Many Omaha women will attend the presidential inauguration at Washington Tuesday. They plan to be there Monday for the National Suffrage parade. It has not been definitely decided whether any Omahans will take part in the parade or not. It seems that it is rather a strenuous task to march so many miles over a hard pavement and in chilly March weather.

Two prominent members of the Omaha Equal Franchise society plan to be in Washington, Mrs. Harry Dooley and Mrs. E. M. Fairfield, at this time. Other Omaha women who will be present for the ceremonies attending inauguration will be Miss Ophelia Hayden, Miss Clate Helene Woodward, Miss Helen Hayden, Mrs. Adolph Smith, Mrs. T. J. O'Brien, Mrs. F. C. Heafay, Mrs. J. H. Mithen and Mrs. Arthur Metz.

Miss Helen Frances Ingersoll of New York, formerly club editor of the Bee, had planned on taking active part in the suffrage parade, but owing to a severe cold she will not be able to go to Washington.

Benefit for Humane Society.

"Alice in Wonderland," a performance that is to be given for the financial benefit of the Omaha Humane society, which is undergoing reorganization, is now being ingeniously dramatized by Miss Isabel Layden, who will direct the presentation of the play.

It will be made to appeal not only to the children, whose interest in the piece will be automatic, but it is also bound to elicit a proportionate enthusiasm from the grownups.

The world of histrionic makebelieve will be spread wide open, and the thing will come to life, and animals will assume the intelligence of humans; miniature things will suddenly enlarge into mammoth proportions and phantasies of every nature will be diffused for your attention. For the special benefit of the little tots a matinee performance will be given Saturday afternoon, April 23. And then on the evening of that day there will be the regular show for the older folks.

It should be borne in mind by those that are heartily interested in the welfare and extension of the benefits that would accrue from a well organized humane society that their support of attendance at the show is going to go a good way towards actually helping them realize the hoped for influence of such an organization. The society needs money - needs it badly - and the pittance that will take for a couple of admissions will not be missed by anyone.

Miss Ayereng Engaged.

Miss Jeannie Ayereng, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ayereng of Stamford, Conn., formerly of Omaha, has written friends of her engagement to Mr. Leo Roy Kobler of Norwich, Conn. Miss Ayereng attended the Ogatz school near Philadelphia, for two years, where she was a room-mate of Miss Nancy Page. Miss Ayereng left Omaha with her parents two and a half years ago, shortly after making her debut, and she was much missed in society. Mr. Robbins is an attorney in Norwich, Conn., where they will probably make their home. The wedding will take place next fall.

That Master Touch Which SHOULD Be Imparted to a Lady's Tailored Suit---

Some tailors exhibit the "master touch" in every garment they turn out, but such tailors are rare indeed. "La-Book," however, has become locally famed because of his natural bent and wide experience in these matters. If you desire a novel, yet strictly stylish suit for spring, have "La-Book" make it up and impart the "master touch" to it.

EATS ONCE EVERY TWO DAYS

So Testifies a Girl Before the Wage Investigating Committee.

PACKERS MUST BRING BOOKS

Committee is Not Satisfied with Some of the Reports Sent in Reply to Letters Asking for Information.

A half-starved girl with a pinched face, thin, trembling hands and an anxious look, testified before the wage committee, investigating wage conditions in Omaha that she had been eating only one meal in two days in order to make her wages meet the demands made upon her.

"I get $5.50 a week," she said, "and after paying for my room I cannot eat every day. I lost fifteen pounds in the last two weeks." Members of the committee said she certainly appeared to have been losing flesh. "Sometimes," she said, "I eat a meal every day for a while, I only eat supper. Then again I can only have one supper in two days."

Other testimony of girls brought out the fact that while the Young Women's Christian association operates a dining room for girls where meals can be had reasonably cheap, there are hundreds of girls working in the city who cannot afford to go there for their lunches. They carry a cold lunch to their work on the coldest days in the year and eat their lunches without a warm bite. Others, it has been testified, carry their cold lunch to the Young Women's Christian association dining rooms, where they buy a cup of coffee to drink with the cold bite they have carried with them.

Some of the packing houses of South Omaha have assumed that they do not have to come before the committee unless they want to, and Chairman Losey of the committee says that some of these will be commanded to come before the committee early next week. They will be compelled to bring all their records relating to the number of employees and the wages paid them. The forms for these purposes are all made out and ready to serve as soon as the names of the obstinate ones are filled in.

Others sought to dodge the real question in the letter sent to them by sending in a written report of the average wages paid their female help. One packing concern in South Omaha sent in a report giving the number of female employees and stating that the average wage paid them was $8.88 per week.

"We don't want averages," says Chairman Losey. "We will do the averaging ourselves. What we asked for in our letter was that they send the names and addresses of the girls employed by them and the wages received by each. They have dodged that very nicely by making an average, but some of these fellows will be before us very soon and they will bring their books with them, too."

The committee spent the morning visiting some of the factories and laundries in the city. They visited the O'Brien Candy factory, M. E. Smith, wholesalers, and several of the laundries. They report that conditions in these places were in very good shape so far as the sanitation, comforts and conveniences for the help were concerned.

"What we want now is to find the conditions that obtain in the homes of these girls," said Chairman Losey. "The conditions in the factories are all right, but there is no telling from that what conditions these girls are able to afford in the homes."
