resignation of Judge Eben K. Long from the official duties of justice of the peace. Judge Long has been serving in that capacity for the last twenty-one years and gives increasing deafness as his reason for retirement. The board has not yet made an appointment to fill the vacancy.

Hotel Proprietor Unable to Carry Out His Contract

Mabelle Wood, 1119 Douglas street, was arrested Tuesday night for conducting a disorderly house in four rooms of the Swan hotel. When given her hearing she said that she had rented the rooms from the hotel proprietor, Peter Antokall, who, she says, had guaranteed her police protection. She was paying him $150 per month rent and when the arrest took place was very much surprised to find that Antokall was unable to deliver his end of the contract. Upon the strength of her testimony Judge Foster released the woman and arrested instead Peter Antokall, whose hearing will take place Friday.
