Book Recalls the Classes Held Here by German Author

The publication of a volume of poems in German by Udo Brachvogel has attracted attention of Omaha friends who remember the delightful classes in German literature which he conducted here in Omaha during his brief residence in the early nineties. A review of the book by George Sylvester Viereck appeared in the New York Times in which he refers to Mr. Brachvogel as a poetic genius, and notes that "Brachvogel is not 16, not even 20, but is now at 77 still writing, although this is a book of verse gathered together from previous productions." He also gives some interesting information about the Brachvogel family and its literary lineage, with this information about Udo Brachvogel.
